STEERING PLAN STRIKES ROCKS IN SEA PARLEY

Opposition to Proposed Committee Furnishes New Obstacle.

TONNAGE MEASURING ARRANGEMENT READY

Five-Power Agreement to Be Given to Press at Formal Session.

DELEGATE COMMITTEE BAFFLES MACDONALD

London, Jan. 29 (A.P.).—New and unexpected difficulties of procedure arose tonight to threaten the smooth running of the plenary session of the naval conference tomorrow. A five power agreement on the method of measuring fleet tonnage was practically complete, however, and ready to be broadcast to the world through the newspapermen who will be admitted to the session.

The problem which so suddenly reared its head grew from objections to the proposed steering committee of delegates on methods and limitations, the setting up of which was expected to be the chief formal business of the session tomorrow. To this committee were to be referred technical questions such as those France and Italy have been disputing for more than a week, so that the conference proper can go forward with the business of disarmament.

Complex Issues Involved.

Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald tonight held conferences at his office in the House of Commons with Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson, former Premier Reijiro Wakatsuki and Foreign Secretary Dino Grandi in rapid succession on this matter.

So complex are the political issues involved in naval disarmament that Mr. MacDonald faces obstacles even in establishing a committee of delegates. The British dominions would desire representation on such a committee and appointment of one delegate from each unit of the empire would mean seven British representatives on this important body. If only one empire delegate was named the divisions not represented would likely be displeased.

On the other hand, the prime minister has been quick to realize the likelihood of reaction on foreign public opinion if there were seven or eight British members of the committee. Tonight he was considering a plan of establishing just a committee of the plain "garden variety" of experts, instead of delegates. No one seems to object to how many experts there are on any committee.

Gibson May Speak.

The intention of the American delegation tonight was not to play a particularly prominent role at the meeting tomorrow, but to follow the plan of Mr. Stimson to pass around among the American chief delegates the leadership or conduct of the delegation.

Ambassador Hugh S. Gibson has been assigned to the task tomorrow, and he may make a speech. The Ambassador to Belgium has for years had an active part in representing America at European discussions of the problems of peace and armaments.

The program of the meeting, as indicated by today's events, will be featured by exposition of the Franco-American compromise between total tonnage and category theories of measurement of fleet strengths.

Mr. MacDonald and A. V. Alexander, first lord of admiralty, will speak for Great Britain and Premier Andre Tardieu for France.

The agreement is based on a maximum of transfer tonnage every year from one category to another. The figures have not been announced, but it was authoritatively understood that a percentage of one-sixth of the total of any category has been mentioned as the amount of tonnage possible to transfer.

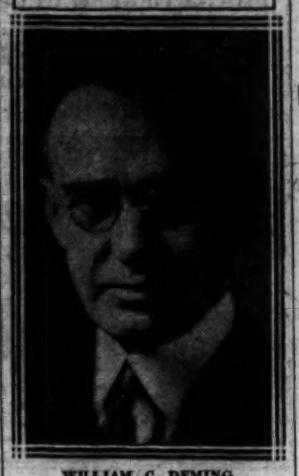

Grandi's Plans Uncertain.

Another development tomorrow may be that Signor Grandi, instead of speaking at length on national fleet ratios and the minimum levels to which the naval craft of the various nations can be reduced, will merely devote his remarks to discussion of conference procedure and leave the larger question to a future meeting.

While these complex technicalities plagued the conference leaders, new impetus was give to the disarmament movement today both by the lead of Mr. Stimson toward humanizing use of the submarine and later by the more concrete suggestion by Mr. Alexander in the House of Commons that decision regarding construction of the three submarines remaining on Britain's 1930 naval program

RESIGNS POST

WILLIAM C. DEMING.

CIVIL SERVICE HEAD QUITS FOR POLITICS

Deming Tells President He Is Considering Race for Seat in Senate.

WYOMING ELECTION NEAR

(Associated Press.)

William C. Deming, president of the Civil Service Commission, has submitted his resignation to President Hoover in a letter noting that his name has been advanced by friends in Wyoming for the Republican senatorial nomination.

Without committing himself to the senatorial race, Mr. Deming told the President, "I would be diffident in my present position to make a survey of the situation without violating the spirit of the civil service law."

Wyoming will elect a successor to the late Senator Francis Warren at its election next November. Senator Patrick Sullivan, who is filling Warren's seat by appointment of Gov. Emerson, has announced that he will not be a candidate for renomination at the primaries, to be held next August.

Mr. Deming has served on the Civil Service Commission since 1923, having been appointed by the late President Harding. He is owner of the Wyoming State Tribune-Leader and was a member of the Wyoming Legislature and president of the board of trustees of the University of Wyoming when he came to Washington.

In his letter of resignation, Mr. Deming said, in part:

"Some mention has been made of me by my friends and the press of Wyoming as a candidate for the United States Senate.

"While I have reached no decision, it would be difficult in my present position to make a survey of the situation without violating the spirit of the civil service law.

"Even if I should not become personally interested in the Wyoming senatorial contest, my publishing business and real estate activities, having been expanded considerably in recent years, are entitled to closer attention.

"Therefore, I hereby tender my resignation as a member of the United States Civil Service Commission, to be effective at your pleasure."

There is some dispute over the right of Gov. Emerson to fill Senator Warren's vacancy, and yesterday the Senate elections committee directed that a subcommittee study the question.

The dispute has arisen because of the Wyoming statute which provides

HOOVER FACES WET-DRY SPLIT IN FORAN CASE

New Jersey Senators to Demand That He Be Reappointed.

HOOVER TOLD STATE IS LOST OTHERWISE

ANTISALOON LEAGUE DEMANDS REMOVAL

Party Hopes Doomed if Man Is Not Retained, Mellon Advised.

By CARLISLE BARGERON.

The manner in which President Hoover has embraced the prohibition problem has begun to hit the political rough roads. A political fork, in fact, is just three or four days ahead, and, regardless of which course he takes is bound to run into a political storm.

The two New Jersey senators—Baird and Kean—have served virtual ultimata that if Col. Arthur F. Foran is not reappointed as comptroller of the port of New Jersey, that State may as well be given to the Democrats in this year's senatorial race, in which Dwight W. Morrow is to carry the Republican banner.

Col. Foran is a striking example of a person that Attorney General Mitchell has just told the country would not be permitted to have to do with prohibition enforcement under him. He is an avowed and outspoken wet.

Recent Raid Recalled.

Recently the Antisaloon League, at the direction of the Rev. James K. Shields, New Jersey superintendent, had Col. Foran's summer home raided and claims to have obtained photographs of a bar set up in his garage. Col. Foran claims the attack on him is because of his religion.

The two New Jersey senators declare that their support of him for reappointment expresses their attitude toward the unlawful invasion of a man's home, and insist that they will stand their ground.

Col. Foran's office, of course, does not come under Attorney General Mitchell but under Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, but in the final analysis it comes under Mr. Hoover.

Senators See Mellon.

Senator Kean, it was learned, visited Secretary Mellon Tuesday. Yesterday Senator Baird, who, under the New Jersey Republican scheme of things, is serving only until Mr. Morrow can get around to running, visited the secretary yesterday.

It is understood that neither senator got much comfort from Mr. Mellon. They are understood, in fact, to have learned that the odds were mightily arrayed against Col. Foran, but that the issue would not turn on the Antisaloon League's attack upon him but instead upon his holdings in steamship firms entering the port of New York.

Mr. Baird told Mr. Mellon that this would be taken as mere subterfuge in New Jersey and the general impression is that it will. In the first place, Col. Foran is said to have rid himself of his steamship holdings with the exception of 3 per cent in one firm and has legal advice that this is not sufficient to bar him from the office to which he aspires reappointment.

The two senators feel convinced that they have the votes to confirm Col. Foran if his reappointment is submitted.

But the President is faced with choosing between the Antisaloon

Huge Resident of Zoo In Critical Condition

MOMBASSA.

For three weeks the life of Mombasso, one of the Capital's mightiest residents, has hung in the balance.

Mombasso is still in critical condition with attendants constantly hovering near her, ready to ease her pain and see that she receives all the comforts to which her size and rank entitle her.

Mombasso, as you probably know, is the female hippopotamus in the Zoological Park, and so serious has been her illness that her cage has been screened off from the public view that she may have the seclusion accorded persons who are ill.

The huge animal became ill three weeks ago. Since that time, keepers in the lion house at the Zoo, where Mambasso spends her time, have battled valiantly to save her life, fighting after effects of her sickness, apparently with considerable success.

"Mombasso is not out of danger," said F. O. Lowe, one of those who has been helping the hippo in her fight for life, "but we have hopes of pulling her through."

Meanwhile several hundred regular visitors at the Zoo pass Mombasso's cage daily, trying to peer between the strips of canvas which cover the bars, hoping that it will not be long until they may greet their old friend once again.

FORT QUITS G. O. P. SECRETARIAL POST

RESIGNATION IS SURPRISE

Representative Franklin Fort, of New Jersey last night made public his resignation as secretary of the Republican national committee, a position he held through the last presidential campaign.

The announcement was received generally with surprise, although Claudius H. Huston, chairman of the committee, in a letter made public with Mr. Fort's, said he was not surprised, in view of conversations Mr. Fort had with him. Mr. Fort assigned the pressure of private business, together with his work as a member of Congress as the reason for his action.

While speculation will inevitably be rife in the wake of his resignation, it can be rather confidently stated that there was no reason other than that stated by Mr. Fort. He was President Hoover's preconvention manager and their friendship today is believed to be as great as it ever was. Neither is there any ground for the belief that there was a rift between him and Chairman Huston.

Mr. Fort's private business, an extensive one, is passing through an important period just at this time because of mergers, consolidations and other realignments, and he has found it impossible to give any time to the place of committee secretary. It was not generally believed that this post was very exactly except during campaigns, but there is considerable detail work involved.

There was some suggestion that Mr. Fort was preparing to run for governor of his State, but inasmuch as the election is not held until 1932

CASHIER OF DEL RAY BANK IS ARRESTED

Clay T. Brittle Is Accused in Alleged Shortage of More Than $60,000.

BOND IS NOT YET FIXED

Charged with the embezzlemen of more than $60,000, Clay T. Brittle, cashier of the Bank of Del Ray, which was closed recently by direction of the board of directors for an audit of its accounts, was placed under arrest last night on a warrant sworn out by Nelson T. Snyder, president of the bank, and Henry P. Thomas, a member of the board of directors. Brittle was being held last night in Alexandria without bond, but expected to have the amount of his bond fixed by Judge William P. Woods, judge of the corporation court, later.

Brittle was reported shortly after the bank closed its doors to have disappeared, but it is now understood he went to Warrenton, where his father lives, presumably in an attempt to make good his alleged shortages. It is understood he returned several days ago and has since been assisting the auditors in making their examination of his books.

The warrant was served by Detective Sergeant Edgar Sims, Sergt. George Everly and Policemen Grimm, William Baylies and James Baylies. It charges that Brittle "on October 21, 1929, and at various other times, while an officer and cashier of the Bank of Del Ray, did feloniously make, alter, or omit to make entries in divers accounts kept in said bank, with intent in so doing to conceal the true state in such accounts, or to defraud such bank, or to enable himself to obtain money in excess of $60,000 to which he was not entitled."

Brittle has been cashier of the Bank of Del Ray since its formation, about five years ago. He is married and has several small children, who live in Del Ray. He is a World War veteran, and has been active in civic affairs, as well as popular in Alexandria social circles.

Burroughs Students' Transfer Sustained

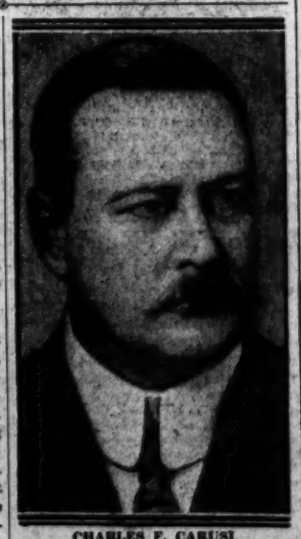

School Board's Action Is Denounced as Protest Meeting Nears.

The District Board of Education yesterday afternoon threw a wet blanket on plans for a protest meeting tonight in the Burroughs School when it sustained the action of Supt. Frank W. Ballou in ordering seventh and eighth grade pupils transferred from the Burroughs to the Langdon School on February 1.

That the Burroughs Citizen Association has not given up the fight was evident last night, however, when William E. Rabenhorst, president, issued a lengthy statement denouncing the School Board's action. He said that the protest meeting would not only be held, but he intimated that drastic action may follow.

The issue was not discussed at length at yesterday's session because the board had only to approve a former stand passing on the proposed transfer. This action was taken on June 26 last, minutes revealed. The board declined to hear a group from the Burroughs Citizens Association as asked by John M. Kemper, chairman of the education committee, on the grounds that the organization had knowledge of the proposal for six months but delayed its formal protest until a few days before the move.

After Mr. Kemper had requested that the board defer action on the administration's recommendation until the citizens could be heard, Charles F. Carusi, chairman of the board, denounced the reported threats of strikes by the pupils, with the backing of parents, if the transfer were carried out.

"Such rebellion against governmental authority, which differs from an industrial strike, is to be deplored," he said. "It also has a more serious aspect in that this defiance of law by parents has a harmful effect on growing children."

Mr. Kemper then arose to assert that newspaper reports of the pro-

JUDICIARY BODY PLANS GENERAL DRY SHOWDOWN

House Committee Leader Sets February 12 as Hearing Date.

REPEAL, MODIFICATION WILL GET FULL AIRING

Testimony to Be Received on Seven Resolutions by Full Committee.

SENATE BEER BATTLE FORECAST BY BORAH

Dyer Bill Movement Draws Westerner's Fire; Herbert Wrangle Suspended.

(Associated Press.)

The whole prohibition question, from repealing the eighteenth amendment to modifying the dry laws, will be opened to the wets and drys in hearings to begin before the House judiciary committee on February 12.

This course was decided on by Representative George S. Graham, chairman of the committee, because he felt "that the proponents of measures to repeal the eighteenth amendment and to modify the prohibition laws are entitled to a hearing."

With the exception of a short session held by a subcommittee in 1926, this will be the first time the legislative proposals to repeal the dry act have been brought before the important House group. The full committee will take testimony on seven resolutions to repeal the controverted amendment, and a subcommittee headed by Representative Dyer (Republican), Missouri, later will consider a score of proposals to modify the Volstead act, including Dyer's 2.75 per cent beer bill.

Transfer Decision Near.

The House expenditures committee prepared to end its consideration today of the Williamson bill to transfer the prohibition unit from the Treasury to the Justice Department. Modifications to make it obligatory, but not compulsory for the latter to investigate industrial alcohol permits issued by the Treasury were agreed on yesterday. A subcommittee was appointed to perfect the provision, which would prevent the Secretary of the Treasury from having anything to do with prohibition enforcement, even though the industrial alcohol permits are issued by the Treasury and Justice Departments jointly.

In the Senate the drys indicated yesterday they would oppose vigorously any attempt to legalize 2.75 per cent beer. Senator Borah (Republican), Idaho, halted his assaults on dry enforcement conditions to assail the movement of the House wets for the Dyer beer bill.

"It will not help the situation," he said of the proposal.

Commission View Opposed.

Opposition among the Senate drys also developed toward the National Law Enforcement Commission's recommendation to give United States Commissioners power to try misdemeanor prohibition cases. Senator Glass (Democrat), Virginia, submitted a letter from John Paul, district attorney for the Western Virginia district, pointing out what he considered to be constitutional objections to the commission's proposal. Chairman Wickersham of the Commission has declared that such objections are not merited.

Senator Borah and Attorney General Mitchell suspended their dispute over the former's contention that a Government agent had sub-

Frank Flynn, Who Gave Data to Senator, Also Called at White House.

QUINN IS INTERVIEWED

The man responsible for the latest prohibition furor was revealed yesterday as Frank Flynn, an employe of the Prohibition Bureau, who told a reporter of The Post three months ago that he had filed sensational charges at the White House.

At about the same time that Mr. Flynn's identity became known yesterday, The Post learned that one of the men against whom he had directed his charges—John J. Quinn, former deputy prohibition administrator of the National Capital. He admitted frankly that he had pleaded guilty to four counts in the charges made against him, but he would not say what these were.

When Mr. Flynn, who was a clerk in the Prohibition Bureau here, announced that he had left a sensational brief at the White House, George Akerson, Secretary to the President, declined to say whether it had been received, that being the White House policy on such matters.

Mr. Flynn then went to Senator Borah, dry leader, of Idaho, and told him things about Mr. Quinn and the latter's former chief, Col. J. F. J. Herbert, which led the Idaho senator to flay Mr. Herbert last Monday and to threaten a general investigation of prohibition enforcement.

Col. Herbert, who was prohibition administrator for the Baltimore-Washington area, recently was transferred and made administrator for the Montana-Idaho district. In the meantime, his erstwhile deputy here, Mr. Quinn, was dismissed from the service.

Mr. Flynn went directly to Senator Borah's office upon his arrival here yesterday, and declared that he had documentary evidence to back up all his charges.

His return ended a flurry that had been caused by Senator Borah's impression that he was a Department of Justice agent. Senator Borah had remarked casually that his office must be under surveillance because after Mr. Flynn had given him the information about Col. Herbert he had been removed to another post.

Attorney General Mitchell promptly issued a statement saying that no Department of Justice agent had District Committee Has Seven Prohibition Foes and Six Drys.

SEVERE PROVISIONS MAY BE TEMPERED

Measure Fighting Rum in Capital Expected to Be Pruned.

NEW APPOINTMENTS CAUSE POWER SHIFT

By EDWARD T. FOLLIARD.

The Howell bill to dry up Washington will be considered by a Senate committee that is wet, a check-up yesterday revealed. Hence the prospect is that when the bill finally is reported out, it will be much less drastic than it now is.

The Senate committee on the District of Columbia, to which the local enforcement bill will be referred, is made up of seven wets and six drys.

So far as is known, it is the only committee of the Senate that does have a wet majority, an ironical situation in view of President Hoover's expressed desire to make Washington a model prohibition city.

Line-Up Is Given.

Drys—Capper (Republican), Kansas, the chairman; Jones (Republican), Washington; Vandenburg (Republican), Michigan; Robsion (Republican), Kentucky; King (Democrat), Utah, and Glass (Democrat), Virginia.

A senator's stand on the prohibition question is not generally taken into consideration when committee assignments are being made, otherwise the leaders might have thought a second time before assigning to the District committee certain of the men who are now on it.

Status Quite Recent.

The committee has taken on a wet complexion just recently, and had it not been for the Howell bill it is doubtful that anybody would have noticed it.

The wets who have been appointed to the committee within the last year are Senators Kean, Baird, Tydings, Blease and Gould. In the meantime only one dry has been assigned to the committee—Robsion. And he took the place of another dry, former Senator Sackett, of Kentucky, now Ambassador to Germany.

Senator Gould, although he is from Maine, a pioneer dry State, has frequently denounced prohibition, and he voted against the so-called Jones "five and ten" bill.

Blease Votes Dry, Drinks Wet.

Senator Blease, although he has voted for dry legislation, frankly admits that he will drink a legal toddy today whenever he can get one.

He says he votes for prohibition measures only because he knows his constituents want him to vote for them. In veiw of his hatred of certain search and seizure measures that previously have been proposed, however, it is not expected that he will be able to approve similar features in the Howell bill.

Justifying his bill, Senator Howell (Republican), of Nebraska, declared that, if Washington is to be made dry, the enforcement law here must have teeth in it. After reading the home-raid provision in the bill yesterday, one Capitol wet described the bill as a "legislative panther."

The saw tooth in the measure that is expected to cause the most trouble

S-4 Pair 'Saved' From Gulf By Submarine Bell Device

Navy Experts Hail Tests as Proof of Rescue Feasibility.

Aboard U. S. S. Falcon, off Key West, Fla., Jan. 29 (A.P.).—Two men from the submarine S-4, resting on the bottom of the Gulf of Mexico, 68 feet below the surface, were "rescued" and hauled aboard this craft today, proving, naval officers said, the feasibility of outside aid in submarine disasters under certain conditions.

Tomorrow the experiments, with a device known as the O'Rourke diving bell, will be continued at greater depths until officers in charge learn just how far down the bell can go safely on its mission of rescue.

Last year men escaped from the S-4 in safety experiments with the "mechanical Lung" from a depth of 210 feet without outside assistance. Officers in charge of the present tests expressed hope that the diving bell

Philippines Controversy Looms for Senate Action

Bill to Be Reported Soon After February 10, Head of Committee Says.

(Associated Press.)

The 32-year-old controversy over Philippine independence appeared likely yesterday to come up for decision by the Senate during the present session.

Chairman Bingham, of the territories committee, announced in the Senate that his committee hoped to complete hearings on Philippine independence by February 10, and that a bill would be reported to the Senate as soon thereafter as possible. House action appears unlikely, however.

Two bills have been considered by the committee—one by Senator King (Democrat), of Utah, to free the Filipinos, and the other by Senator Bingham, to appoint a commission to investigate the question and report rec-is that which would allow a policeman to raid a house at which he saw a bootlegger deliver a bottle of liquor.

Senator Borah, of Idaho, a recognized dry leader, will oppose this provision of the bill vigorously. This can be stated on good authority, although the Idaho senator has not yet made any authorized statement on the matter.

That some sort of an enforcement act for Washington will be passed by Congress, however, seems almost certain.

All Police Would Be Dry Men.

In its final shape, it probably will provide that all policemen be given the powers of prohibition agents; that the Police Court judges, in addition to the United States commissioners, be permitted to issue search warrants; that a rotating fund of $2,000 be created for the use of gathering evidence against violators; that policemen who fail to enforce the law be fined and discharged, and that severe punishment be meted out to bootleggers who sell to minors.

But should the bill be passed as it now stands, it is conceivable that even President Hoover would oppose it, conceivable even that he would veto it. For the man that he depends on for legal guidance, Attorney General Mitchell, has let it be known in no uncertain terms that he is opposed to several provisions, including the one to permit a policeman to follow a bootlegger into a citizen's home.

League and the admitted political situation in New Jersey.

Mr. Morrow's prospects are not too good, anyway, despite the fact that his coming to the Senate would be a worthy addition to that body.

Temporarily absent from his post as Ambassador to Mexico, he is one of the pillars of the United States delegation to the London naval parley. But there is Republican factional trouble in New Jersey in the first place, with former Senator Frelinghuysen still determined to oppose him in the primary, and the prohibition issue without the Col. Foran phase is looked upon as a handicap even if he defeats Mr. Frelinghuysen.

Argument for Foran.

One arguing point in Col. Foran's behalf in connection with the Mitchell edict is that his office has nothing directly to do with the enforcement of prohibition. His office is the one that does the auditing for the port, it is claimed.

But it is an argument that the Antisaloon League will not accept. The league is, in fact, attacking pretty much the entire New York port organization, charging specifically that rare wines were smuggled in for a millionaire under the guise of pottery.

There is a rather general belief in political circles that if Col. Foran is turned down, New Jersey will be placed, from a Republican viewpoint, in pretty much the same position as New York and Massachusetts.

Bay State Appears Lost.

It is doubtful if there is a single Republican leader who holds much hope of reelecting a senator to take Senator Gillett's place.

In New York it is a governorship fight in which the Republican cause appears to be hopeless. William K. Hill, one of the Republican leaders in that State, came down to see Claudius Huston, Republican national following day that it must nominate chairman, several days ago, and went back and told a State convention the a dry for its gubernatorial candidate.

The Republican situation in that State is so bad, however, hat a dry candidate seems about as good as any other kind.

Corn Belt Prosperous From Bootlegging, Claim

Bootlegging is bringing riches to the corn belt and promises to outdo Congress in affording speedy farm relief, Industrial and Engineering Chemistry, journal of the American Chemical Society, will say editorially in its February issue.

Corn sugar production is increasing enormously and is finding its way into illicit channels to an extent that dwarfs diversion of industrial alcohol, states the journal, of which Dr. Harrison E. Howe is editor. The industry is being hampered, it says, while "the real offenders" are swelling bootleg liquor.

Representative Williamson's bill is rapped in the editorial. "It only increases the confusion," it is said, and fails to reflect what President Hoover is believed to want.

COCKTAILS IN HOME PERIL, PASTOR SAYS

Dr. Wood Warns W. C. T. U. of Insinuating Drink, Urging War on Practice.

ADDRESS BY PINCHOT

Concurring in the declaration of Mrs. Edgar B. Meritt, president of the District of Columbia Federation of Women's Clubs, that the closing of the saloons in the United States constituted the greatest accomplishment of modern times, the Rev. Charles Wood, pastor emeritus of the Church of the Covenant, yesterday urged the members of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, holding their quarterly convention at the New York Avenue Presbyterian Church, to concentrate their fight on the "insinuating cocktail in the home."

Dr. Wood also advised the organization's members to visit the Capitol and keep in close touch with the prohibition fight on the floor of the Senate. He intimated that in his opinion lawlessness would be materially increased without prohibition.

In an address of welcome to the union, the Rev. Joseph R. Sizoo, pastor of the New York Avenue Presbyterian Church, declared that it was especially fitting that the convention should be held at that church, where Abraham Lincoln once worshiped. He recalled Lincoln's prophecy following the Civil War that "the next great conquest will be prohibition."

The Rev. John C. Palmer, pastor of the Washington Heights Presbyterian Church, also spoke in support of the dry cause and delivered the opening prayer at the morning session, at which Mrs. N. M. Pollock, president of the District Union; Mrs. Edgar B Meritt, Mrs. Mina C. Van Winkle, chief of the Policewomen's Bureau; Mrs. C. O. Goodpasture, president of the Woman's Missionary Society, and Mrs Alvin Day, president of the Eckington W. C. T. U., also spoke. The convention luncheon was served by the Eckington Chapter.

Gifford Pinchot, former Governor of Pennsylvania, was the principal speaker at the afternoon session and devoted his talk to the trip which he and Mrs. Pinchot recently took to the South Sea Islands. Mrs. Arthur C. Proctor, Mrs. Andrew McCampbell and Mrs. O. G. Christgau gave demonstrations of the work of their departments, and reports were received from the officers.

Song services were led by Mrs. Ernest H. Fretwell and Mrs. Ethel Reed, and solos were sung by Mrs. Curtis C. McDonnell and Mrs. Esther Holden Bibber. The convention was concluded with a musical program by the Tech Boys Glee Club, under the direction of Mrs. Bella B. Thompson.

The pages for the convention were Mrs. N. D. Guerrier, Mrs. Helen Lancaster, Miss Winifred Sherwood and Miss Mary Rose Norwood, and the ushers Mrs. Charles V. Burnside, Miss Claribel R. Eaton, Mrs. Belle Pickett and Mrs. J. R. Hoage.

been to see the senator and that none had been watching the senator's office.

In the meantime, other elements have entered the case to make it distasteful to Senator Borah. Col. Herbert's defense is that Mr. Flynn, notwithstanding his name, is associated with three men here either directly or indirectly identified with the Ku Klux Klan, and that he was "framed" because of his religion.

Both Assistant Secretary of the Treasury and Prohibition Commissioner Doran have upheld Col. Herbert, and yesterday Representative Stobbs (Republican), of Massachusetts, declared he was an upstanding man of unquestionable integrity.

In City Several Days.

Former Deputy Administrator Quinn had been in the city for several days, having come here from his home in Worcester, Mass., but until yesterday he had not been located.

He admitted freely that he may have been indiscreet in several instances, but he insisted that he had done nothing dishonest or dishonorable.

Mr. Quinn said he came here to find out the findings of the board, which recommended his dismissal on December 20, "in the interests of good administration." He said he was willing to go before any congressional committee that might choose to call him.

Statement by Doran.

Commissioner Doran said yesterday that Mr. Quinn's honesty had never been questioned.

"The board and myself," he said, "were satisfied that Quinn was honest and sincere. You might say that he was just a trifle overambitious. In other words, he could not be brought to realize where his authority began or ended."

There is talk to the effect that Mr. Quinn eventually may be reinstated in the Government service.

British Columbia Rum Sale Figures Are Told

Victoria, B. C., Jan. 29 (A.P.).—Sale of liquor and beer in British Columbia runs to well over $1,000,000 a month. Citizen and tourist purchasers divide their expenditures fairly evenly between liquor and beer.

This is disclosed in the annual report of government liquor sales. For the six months ended September 30, sales totaled $8,454,710, including beer in bulk sold to beer parlors. Sales of the fiscal year ended March 31 last, totaled $15,132,939, or $1,176,023, more than the preceding year.

RUMRUNNER FOILS COUNTY OFFICERS

ESCAPES INTO DISTRICT

His maneuvers executed so efficiently that even the police officers whose efforts to catch a liquor truck he foiled expressed their admiration at his skill, an unidentified man early yesterday managed to elude arrest as well as save the valuable rum cargo, according to the report made to Sheriff Charles S. Early of Prince Georges County yesterday.

"It was the most skillful job of blocking I ever witnessed," County Policeman V. M. Nichols, one of the foiled policemen, declared. "He really was a nervy man, too, because he drove that truck at 55 miles an hour from Berwyn to the District line after we had shot the tires off the rear and perforated the car."

Nichols and Deputy Sheriff Harry Robinson sighted the car about 4 o'clock yesterday morning, they said, trailing a 1½-ton truck which they believed contained liquor. A case of broken bottles which contained some liquor fell from the truck, the policemen said.

They gave chase, and the light car immediately swung into position and kept the police car from approaching too closely. After a chase of several miles the blocking car attempted to force the officers from the road. Believing that their lives had been threatened, the policemen opened fire. At Berwyn one of the back tires was hit, but the driver did not slacken speed and did not allow the police car to pass until the rum truck was out of sight. The policemen say they scored at least ten hits on the body of the car before it finally escaped into the District. Both the truck and convoy car escaped.

HOUSE TO TEAR OPEN WHOLE LIQUOR ISSUE

mitted a sensational report on the record of John F. C. Herbert, prohibition administrator for Montans and Idaho.

Thorough Probe Likely.

In the House, however, Representative Stobbs (Republican), Massachusetts, declared that the reputation of Herbert in his home town of Worcester, Mass., "is of the best." He said Herbert had rendered distinguished service in the World War and that his integrity had always been unquestioned.

A thorough investigation into prohibition appears certain after the legislative proposals of the law enforcement commission reach the Senate judiciary committee. Both wets and drys are preparing for the contest before that committee.

Showdown Urged, Graham Says.

Explaining his decision to hold the hearings, Chairman Graham said hundreds of citizens had asked him to open the matter. The wet bloc in the House, however, had not yet presented a petition being drafted to ask the committee for the hearings, he said.

Representative Linthicum (Democrat), Maryland, leader of the wet bloc, plans to unify the efforts of the group on the bills most likely to be approved. Of the seven measures to be considered, that of Representative Sabath (Democrat), Illinois, to amend the eighteenth amendment to extend the power of congress to govern the manufacture and transportation and sale of liquor under Government permits and in packages, was believed by Chairman Graham to have the best possibility of being brought to the House.

This measure is favored by the Federal Dispensary Tax Reduction League. Graham said that Dr. F. W. Buck, secretary of the league, brought it to his attention and that he felt it should be given a hearing.

Move Called Wise.

Representative Mary T. Norton (Democrat), New Jersey, author of a referendum measure, also to be considered, said it was a wise move to conduct hearings. Two-thirds of the people favor modification, she said.

The House accepted an adverse report of the judiciary committee on the Black resolution to furnish the House with information on the employment of John Kerrigan, Samuel Kurzman, William Benenke and O. Engleberg, as prohibition agents in New York City. Secretary Mellon advised the committee it would require an investigation to ascertain the information.

Representative Celler (Democrat), New York, introduced a bill to eliminate the necessity for physicians to disclose the disease or ailments of patients to whom prescriptions for whisky were issued.

Rum Feud Blamed For Death of Man

New York, Jan. 29 (A.P.).—A rum feud was believed by the police today to underlie an attack on Nathan Gordon, 40 years old, who was shot and mortally wounded while seated in an automobile parked on lower Fifth avenue last night.

Gordon was taken to the New York Hospital with bullet wounds in the left lung and upper lip. He refused to discuss the shooting, and died several hours later.

Police said that as the side windows of the sedan were shattered and the right door partly opened indications were that the assailant had alighted from the machine and fired from the sidewalk. Jacob Polikoff, a brother-in-law, said he rode downtown in the machine with Gordon and that after he got out Gordon continued on with a man named "Jack Howard" whom they had picked up on Broadway.

The fact that the machine belonged to Polikoff and that Gordon had some letters in his pocket addressed to his brother-in-law caused the police at first to identify him as Polikoff. Gordon, who lived in the Bronx, had refused to reveal his identity.

SLASH IN STRAW HAT DUTIES IS DEFEATED

Eastern Democrats, Along With G. O. P. Regulars, Down Amendments.

RATE DECISIONS TODAY

(Associated Press.)

With an eye to spring and possible growing importations from Italy, the Senate turned back four attempts yesterday to slash the increased duties carried in the pending tariff bill on straw hats, but deferred until today a decision as to what rates should be approved.

A combination of Eastern Democrats and Republican regulars sent down to defeat in rapid succession amendments offered by Senator Barkley, of Kentucky, a Democratic member of the finance committee, to cut materially the bill rates, and in some instances to go below existing law.

The rate on braids used in the manufacture of hats, if containing a substantial part of rayon, was raised from 15 per cent on the plain and 20 per cent on dyed, as at present, to 45 per cent. This was a compromise suggested by Chairman Smoot, of the finance committee, in place of the committee's original proposal for a rate of 90 per cent on braids containing any rayon, however small.

Barkley Amendment Defeated.

The first amendment offered by Senator Barkley, which was defeated by 39 to 36, would have substituted a rate of 60 per cent on unsewed hats for the $4 a dozen and 50 per cent carried in the pending and House bills. The present rate is 50 per cent.

Senator Barkley attempted to compromise on this item by proposing that the 60 per cent duty apply only to unsewed hats valued at $8 or less a dozen, but this was rejected by a single vote, 39 to 38. This would have left the higher rate on the costlier headgear.

A third proposal to cut the bill duty on sewed straws from $4 a dozen and 60 per cent to 70 per cent, as against an existing levy of 60 per cent, lost by 40 to 36. Another amendment to allow the higher bill rate to stand on the higher-priced types and to leave the duty at 60 per cent on those worth $8 or less a dozen, was defeated, 40 to 37.

Copeland Defends U. S. Makers.

Principal arguments in the hat debate were made by Senators Barkley and Copeland (Democrat), New York, with the latter upholding the domestic manufacturers in their demand for higher protection.

Senator Smith (Democrat), South Carolina, brought the debate to a close with this statement:

"You have voted the clothing off the people's backs, you have attempted to take the shoes from their feet, and now you want to take the hats from their heads."

Playing With Matches Proves Fatal to Boy, 5

Playing with matches yesterday caused the death of 5-year-old Dennis Smith, of an apartment on Champlain street northwest, near Florida avenue. The boy died at Children's Hospital.

Left alone in the apartment temporarily, it was reported, the boy procured a box of matches and began lighting the sticks. His clothing soon became ignited and he ran screaming from the apartment. Other occupants of the building succeeded in extinguishing the flaming garments and an ambulance from Emergency Hospital was summoned. The child was taken to Children's Hospital suffering from burns to the entire body. He died two hours after arrival.

$113,599,000 VOTED IN SUPPLY MEASURE

MILLION INCREASE SEEN

(Associated Press.)

Carrying increased outlays for law enforcement, penal institutions and aviation facilities, in its aggregate of $113,599,000, the annual supply bill for the State, Justice, Commerce and Labor Departments was forwarded to the Senate last night after being passed by the House.

Now it is the fifth major supply bill for the fiscal year 1931 which awaits Senate attention pending disposal of the tariff bill. Appropriation measures for four other Governmental departments are being prepared in House committees.

The appropriations committee bill was slightly amended by the House and shows an increase of only $1,480,000 over the funds used by the four departments during the current year. The State Department was allotted $16,799,000, an increase of $2,125,556; Justice Department, $31,710,000, an increase of $3,772,000; Commerce, $52,888,000, a decrease of $5,903,000, and the Labor Department, $12,220,000, an increase of $1,455,000.

The Attorney General's office was allowed $5,214,000, an increase of $539,000, which was absorbed in funds for prosecution of crimes and for the new office of superintendent of prisons. The Judiciary was allotted $18,527,000, an increase of $1,186,000 for district attorneys and United States marshals. Penal institutions received an increase of more than $2,047,000; for a total of $7,968,000.

Of the sum of $12,175,000 allowed the Secretary of Commerce, nearly $10,000,000 was set aside for aircraft in commerce and for the construction of air navigation facilities, representing an increase of $2,787,000. This increase will take care of construction of lights on the Columbus-Philadelphia, Jacksonville-Richmond, San Diego-Fort Worth, Fort Worth-Louisville, Fort Worth-Birmingham, and San Antonio-Midland routes.

25 Plead Guilty In "Whisky Ring"

Thirty-nine of Oklahoma Defendants Reported as Fugitives.

Oklahoma City, Okla., Jan. 29 (A. P.).—Less than one-third of the 102 officials and residents of Pottawatomie County charged with conspiracy to violate the national prohibition law today appeared for trial in United States District Court here. Twenty-five persons entered pleas of guilty. Sentences were deferred until February 15.

Thirty-two defendants, including Randall Pitman, county attorney, and Frank Fox, former sheriff, announced they were ready for trial. Roy St. Lewis, United States district attorney, said W. C. Clupper, a defendant, had been arrested at Springfield, Mo., and will be returned here for trial.

Of the remaining 44 defendants, 5 were reported dead and the others fugitives from justice. Marion Fuller, former chief of police at Earlsboro, who was expected to be a key witness for the Government, died Saturday night under circumstances which caused Federal attorneys to launch an investigation, the result of which has not been announced.

Among those who pleaded guilty were E. W. Denham, said by a defense attorney, to have made a purported confession that he had given a bribe to Pitman; Homer S. Knappenderger, former Mayor of Earlsboro, and Rose Lutke.

Grundy's Appointment Approved by Committee

The Senate's privileges and elections committee yesterday put the stamp of its formal approval on the appointment of Senator Grundy (Republican), Pennsylvania, and directed Chairman Shortridge (Republican), California, to report to the Senate that there is no ground for questioning Senator Grundy's credentials.

Senator Grundy's right to a seat had been challenged in a resolution offered by Senator Nye (Republican), North Dakota, on the ground that there had been connivance between Senator Grundy and Gov. Fisher of Pennsylvania, the latter having been chosen in the same election by which William S. Vare was sent to the Senate but never seated.

WITNESS SAYS KING GOT CAMPAIGN GIFTS

INQUIRY ON SILK TODAY

(Associated Press.)

Confirmation of reports that he had made two contributions of $1,000 each to the 1922 and 1928 campaign funds of Senator King (Democrat), Utah, was given to the Senate lobby committee yesterday by Herman A. Metz, president of the General Dyestuffs Corporation of New York.

He testified the 1928 check had been mailed to Senator King, but had not been used, and that the 1922 contribution was given to Samuel Russell, then secretary to the senator.

Mr. King has said to newspapermen that the 1928 check was destroyed because he would not accept campaign contributions from his friends, and added that he had heard of no contribution from Mr. Metz in 1922.

Mr. Russell, questioned by the lobby committee last Thursday, said he received $1,000 from Mr. Metz in 1922 in two installments of $500 each and sent the money to Samuel A. King, brother of the senator and his campaign manager in Salt Lake City. He said he had told the senator that Mr. Metz "was going to contribute this money."

Senator King is a member of the finance committee, which handles tariff legislation.

Mr. Metz denied at the hearing yesterday that his opposition to the American valuation plan in the pending tariff bill was prompted by German dye interests. He said they did not "care a continental cuss" whether American or foreign valuation were adopted.

Today the committee plans to begin an investigation into the Silk Association of America and the National Association of Wool Manufacturers.

Two Couples Held In Attack on Dry

Seattle Man Abducted by Group He Attempted to Arrest.

Seattle, Jan. 29 (A.P.).—Alleged to have abducted and beaten D. Dunning, prohibition undercover informer, James Williams and Jesse Baze and their wives were arrested today. Police said all four probably would be charged with interfering with a Federal officer in discharge of his duty.

Dunning reported he was overpowered when he and another undercover agent, R. Ginn, were preparing to arrest Williams and Baze after purchasing liquor from them.

Ginn was knocked from the running board of the car occupied by the quartet, while Dunning was seized and held in the car for an hour and a half before he was thrown out in the southern part of the city early today.

Mrs. Baze declared "We thought the agents were hold-up men."

"I was taken around Lake Washington," Dunning said. "I heard them debating whether to throw me in the lake. Whenever another car approached I started to yell for help; so some one hit me on the head with a monkey wrench."

Chicago, Jan. 29 (A.P.).—Chief of Police Albert Vandriska and seven other Lyons, Ill., citizens charged with conspiracy to violate the national prohibition law, were acquitted by a jury today.

Belgium Raises Its Army Budget

$35,000,000 Is Reported by Senate Group as Year's Total.

Brussels, Jan. 29 (A.P.).—Pending solution of disarmament problems, Belgium is prepared to spend this year $35,500,000 for its army against $25,000,000 last year.

The army committee of the Senate reported that this total included credits for new armored cars and for military planes. The total of the latter is being increased by 25 per cent. The famous Liege Fortress has been reconstructed and rearmed. The forts at Namur and Antwerp are still under consideration.

Another important item in this year's army credits relates to defensive measures against chemical warfare. The Belgian artillery branch is to be completely renovated and at least partly motorized. The adoption of a new machine gun is under consideration.

Church Society Premises Named in Padlocking Suit

For the first time since the prohibition law became effective, a move to padlock for one year a piece of property owned by a church for alleged violation of the liquor law was instituted yesterday in District of Columbia Supreme Court.

The suit is directed against the Church Extension Society of the African Methodist Episcopal Zion Church of America, Inc., and Abe Martin, alias Wallace Outlaw, and Lillian Martin, alias Lillian Outlaw.

United States Attorney Leo A. Rover and Assistant United States Attorney Harold W. Orcutt, who filed the petition, set out that the church extension society owns property in the rear of its church, which is located on Morton street northwest, and that the other defendants occupied the premises. Many violations of the prohibitoin law are charged.

BOMBS AND GUNPLAY TERRORIZE CHICAGO

State Attorney's Aid Saved From Suspected Attempt by Alert Workman.

VICE RINGS ARE BLAMED

Chicago, Jan. 29 (A.P.).—A series of bombings, robbery and gun play was climaxed by a suspected attempt on the life of a State's attorney's official who has been active against Chicago's organized vice rings.

A new record for bombings in a single day was reached as five blasts rocked residences and industrial buildings in the North and South Side districts, causing extensive property damage.

An apparent sixth bombing attempt was frustrated by an alert garage attendant who routed two men he surprised trying to attach a package to the motor of an automobile belonging to Chief Investigator Patrick Roche, of the State's attorney's office.

The men fled with the package, which, it was thought, contained a bomb intended for Roche in reprisal for the fatal shooting of an armed robber by one of Roche's men earlier in the day.

The latter incident occurred after the investigator learned an attempt was to be made to rob several Gold Coast apartment hotels.

A man, later identified as Andrew Wright, 34, formerly of Denver, Colo., walked into the lobby of a hotel and was felled by police bullets while resisting arrest.

Roche and his squad left, and two hours later a pair, the identity of whom the investigator said he was sure, were found working at his car.

They fled after beating the garage attendant who discovered them. Roche advanced the opinion that they were endeavoring to attach a bomb which would have exploded when he stepped on the electric starter of the car.

TOOLS AND MITTENS OF EIELSON LOCATED

Ice Diggers Find Batteries and Other Motor Parts, but No Bodies.

RUSSIAN TRAPPER NEAR

Nome, Alaska, Jan. 29 (A.P.).—Scattered tools, parts of the motor, batteries, provisions and even mittens, have been recovered by workers cutting into the ice-cased snowdrifts around the wreckage of Carl Ben Eielson's airplane, 90 miles southeast of North Cape, Siberia.

No trace, however, had been reported today of the bodies of Eielson and his companion, Earl Borland, believed buried under the snow nearby.

The scene of the wreck is only a stone's throw, as distances in the North are reckoned, from a Russian trapper's cabin. For almost three months, the Russian had worked over his trap lines a few miles away, entirely unaware of the wrecked plane.

Few Hours of Daylight.

The fact that his trap lines were along the coast, while the plane had crashed 10 miles inland, and the few hours of daylight in winter explained the situation. The plane crashed in a storm November 9, while flying from Alaska to the ship Nanuk, icebound at North Cape.

Workers at the scene of the accident have been reinforced by the arrival of Pilots Pat Reid and Ed Young from Teller, Alaska, and by a Russian Junker plane, which accompanied another on a 400-mile hop yesterday from St. Lawrence Bay, on Bering Strait, to the fur-trading ship Nanuk. Pilot Harold Gillam, who with Pilot Joe Crosson last Saturday located the wreckage, guided the Russian aviator from the Nanuk back to the scene of the wreck.

The Soviet rescue expedition of 14 dog sleds, drawn by 140 dogs, reached Koliuchin Bay, some distance east of the wreck, unaware that the plane had been found.

Ice Makes Work Difficult.

The seven men digging for the bodies of the lost aviators reported that the condition of the ice and the wide area to be opened makes their work difficult. They are opening trenches, 4 feet deep, through the area where the right wing and the motor were found, flung about 200 feet apart by the crash of the plane.

The presence of the trapper's cabin near the wreckage has convinced searchers that Eielson and Borland did not escape from the wreck. They said Eielson, knowing the country, surely would have found the cabin, which is located between the wreck and the coast.

Reid and Young reported that they saw considerable open water between the Nanuk and Nome, an unusual condition this early in the year, but the Nanuk and the Russian ship Stavropol are held by ice only about 3 miles off North Cape. The channel, in which they could sail out of the Arctic Ocean, is farther off shore there.

COURT DENIES PLEA FOR GAS STOCK SALE

Petition for Injunction to Have Trust Sell Its Holdings Refused.

STATUS IS EXPLAINED

Justice Alfred A. Wheat, in District Supreme Court, yesterday dismissed the petition for a mandatory injunction recently filed by the District of Columbia and the Public Utilities Commission against the Seaboard Investment Trust, in which it was sought to have the court compel the defendant to dispose of its holdings in the Washington Gas Light Co. The suit was brought under the La-Follette antimerger act, contention being that the defendant was a foreign holding company and was not entitled to hold more than 20 per cent of the stock of a local utility.

The District and the Utilities Commission sought to have the court force the Seaboard Trust and its trustees to dispose of 108,806 shares of the capital stock of the Gas Light Co. and $5,000 of the company's bonds. The motion to dismiss the petition was predicated on the contention that the Seaboard Investment Trust was not a corporation within the meaning of the antimerger law.

Justice Wheat, in his opinion, held that the Seaboard Investment Trust, a Boston organization, "is a voluntary trust, existing under the laws of Massachusetts and the individual defendants are the trustees thereof."

The justice held that trust is of the type familiarly known as a "Massachusetts Trust," and declares that "it is plain, upon examination" of the terms of the declaration of trust that it "must be classed as a common law trust rather than as an associatoin or partnership."

Continuing, the justice held that the Seaboard Trust is not a corporation He points out that this is conceded, but that "the word 'corporation' should be given a liberal construction to accord with the public policy which the statute (the antimerger law) was intended to declare and to remedy the mischief against which it was aimed. But when we begin to go beyond the plain language of the statute in an attempt to ascertain that policy and that mischief we are immediately confronted with difficulties. We can not say that it was the intent of Congress that no individual or group of individuals should be permitted to own more than 20 per cent of the securities of a local public service corporation, for it is clear that such ownership by an individual, a partnership, an estate or even by corporations, such as banks, trust companies, insurance companies or business or industrial corporations, would be lawful so far as the statute is concerned. The prohibition is, by its terms, restricted to foreign public utilities corporations or foreign or local holding corporations, and to give the language any broader interpretation would not be, in my opinion, to construe it, but to rewrite it."

Attorneys Wilton J. Lambert and James Piper, of Baltimore, brought and argued the motion to dismiss the petition.

Lindbergh's Wife In Glider Debut

First Attempt Lasts Six Minutes and Wins Her License.

San Diego, Calif., Jan. 29 (A.P.).—As easily as though she had done it numerous times before, Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh today made her first glider flight here, staying aloft a fraction over 6 minutes and winning a first-class pilot's license for gliders.

The flight took place at Soledad Mountain in a sail plane. Col. Lindbergh stood with official timers for the National Glider Association, watching the flight.

Mrs. Lindbergh's take-off was as good as though it had been done by the colonel himself. From the flat mountain top she sailed directly west toward the ocean for about 3 minutes, then achieved a 90-degree right angle bank and headed north, only to make another 90-degree bank to the left and then turn southward. She made a perfect landing in a field about 4 miles away.

Madrid, Jan. 29 (A.P.).—Persons close to Gen. Berenguer tonight said he had completed a list of ministers for submission to King Alfonso. The list depended, however, on acceptance by Francisco Cambo of the finance post. The tentative cabinet follows:

Premier and minister of war, Damaso Berenguer; interior, Gen. Benito Marzo; finance, Francisco Cambo; labor, Pedro Sangro y Ros de Olano; justice, Count de la Mortera; marine, Admiral Carvia, and public instruction and fine arts, the Duke of Alba.

It was said that the portfolios of agriculture and of trade might be abolished. No one has been selected as minister of state for the premier will handle foreign affairs for the time being.

King Alfonso canceled all royal audiences and engagements today in order to be free for a conference at any time with Gen. Damaso Berenguer, who has been charged with the work of forming a cabinet.

Gen. Primo de Rivera appeared to be greatly enjoying the prospect of realizing what he has said he most wants—a good, long rest.

Biddding farewell to King Alfonso and to the country, he issued an official note ending, "and now to rest a little, to recover my health; 2,326 days have been filled with inquietude, responsibility and labor, but after a rest, if God wishes, I shall return to serve Spain until I die."

Paris, Jan. 29 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—The real reason for the resignation of the Spanish dictator, Premier Primo de Rivera, is believed here to be the financial and economic embarrassments of the country, which led him imprudently to seek a new expression of confidence from the military and naval authorities.

In its endeavor to check the fall of the Peseta it is recalled that Rivera's government first tried intervention in the foreign exchange market. Costly operations were undertaken, but failed. Then a decree ordering payment of customs duties in gold added to general distrust. The Barcelona exposition had also left an enormous deficit which the government must make up.

MOTHER NEAR DEATH AMID FLOOD WATERS

STORM LASHES SOUTH

Evansville, Ind., Jan. 29 (A.P.).—Lack of medical aid probably will cause the death of Mrs. Charles Holtzclaw, flood refugee, who gave birth to a child in a barn where she had fled from flood waters in southwestern Indiana.

The child died from exposure an hour after birth. Mrs. Holtzclaw was alone at the time. Flood waters made it impossible for a doctor to reach her and today she was too weak to be moved.

An attempt by Dr. Joseph E. Welborn, of this city, to reach her was started this afternoon.

A National Guard plane, piloted by Lieut. D. D. Watson, was to try to land the physician near the barn in which the woman lies.

New Orleans, La., Jan. 29 (A.P.).—A storm of near hurricane proportions that ripped out of the Gulf of Mexico near the Florida coast today whipped high winds in a northeasterly direction through Mississippi, Georgia and Alabama and brought a sudden drop in temperature with rain, sleet and snow.

The brunt of the disturbance entered the mainland along the Mississippi coast, unroofing small buildings and causing minor damage at Gulfport.

Winds of gale force were looked for and storm warnings were out tonight along the Atlantic coast north of Delaware Breakwater to Sandy Hook. A light snow accompanying the cold wave fell at Meridian, Laurel, and Vicksburg, Miss., while the fall increased as the cold wave enveloped Alabama and Georgia.

The cold hand of winter tonight extended down into extreme north Florida with continued cold promised there tomorrow. The north Mississippi Delta, north Louisiana and portions of Arkansas, which suffered severely in the recent series of freezes, escaped the worst of the new wave.

Colder weather was predicted throughout the South tonight with a freeze reaching almost to the Gulf coast in Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana and near freezing in northwest Florida. Tomorrow the temperatures are expected to rise in the Southwest with continued cold in the Southeast.

Woodworth, Millionaire, Faces Divorce Action

Palm Beach, Fla., Jan. 29 (A.P.).—Testimony in a divorce action filed by Mrs. Linda U. Woodworth against her husband, Chauncey C. Woodworth, New York and Palm Beach millionaire, will be heard by a special master appointed today by the circuit court of Palm Beach County.

Mrs. Woodworth filed her bill on December 17 last, in which she charged ehr husband with cruelty. An amended bill was filed eleven days later in which she enlarged upon her original allegations. Counsel for Mr. Woodworth has filed denials to both the original and amended bills.

$100,000 Fire Destroys Five Stores and Hotel

Durant, Miss., Jan. 29 (A.P.).—Fire swept through six buildings here tonight and gained considerable headway on a seventh, housing a bank, before it was checked. Demage was estimated at $100,000.

Two grocery tsores, one sandwich shop, the City Hotel, a drug store and dry goods store, all brick structures except one, were damaged by the first, which it was said originated in the hotel. Fire departments from Lexington, Kosciusko and Canton were called to aid in quenching the fire.

ITALIAN QUESTION, CRUISERS MAY LINK

MUSSOLINI BLOCKS WAY

Naval Parley Figures Space for Wine Casks

London, Jan. 29 (A.P.).—There is a link between warships and wine, and the London naval conference has discovered it.

Talks between naval experts have revealed that Latin countries must have warships big enough to store wine casks for the crew. The problem is readily solved in battleships and large cruisers, but in the smaller submarines and torpedo boats this becomes serious. The extra displacement and greater tonnage required to serve French bluejackets wine with their bread is something to be considered in fixing naval ratios between nations.

London, Jan. 29 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—Limitation of 10,000-ton cruisers, one of the most difficult problems facing the London naval conference, has become mixed up in the criss-cross of interdelegation conversations with the tough question of Italy's demand for parity with France. There is even a glimmer of hope that both questions, though seemingly unrelated, may be made to interlock in such a way as to solve them together and suddenly clear the way to a general compromise and signal success for the conference.

The effort being made to bring down these two big birds at a single shot is on one side Franco-American and on the other Anglo-Italian. The greatest activity in this direction is American, and the best chance of reciprocal compliance rests with the French. The British are having harder going with the Italians because Foreign Minister Dino Grandi is not in the same position of authority here as the French premier, Andre Tardieu. The slowness of the Italian uptake is attributed to Grandi's inability to induce Premier Benito Mussolini, and particularly Augusto Turati, secretary of the Fascist party, to listen to any proposal until Italian parity with France is assured.

American Example Cited.

That demand for parity is exactly what the British, aided by the Americans, are trying to induce Italy to modify. They want Italy to accept parity with France in the Mediterranean and admit France's claim to a right to construct additional ships for the defense of her colonial empire.

The argument being used with the Italians is that when the United States agreed to parity with Great Britain, America was in a financial position to build a navy that would dominate the world, so that she was in effect agreeing to limit her fleet to England's possibilities, whereas Italy, in demanding parity with France, is in an entirely different position. She is financially unable to build up to France's present fleet and is, therefore, making no concession in insisting upon parity, but is demanding it simply for the sake of her national prestige.

If Italy would agree to these arguments, it would mean that she would have a fleet roughly two-thirds as big as that of France. Rome has been asking for her parity on her own terms, which would mean a fleet of roughly 400,000 tons both for herself and for France.

French Willing to Cut.

France's present program would bring the total tonnage of her fleet up to about 650,000 tons, but in the course of indirect discussions she has intimated a willingness to cut this figure to about 650,000, provided Italy accepted 400,000 tons for her fleet.

Of course, the French attach some strings to this tentative offer, such as elasticity in categories and maintenance of her submarine fleet, built or building. In the past few years France has been pressing work on her new submarines until she now has 15 new submarines of more than 600 tons each, totaling 18,000 tons; 31 smaller undersea craft, with a total tonnage of 42,000 tons under construction, and 11 new submarines of less than 600 tons each, totaling 6,000 tons, and 16 totaling 9,000 tons more.

How France might come off with Great Britain on submarines is still in the air, but the larger interest of 10,000-ton cruisers enters here, for if France cut her present naval program by about one-fourth, she would have only 9 10,000-ton cruisers and an equal number of lighter ones.

All-Round Limiting Seen.

Italy, on the basis of a fleet totaling 400,000 tons, would have about 6 10,000-ton cruisers. This being the case, the possibility of all-around cruiser limitation is foreseen.

The interplay of interests to put this through involves America in voluntarily limiting the number of her big cruisers to 18 and Italy in an agreement to European parity with France, the latter made palatable to Rome by a Platonic Mediterranean pact, of which the United States as well as the other powers represented here would be a signatory.

NEW OBSTACLES RISE IN PARLEY PROCEDURE

won't be made until after conclusion of the naval parley.

Following upon the reference by Mr. Stimson in a radio speech to the huge American economy which would be possible by curtailing battleship construction during the immediate future, Mr. Alexander told the Commons that Great Britain could save £52,000,000 in battleship costs during the period the London treaty is expected to run, that is to about 1936

YOUNG "REDS" FIGHT POLICE IN NEW YORK

BRUTALITY IS CHARGED

New York, Jan. 29 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—The Young Pioneers of America, infant branch of the Communist movement, adopted a martyr of their own and staged a miniature battle with the police in Union square this afternoon.

When it was all over, two policemen licked their wounds, some 200 children went into hiding from truant officers and the Young Pioneers' leaders issued a manifesto charging police "brutality."

The police merely muttered, and admitted it had taken 30 husky patrolmen and 8 adult detectives to quell the "riot."

Had Booed Boy Scouts.

The disturbance started with the release from Children's Court of Harry Eisman, 15, at 1 o'clock. Harry had just finished serving six months in the Hawthorne Reformatory for his part in a demonstration of booing and other juvenile expressions by the Young Pioneers when a group of Boy Scouts sailed last July 20 for their jamboree in England.

True, Harry struck his blow for the Communist cause by kicking a policeman's horse in the belly, but his martrydom brought more than 200 Young Pioneers, ranging in age from 12 to 16, to the court to greet him. They bore banners denouncing child labor, the police and Commissioner Whalen.

They hoisted him on their shoulders, like a football player, and marched up Fourth avenue. At Sixteenth street they encountered Patrolmen John Kavnath and John Martinck who called a halt.

Use Fingernails as Weapons.

For answer Harry Sprang up the stairs in Communist headquarters on Union Square and started a speech from an open window on the second floor, while the rest of the young pioneers bared their fingernails and clambered up the policemen.

A riot call brought nearly a score of policemen and several detectives. They picked up reinforcements near Union Square. With the aid of the three disgusted patrolmen, who were pulling off young pioneer hats and pushing about in the crowd when the reserves arrived, the children were herded into the hallway of the Communist building or dispersed.

Police Say Two Admit Part in Hijack Slaying

Detroit, Jan. 29 (A.P.). — Byron Summerville and Harold Price were said by police this afternoon to have confessed to participating in the slaying of George Einkorn and Louis Davis during an attempt to hijack Einkorn's saloon here November 29 last. Harold Gregg, alleged leader of the gang, has made no statement yet.

The three suspects were assembled in Detroit last night after having been arrested at widely separated points. Summerville was arrested in Detroit. Gregg was brought back from Elgin, Ill., and Price was brought back from Rome, Ga. Joseph Yeomans, reported to have been a fourth member of the gang, was fatally injured in the gun battle in the saloon. His body was found frozen in a lagoon on Belle Isle some days afterward.

TORNADO IN FLORIDA KILLS NEGRO WOMAN

Property Damage Estimated at $50,000 Suffered in Marion County.

STORM INJURES INFANT

Ocala, Fla., Jan. 29 (A.P.).—A tornado dipped into two communities in Marion and Flagler Counties today, killing a Negro woman, injuring a Negro infant and leaving considerable property damage, before it was believed to have passed out the northeast coast of Florida to the Atlantic.

The storm struck first in the southwestern part of Marion County, near Summerfield, and swept over a distance of about 5 miles. A dozen buildings were demolished, fruit was whipped from citrus trees and debris and a small automobile were hurled through the air, a reporter from the Ocala Star told his paper.

The twister appeared to have lifted near Oklawaha and next dipped into a turpentine settlement in Flagler County, where 26 buildings were demolished, most of them shacks in which Negro laborers lived.

The Ocala Star received reports of property damage in Marion County of about $50,000.

Miss Susie Bullock, of Ocala, had a narrow escape at the home of her sister at North Lake when a piece of timber was driven through the wall of the house.

The storm struck shortly before noon, but because communication and power lines had been destroyed in the tornado's path, word did not reach Ocala until the afternon, when the lines were restored.

The negress was killed in Marion County and was unidentified tonight.

Fliers Fail to Find Wrecked Rum Boat

Gray Ghost Was Reported Aground With Pilot Frozen to Death.

Cleveland, Jan. 29 (A.P.).—Two aviators today failed to find the speed boat Gray Ghost which was reported to have been wrecked on the western edge of Pelee Island in Lake Erie. The Gray Ghost which, according to Federal officials, is one of the fastest rum runners on Lake Erie, was reported stranded on the shore of Pelee Island with its pilot frozen to death.

Perry Fitton, a Canadian mail flier from the Leamington, Ont., airport, and J. H. Esch, Sandusky, Ohio, flier, flew over Pelee Island late today and reported that they had failed to sight the Gray Ghost.

The Gray Ghost disappeared January 8 after putting out into a Lake Erie storm from Erieau, Ont., with three men aboard.

Two Bandits Loot Bank After Tying Up Woman

Greensburg, Pa., Jan. 29 (A.P.).—Two armed robbers held up the Community Savings & Loan Co. Bank here today. They were believed to have obtained several hundred dollars before they were frightened away by the entrance of a bank customer.

Mrs. Alice Baughman, an employe of the bank, was alone when the robbers entered. She was tied up and the two men began gathering up money. The amount of their loot was not determined. The pair fled before they had taken all the cash in sight and escaped in an automobile.

Children Watch Father Kill Wife, Shoot Self

Wichita, Kans., Jan. 29 (A.P.).—While three of their children looked on, Arthur T. Cartwright, 45, wealthy farmer, of near Oatville, Kans., today shot and killed his wife, Eva, 41, and then critically wounded himself.

Marital troubles were blamed by friends for the shooting. It is not believed Cartwright will recover. He fired a bullet from a small rifle into his temple after shooting his wife in the head and heart.

U.S.-British Move to Kill Submarine Near at London

Concerted Effort by Two Powers Is Awaited as Discussions of Undersea Craft Continue; Limiting of Use to Seacoasts Advocated by Americans.

London, Jan. 29 (A.P.).—A concerted effort by Americans and British to effect abolition of the submarine was generally expected in conference circles as conversations on the undersea craft went on today.

It was known that only the United States and Great Britain were committed to the policy of abolition of submersibles, with the other three participants in the parley standing off on the subject, but it was understood that both Secretary of State Stimson and Prime Minister Macdonald by no means considered that abolition of this category was a dead issue. Just how hopeful either delegation might be as to ultimate abolition was not known.

It was disclosed tonight in authoritative circles that each was desirous of effecting some agreement such as Mr. Stimson referred to in his radio speech on Tuesday night when he said it was hoped "to prevent their being used against merchant vessels in the ruthless and inhuman way" employed in the World War.

In suggesting this the American Secretary of State revived an idea similar to that contained in the treaty of 1922, which was not ratified by France and hence was not effective, in connection with submarines. It was generally believed that the United States was willing and even urgent in pressing for consideration again of confining the extent to which submarines could be used in wartime.

Abolition is the real goal of the Americans, for it is realized that an agreement limiting the use of any ship in wartime is most difficult to enforce. It is felt that with the entire category abolished or severely limited to a status where it could be considered only for coastal defense would be the means most satisfactory to the Americans in dealing with this problem.

AMERICANS MAY PUT CRUISER CLAIM AT 21

CONSULT EXPERTS AGAIN

London, Jan. 29 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—For the third successive day the United States delegates today held a long session with their technical advisers. It is understood that it has been decided to put forward a demand for 21 eight-inch-gun cruisers instead of 13, as was expected here. This means that the British will jump their figure from 15 to 17, and this, in turn, will complicate the Japanese attitude, so that it is hoped in British circles that the United States demand, if made, will be accompanied by a hint that it will be reduced if other matters go satisfactorily.

The Japanese now show faint signs of seeking a compromise with the United States on the 70 per cent issue so far as big cruisers are concerned, although activity on these lines have been confined to Japanese-British negotiations, and the Japanese delegation informs the New York World News Service there have been no discussions with the Americans at all since the Japanese delegates left Washington, aside from visits of courtesy.

Craigie Meets Saito.

Strong representations made by former Premier Reijiro Wakatsuki to Prime Minister MacDonald last night led to a meeting between Robert Leslie Craigie, head of the American Department of the British Foreign Office, and Hiroshi Saito, of the Japanese foreign office. Their discussions have resulted in a hint—no more than that—by the Japanese that, if granted 70 per cent of all auxiliary tonnage, they might take less than 70 per cent in Washington treaty cruisers and more in smaller ships.

From information vouchsafed by the Japanese it can not be said as yet that this view represents an approach to an agreement with the United States and Great Britain, for such a move by Japan would apparently involve her right to keep 80,000 tons of submarine and there are great difficulties, for Great Britain at any rate, in an adjustment of categories whereby Japan would build more light cruisers and few big ones.

Fireworks in Prospect.

There will be fireworks when the conference gets down to classifying categories. The United States, as usual, in this conference remains mute, but the British let it be known that they want nine categories named while the French want only four or five.

Great Britain seeks three categories in cruisers—Washington cruisers, cruisers between 6,000 and 10,000 tons, and small cruisers—and would also separately limit destroyer leaders, which are claimed to be in effect cruisers, and ordinary destroyers. France would combine the latter classes.

The general impression tonight in informed circles is fairly hopeful. This is based, not on the fact that any serious obstacles have been surmounted, but on the good feeling prevailing between delegations, with the unfortunate exception of the French and Italian.

Convict's Eyes Haunt Diva After She Sings at Prison

"One Face and Two Thousand Men," Mary Garden's Impression From Visit to Illinois Penitentiary as Entertainer; She Sang to Blue Eyes.

Chicago, Jan. 29 (A.P.).—The Mary Garden gestures flew today. She had been to prison. She had sung to:

"One face, one pair of eyes, 2,000 men dressed alike sitting there!"

The famous opera star shuddered as she recalled the scene at Joliet Penitentiary last night.

Expressive, as always, she threw her whole being into animated description of what she called "destruction of human beings."

"It was so solemn," she said. "So I had to make them laugh—imagine! no accompanist.

"I play a few things—Scotch dialect songs, the 'Habenera' from Carmen. So I sang to them. Close to the platform was one face—a mass of blond hair, deep, dark blue eyes. It haunts me today."

Then, into the prison hospital. There, a man, about whom Miss Garden gestured as if she were drawing the last breath of Thais about to die in the arms of the mad monk.

"'Murderer' the warden told me, just like that, 'Murderer.' 'Of whom?' I asked. 'His wife.' 'And why his wife?' The answer was 'she nagged him.'"

Thus, Mary Garden was impressed by "one face, one pair of eyes, 2,000 men sitting there."

BODY OF SHOW GIRL IS FOUND IN STUDIO

Musical Revue Actress Dies in Artist's Apartment From Gas Fumes.

SUICIDE THEORY IS HELD

New York, Jan. 29 (A.P.).—The body of Mrs. B. E. Foster, 24, a show girl, was found today in the studio apartment of Raymond F. Holland, an artist, in East Thirty-eighth street.

Police said Mrs. Foster, who appeared on the stage as Betty Storey, apparently committed suicide by inhaling gas fumes.

The body, dressed in a black silk slip and bedroom slippers, was found on a bed by a maid. A slight abrasion on Mrs. Foster's forehead is believed to have been caused from a fall before she succumbed to the fumes.

Holland had just arrived at the apartment from a trip for his health when the body was found. He said that he had been out of the city and had let Mrs. Foster use the apartment while he was away.

The woman's purse contained only a 5-cent piece.

Mrs. Foster, whose home was said to have been in Whitesboy, England, came from London five years ago to appear in a Florenz Ziegfeld production. Later she appeared in a Shubert show.

Father of Children's Slayer Is Found Dead

Camden, N. J., Jan. 29 (A.P.).—George W. Parks, father of Gladys May Parks, recently sentenced to 25 years for the death of her two child wards, was found dead in bed today in his room in this city. Coroner Melvin Cain said death apparently was due to natural causes.

Parks was a witness at the trial of his daughter, who was convicted of second-degree murder and manslaughter on January 18 in connection with the deaths of Dorothy Rogers, 4 years old, and Timothy Rogers, 2.

"SHADOWS HUGER than the shapes that cast them"
(Alfred, Lord Tennyson, 1809-1892)

AVOID THAT FUTURE SHADOW*

By refraining from over-indulgence

Men who would keep that trim, proper figure, women who prize the modern figure with its subtle, seductive curves—eat healthfully but not immoderately. Banish excessiveness—eliminate abuses. Be moderate—be moderate in all things, even in smoking. When tempted to excess, when your eyes are bigger than your stomach, reach for a Lucky instead. Coming events cast their shadows before. Avoid that future shadow by avoiding over-indulgence if you would maintain that lithe, youthful figure.

Your Throat Protection—against irritation—against cough

*Be Moderate!... Don't jeopardize the modern form by drastic diets, harmful reducing girdles, fake reducing tablets or other quack "anti-fat" remedies condemned by the Medical profession! Millions of dollars each year are wasted on these ridiculous and dangerous nostrums. Be Sensible! Be Moderate! We do not represent that smoking Lucky Strike Cigarettes will bring modern figures or cause the reduction of flesh. We do declare that when tempted to do yourself too well, if you will "Reach for a Lucky" instead, you will thus avoid over-indulgence in things that cause excess weight and, by avoiding over-indulgence, maintain a modern, graceful form.

VOCATION CLASSES TO BE TRANSFERRED

BOOKS' COST IS $242,088

The transfer of all vocational classes now at the Abbott School to the Columbia Junior High School Building as soon as possible was recommended by the advisory committee on vocational education in its first preliminary report yesterday afternoon to the District Board of Education. The report was submitted by the chairman, John B. Colpoys, editor of the Trade-Unionist.

The request of the committee that an expert be named by the Federal Board on Vocational Education to make a survey of the needs of the District was approved by the board. This data will be submitted to the committee.

An amendment, which would include the District in the benefits of the Smith-Hughes law, also was urged in the report along with detailed recommendations on the erection of two vocational schools and their needs.

Transfer Is Gradual.

Dr. Frank W. Ballou, superintendent, informed the board that the transfer from the Abbott to the Columbia Junior High School was being made gradually and that at present there are only three shops left in the dilapidated building.

A verbal battle between members of the board developed yesterday following a recommendation by Dr. H. Barrett Learned, chairman of the committee on buildings, grounds and equipment, that the offer of the Barnard Parent-Teacher Association to give a prize to the class having the greatest number of parents present at the monthly meeting of the association be accepted.

Mrs. Philip S. Smith declared that she thought the board should not permit Parent-Teacher associations to conduct such contests to increase their attendance, even though the practice is not new.

Says Pupils' Time Wasted.

"It wastes the pupils' time and is an annoyance to the parents," she said.

Henry Gilligan, who explained that he had twice been a president of parent-teacher associations, dissented, declaring that it was beneficial to the parents, the school system and the board to encourage large attendances at these meetings. The issue was finally tabled until next meeting.

Provision of free textbooks to senior and junior high schools in the District will cost approximately $242,088, Dr. Ballou revealed, in urging the board to offer this supplemental estimate to Congress on the assumption that President Hoover will sign the bill. The board approved the recommendation.

HIGH SCHOOL PUPILS ATTEND AUTO SHOW

HEAVY SALES PREDICTED

The educational value of the tenth annual automobile show was strongly attested yesterday when a large number of high school students attended the big exhibition which is occupying the boards at the Washington Auditorium all this week. For the most part they are members of technology classes which are studying mechanics in general and internal combustion engines in particular.

Instructors have found the automobile show an effective laboratory in which to impart the newest principles of motor mechanics, concentrating as it does virtually every type of gasoline engine now used in the automotive world. Cutaway chassis and other working models make easy the visualization of automobile operation and design.

With more propitious weather conditions prevailing, the general attendance took a decided upward swing yesterday and last evening. Many women took advantage of the morning opening of the doors to inspect the displays during the hours of less congestion. Nor was their admiration confined to the handsome outward appearance of the 150 models displayed, for very generally they were interested in the power plant developments which make the automobile of 1930 a much more powerful and efficient product than any of its predecessors.

Representatives of the distributors for the 37 different makes exhibited in the show agree that the obvious interest of the crowds portends a heavy sales season immediately in consequence of the display.

"Nineteen Hundred and Thirty Motor Car Comfort" was the subject of a radio talk last night over Station WMAL by Raphael Semmes, member of the show committee of the Washington Automotive Trade Association. Two talks are scheduled for this evening. At 7:15 o'clock Rudolph Joee, chairman of the W. A. T. A.'s show committee, will address the audience of Station WRC on "Motor Car Design in 1930," while at 7:25 o'clock a similar talk will be discussed over Station WMAL by L. S. Jullien, treasurer of the association.

PUPILS' TRANSFER UPHELD BY BOARD

tests by the citizens' group had exaggerated the real situation.

"We have never advocated a strike by the children," he said.

Superintendent Ballou, in making a recommendation that the transfer be carried through, told the board that the crowded condition at Burroughs School necessitated the move. The only alternative, he said, would be to shift the special vocational and domestic science classes to Langdon instead, as urged by some of the citizens.

That Solution Impracticable.

Such a transfer would be impractical and unwise, Dr. Ballou explained, because it would require the moving of a great deal of built-in equipment and the refurnishing of the three special rooms with school furniture, which is not available.

Dr. Ballou pointed out that the move is merely a preliminary step in the establishment of a junior high school for the Burroughs section, as asked by the residents. After February 1, pupils of the two grades in question will be permitted to attend the Langley Junior High School if they prefer it to Langdon.

Harry O. Hine, secretary of the board, was instructed to transmit the report of the action of the board to the Burroughs Citizens Association early today so it will be in its hands befor the protest gathering.

Three Protests Made.

In his statement last night, Mr. Rabenhorst declared that the Burroughs citizens had thrice passed resolutions protesting against the proposed transfer and that the last objection was transmitted to the board last November.

"We assumed that the transmittal of these resolutions to the board was equivalent to a request for a hearing thereon," he said, "but we have not even received an acknowledgment of the receipt of the third set of resolutions.

"We believe that the parents most directly affected by this proposal should be the ones to be heard upon the matter. The Board of Education should be somewhat responsive to the wishes of the people directly affected by their decrees. It appears that in this instance the board has gone ahead with its plans without giving these people proper consideration."

Merchant Files Bankruptcy Plea.

James A. Chambers, a merchant, of 1673 Park road northwest, yesterday petitioned the District Supreme Court to adjudge him a bankrupt. He lists liabilities of $4,298.04 and assets of $300. Attorney Louis B. Arnold appears for the petitioner.

R. E. Sayre Acquitted Of Blame in Collision

Richard E. Sayre, of 627 Otis place northwest, was acquitted yesterday in Police Court on a charge of reckless driving in connection with a collision January 5 at Sixteenth street and Florida avenue northwest.

Sayre was accused by Joseph A. Kell, colored, the driver of the other automobile, who suffered a fractured collar bone in the crash. Sayre, through Attorney John P. Mullen, introduced testimony of physicians at Garfield Hospital to the effect that Kell was drunk when admitted for treatment. It also was testified that Kell had been previously convicted of several traffic violations. Judge Isaac R. Hitt ordered the charge against Sayre dismissed.

2,640 New Auto License Tags Issued Yesterday

There were 2,640 new automobile license tags issued by the District yesterday, according to figures announced by Wade H. Coombs, superintendent of licenses. Mr. Coombs estimated that there are approximately 8,000 motorists who have failed to get their 1930 license tags. The period of grace for 1929 tags expires at midnight Friday night.

So far this month there have been issued 88,840 tags.

Arrested Lawyer Sues for $150,000

False Charges Brought Against Him by Pair, Thompson Says.

Three suits for an aggregate of $150,000 damages were filed yesterday in District Supreme Court by Garfield C. Thompson, of 9 Hanover street northwest, who states that he is a member of the bar.

Thompson, who appears as his own attorney, brought two of the suits against Natalie E. Levy, of 2321 Ontario road northwest, and the other against Victor R. Daly, of the Prudential Bank Building. Damages of $50,000 are sought in each suit.

Thompson tells the court that Daly influenced the woman to cause his false arrest. He also allege that the woman swore to two warrants against him in Police Court charging him with destroying property and that one of the charges was nolle prossed and he was acquitted on the other after the grand jury had indicted him. Thompson alleges that as a result of his arrest and imprisonment and trial he was injured in his fame, reputation and name.

AT LONDON TODAY.

After today's plenary meeting of the London naval conference the public will have a clearer idea of the position that each delegation is taking. Members of the press will be admitted—a wholesome step that helps to sweep aside baseless rumors and consolidate public opinion in the various countries in support of fair and practicable principles of agreement.

Tentative proposals, going into details, must be made confidentially. They can not properly be made public, for the reason that they are subject to abrupt and numerous alterations as the negotiators grope their way toward agreement. The public can not follow these detailed changes. Any published proposal becomes fixed in the public mind as an unalterable demand, and if the negotiators attempt to change it they are subjected to fierce denunciation. The Constitution of the United States never could have been framed if the constitutional convention had been open to the public.

Upon questions of principle, however, the public is entitled to current information. The peoples of America, Britain, France, Italy and Japan are the chief parties in interest. The delegations are mere agents, and every nation has a right to know whether or not its agents are acting within their authority.

One of the principles that must serve as the basis of an agreement at London is the equality of sovereign states. If Italy insists upon the right to possess a navy as strong as that of any other European power the demand must be conceded. It is inconceivable that any government should attach its signature to a pact that derogates its parity of sovereignty.

It is reported that a preamble has been devised which recognizes this equality of sovereignty, as preliminary to provisions which would proceed to deny or ignore the principle. If such a plan is on foot it is a waste of time, because the delegations at London are made up of keenly intelligent and alert men, who can not be induced to grasp at the shadow of a preamble and sacrifice the substance of a treaty.

Great Britain and the United States have tentatively agreed to the principle of equality of naval strength. Americans will not be satisfied until this principle has been made effective. If equality can not be obtained by the scrapping of British ships down to the American level, then it must be obtained by building up the United States to an equality with the British navy.

Equality of strength does not mean equality of cruiser or battleship tonnage, but equality in power to command the seas. To reach this parity many factors must be taken into consideration in addition to battleships and cruisers.

The proposal to postpone replacement of battleships meets with approval in both England and America. But mere postponement does not do much to expedite parity. While considering postponement of replacement it would be well to expedite parity also, by scrapping at once two of the four British battleships that will be due for scrapping in 1934. At present Britain possesses 20 battleships and the United States 18. There is a difference of at least 57,000 tons in favor of Great Britain. The British battleships Iron Duke, Marlborough, Emperor of India and Benbow are of the same age and tonnage, and must be scrapped in 1934. Instead of making the empty gesture of postponing again the proposed constructions of cruisers still in the blueprint stage, Prime Minister MacDonald could make a genuine move toward parity by announcing the immediate scrapping of two of the four vessels named, as a part of the proposed agreement to postpone replacement. Such an announcement on his part would be worth more than all the speeches that have been made.

The world hopes for concrete action at London looking to the equalization of naval forces and the cessation of rivalry. Somebody must take the first step toward the objective which all profess to desire. The United States took the first step at the Washington conference, and made good by scrapping ships. Great Britain is in the best position now to lead the way, as it possesses more battleships than are necessary for parity's sake. Since these vessels must be scrapped in 1934, why not scrap two of them now, and thus make parity in battleships a reality?

THE HOWELL BILL.

Senator Howell's bill to make Washington a model city from the standpoint of prohibition enforcement faces a stormy course. So drastic are some of its provisions that it will command the support of only the most militant drys. It is safe to assume that if the bill becomes law it will do so in modified form. The major controversy will surround section 10, which reads, in part:

> No search warrant shall issue to search any private dwelling occupied as such unless it is being used for the unlawful sale of intoxicating liquor, or a still or distilling apparatus is unlawfully set up or being used therein, or intoxicating liquor is unlawfully delivered thereto or removed therefrom.

The bill, in addition would give all Washington policemen authority to enforce the liquor laws and would provide penalties for any policeman found guilty of not exercising such authority. It would place the burden of proof upon the owner of liquor unlawfully seized to show that it was lawfully possessed before it could be returned, and it would provide a revolving fund for use in obtaining evidence of liquor law violations by policemen or "snoopers."

Senator Borah, leader of the prohibition forces, has refused to indorse section 10 on the ground that it is too drastic in its search and seizure provisions. It remains to be seen whether or not the newly organized wet bloc will support the measure. There has been a growing sentiment that the more oppressive prohibition is made the sooner public sentiment will demand modification and, in many respects, it would seem that the Howell bill is made to order for those who subscribe to this view.

Washington should have an enforcement act. There is no disposition on the part of local officials to shirk the duties that devolve upon them with respect to the enforcement of prohibition. The fight against liquor law violation in Washington is made doubly difficult because of the absence of adequate enforcement legislation. The local enforcement act, however, should not contain provisions of doubtful constitutionality. The homes of law-abiding citizens should not be invaded under any pretext whatever.

THE CRISIS IN SPAIN.

Termination of the dictatorship under Gen. Primo de Rivera brings Spain to a serious crisis. For more than six years constitutional government has been suspended. The dictatorship began with a sweeping program of reforms designed to win the people over to the new regime and gradually to restore constitutional rights. A new and elaborate constitution is in the process of formation, but the dictatorship has weakened to such an extent that Spain will now revert to its old constitution and attempt to restore parliamentary government.

Spain is in a period of transition. Republican sentiment is reported to be gaining rapid headway. Communism is rampant in some quarters, including Barcelona. During the life of the dictatorship disloyalty and attempts to revolt have been frequent in spite of the severe punishment prescribed. Students of Madrid and Barcelona are now engaged in a strike against the government, and it is quite probable that the dissatisfaction will spread, now that the dictatorship has been overthrown. The resignation of Gen. Rivera appears to be an attempt to quell this rising sentiment by reversion to the constitution of 1876.

Formation of the dictatorship in 1923 was a move to save the country from further political disintegration. The political parties which then had control were irresponsible, and concerned themselves chiefly with the gathering in of spoils. Catalonia, Spain's chief source of revenue, threatened to secede. Gen. Rivera reorganized the armed forces, and when their loyalty to the king was assured, he was invited to Madrid to form the dictatorship. Apparently the objective was to develop an organization patterned after the Fascisti in Italy for support of the throne. The fall of Gen. Rivera marks the failure of that movement and an attempt to stave off disaster by a return to constitutional government.

As in the establishment of the dictatorship, the army played a conspicuous part in its overthrow. Gen. Rivera has not been able to maintain discipline in the army, and his decision to resign came as a result of the refusal of military and naval chiefs to support him longer. The new government under Gen. Damaso Berenguer will no doubt be civil in theory and military in character. The new premier will choose a cabinet of civilians, but his chief task will be preservation of order until the country is readjusted to constitutional government. He has announced his intention of retiring as soon as that has been accomplished, but that may not mean an early resignation.

Failure of the dictatorship will give encouragement to radicals of every hue. Spain is seething with discontent. A strong man is needed to lead the way out of this crisis; yet too much of the iron hand would only perpetuate the dictatorship and postpone the inevitable transition to representative government. The future of Spain may be vitally influenced by events of the next few months.

HOW ABOUT IMPERIAL VALLEY?

Floods continue to be a serious menace in the United States. Several sections of the country are now in distress, in spite of the liberal appropriations of Congress for flood relief. Suffering is particularly acute in the areas inundated by the White and Wabash Rivers in Indiana. Families are marooned on the roofs of their houses, surrounded by great fields of floating ice. Hunger, exposure and isolation are adding daily to the list of casualties.

No one can tell what the Mississippi will do this spring. Congress has appropriated millions for protection of areas in danger of flooding, but much of the work has been delayed by the controversy over compensation for land for the spillways. It is to be hoped that a satisfactory solution will be found, and that aid will be extended to all those in danger of having their homes swept away by swollen rivers.

In no section is flood control more urgently needed than in the Imperial Valley of California. The Black Canyon Dam bill was enacted by Congress with a view to providing that protection. Senator Borah proposed an amendment making Government construction and operation of the project mandatory, but withdrew it when Senator Phipps expressed fear that the bill would be vetoed if it carried such a provision. Explaining his action, Senator Borah said "it would be almost criminal to postpone flood control and the protection of the people of Imperial Valley." Senator Norris added that he could not believe the President would fail to heed "the cry that is going up from 65,000 people to save their homes."

Yet a year has passed without any advancement toward flood control for Imperial Valley. The States have not yet agreed on a division of water, and Arizona is threatening an injunction. Nevada, Utah, Colorado and Wyoming are dissatisfied with the proposed division of power. A new row has developed over the interpretation of the act under which Secretary Wilbur is said to have allotted power to private corporations in preference to States and municipalities.

Meanwhile the people of Imperial Valley are without protection. Each year they are in danger of being swept away. Members of Congress voted for the Colorado River project in the belief that they were voting for flood control. Instead, the bill was so hedged about with schemes for development of power that flood control has become an insignificant part of the project. Hope for Imperial Valley is on the wane. The muddle thickens daily and the end is not yet in sight. Flood control is being sacrificed to a socialistic enterprise for the development of power.

Japan has won the distinction of having the best dressed men at the naval conference. Had America known that it was to be a sartorial contest Senator Brookhart might have been chosen.

RUTH HANNA McCORMICK

From the Philadelphia Public Ledger.

There may be in Illinois this year such a campaign as this country has not seen in all the years of its colorful political history. For the first time in our political annals, a woman candidate for the United States Senate will undertake to defeat a veteran senator, who is a man with marked political gifts.

Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick is the daughter of Mark Hanna and the widow of the late Senator Medill McCormick. She is now a member of the House. She wishes to be senator from Illinois. Mr. Deneen, whom she will oppose for the Republican nomination, is now the senior senator from that State and has served since February, 1925.

He knows as few men know the winding, uncertain and devious channels of Illinois politics. He has been in public life since 1892 as a member of the General Assembly, as State's Attorney for Cook County, as Governor of the State and finally as United States senator.

Mrs. McCormick is no babe in the woods of politics. Her admirers insist that she has all the wisdom of her resourceful father, the Marcus Alonso Hanna of McKinley's day.

For politics to the congresswoman-at-large from Illinois is as the breath of her nostrils. She loves it. She lives it in Illinois and in Washington, and particularly in Illinois.

Out in the Melancholy Flat Lands they talk a little breathlessly of the magnificent and romantic manner in which she mixes society with politics. This makes a heady brew for the down-State clubwomen and the housewives from the corn belt's prairie towns. Her speaking "tours," when she is holding forth in the county courthouses of the Black Lands and the Peach Counties, usually resemble a triumphal progress. She has had a great deal of political strength among the women's organizations of her adopted State.

Mrs. McCormick plans to "speak in the courthouses" again this spring, according to the advance notices from Washington and from Illinois. This campaign will be her last Senate opportunity for four years, and she will plan to make the most of it, for the ways of Illinois politics are sad and more than a little strange, and it is possible that she may never have another chance.

It should be a rather pretty battle. For this Mr. Deneen is nobody's political stuffed shirt. It is possible that the lady who wishes to go down in history as the first of her sex to be elected to the Senate may win. If she does, she will know she has been in a fight. In any Illinois primary almost anything may happen and frequently it does. The possible combinations and complications of a State-wide battle are almost limitless.

It is these complications and combinations that tell the tale in Illinois. They reach out of Chicago, into Springfield, through the prairies, into the industrial areas and the soft-coal country of southern Illinois and across the Ozark Uplift down to the Ohio. If the daughter of the wisest of all American political leaders has inherited and can use his genius, she may win. If not, then the veteran skill of an old campaigner may send Mr. Deneen back to Washington; but, win or lose, Mrs. McCormick will break and make a long list of political precedents this year.

Give Him Reason to Feel Chesty.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

THE HUMBLE GREAT.

He lived his little life and never knew
The work that God had fashioned him to do,
Yet something seemed to whisper all day long:
"Be happy at your labor and be strong!
Humble your post, but let your neighbors see
How truly great a working man can be."

Strange wispering this! And yet it held him fast,
Purse poor at first, purse poor until the last,
He whistled at his toil bright bits of song,
Befriended all who passed his way along,
Lived cleanly, bravely, till his fellow clan
Envied and praised his merits as a man.

He never sought by trickery to gain
The false enjoyments cunning men obtain,
He laughed and loved, played fairly and was kind,
And never let life's bitters sour his mind,
As if that voice kept whispering: "Be true,
And show the world the good one man can do."

I think of him as one God singled out
Always in working clothes to walk about,
And kept him poor of purse, yet made him wise
In all to which gold often blinds our eyes
And held him fast to drudgery, that we Might learn how fine the humblest man can be.

He Is the Greatest Man Who Builds the Greatest Machines.

By ROBERT QUILLEN

THE great men of history were men who built machines to multiply their strength and carry out their plans.

The machines may have been armies or political parties or empires or merely printed pages, but always they were a means of making the great one's ideas effective and thus shaping the destiny of mankind.

No man achieves greatness by himself.

He conceives and plans, but he accomplishes nothing until he finds a tool he can use to move the world.

The tool—the means of multiplying himself—the machine to do his will—that is the beginning and the assurance of success.

"What great things I could accomplish," man says, "if I had the opportunity."

It is not opportunity he covets, but equipment—money, power, followers—tools to work his will.

And he would count himself the most fortunate of men—a god, in truth—if he could create such instruments of his will and use them to realize his dreams.

It is a privilege denied to men and reserved for women.

Women alone can create the tools to make their dreams come true.

When the ambitious young woman says she will have a career instead of a home and children, it is as though an engineer should say: "I wish to move this mountain, but I shall do it with my hands instead of using machines."

What is a career but self-expression—a labor with certain tools to effect some change in the world—to create beauty or destroy evil or do good?

Then why use one poor tool when it is possible to multiply better ones?

Why depend on one weak tool, quickly broken, when it is possible to perfect machines that will renew themselves year after year until the end of time.

Is there some career greater than that of Mary, whose son dominates the earth?

Was it not a sufficient career to create and train such instruments as Leonardo, Darwin, Lincoln, Lindbergh?

Which is the finer thing—to swim ashore alone or to save ten men?

Then which is the greater career—to buy and sell trinkets or to create ten leaders of the race?

THE ONCE OVER

By H. I. PHILLIPS

NAVAL PARLEY CASABIANCA.

The gob stood on the burning deck,
He was the gunner's mate;
He couldn't fight the foe because
His ship was overweight.

The fleets had met at sunrise but
The thing that made him hot
Was that he sailed a warship which
The rules said he should not.

The enemy with tact and skill
Had crabbed the gunner's act
By claiming violation of The London naval pact.

The foe pulled out the articles,
And this one he did stress:
"All warships shall weigh 20 tons
And not a half-pound less."

"I know I have a smaller ship,"
The gob in tears replied,
"But let us fight, I beg of you,
For she's the navy's pride."

"Don't be absurd," the foe came back,
"We're not a pack of fools,
And fighting any smaller ship
Is quite against the rules."

"But war is war," the gunner said,
"And we're out here to fight;
To argue over size and weight
I think is silly, quite."

"Another reason," said the foe,
"Why we this fight must shelve
Is that you've only 8-inch guns
While I am using twelve."

"Oh, come," the gunner's mate replied,
"And end this vain debate:
I'll let you use your 12-inch guns
And I'll just use my eight."

"Don't argue, sir; the fight is off,"
The enemy replied,
"For since your ship is underweight
She is disqualified!"

Then came a burst of thunder sound;
The gob, oh! where was he?
Ask of the winds that far around
With fragments strewed the sea.

Into a gun the boy had crawled
And died in manner grand
Because there are some naval rules
No gob could understand.

THE LEE BIRTHPLACE.

The purchase of Gen. Robert E. Lee's birthplace, the fine old Virginia estate of Stratford, according to the Boston Transcript, is interesting the Southern States, which are engaged in a sort of rivalry as to which shall contribute, next to Virginia herself, most generously to the $240,000 fund that is necessary to the purchase of the place. North Carolina is almost neck-and-neck in the matter with Virginia. Is there an reason why Massachusetts should not contribute to the raising of the $190,000 which is still due on the purchase price? Probably there are but few among our people who would not agree with Senator Benjamin H. Hill's famous eulogy of Lee. That stern old Georgia Unionist, who went with the Confederacy, like Lee himself, only when his State seceded from the Union, said of Lee:

> He possessed every virtue of other great commanders without their vices. He was a foe without hate; a friend without treachery; a soldier without cruelty; a victor without oppression, and a victim without murmuring. He was a public officer without vices; a private citizen without wrong; a neighbor without reproach; a Christian without hypocrisy, and a man without guile. He was a Caesar without his ambition; Frederick without his tyranny; Napoleon without his selfishness, and Washington without his reward.

There is reason for the broadest kind of sympathy with this project to purchase Stratford.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Washington Schools and Sex Education—A Protest From a Mother.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Through local papers the mothers are informed that children above the third grade in the public schools are to have thrust upon their innocent, childish consciousness subjects much too deep and far reaching for their understanding. The evil which will result is beyond the conception of the authors of this movement.

If the Board of Education has decided to do this monstrous thing it would clearly indicate that a change in the control of the public schools of the District of Columbia is needed if our ideals and standards are to be preserved. The Board of Education should be abolished and the authority vested in a superintendent of public instruction appointed by the President and confirmed by the Senate. At least half of the existing top-heavy machinery of the system should be lopped off. This would enable the salaries of the teachers to be increased without additional appropriations. High-grade men and women should be employed, and character should determine fitness, not college degrees. Discontinue many of the subjects now on the curriculum, change the textbooks where needed, and lay the foundation for thoroughly educated, pure-minded, ambitious men and women. Then and not until then will the schools of the District justify the present expenditures.

The textbooks of 50 years ago embodied character building in every page; they stimulated ambition; the method of study strengthened the memory and the mind; more attention was paid to fundamentals.

Let the mothers of Washington organize, sponsor legislation changing the control of the public schools of the District of Columbia, as suggested above, and banish forever this sex agitation which again menaces our children. Questions of sex have no place in the schoolroom nor in group instruction anywhere. Such information should be imparted individually—if possible by the parent or guardian in the home and not until the period of maturity is faced.

A MOTHER.

"Onward" Says Chance-Takings Make For Advancement of Mankind, and Cites Few Examples.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: I notice in your readers' column a letter by a Mr. George E. Medley stating that "Fools rush in where angels alone should fly." I should like to list here a few "fools" of history—those who took the unfavorable chance, sometimes winning and sometimes losing, but always for the advancement of mankind. I have in mind particularly Columbus, Nathan Hale, Clara Barton, Walter Reed, the unknown heroes who offered themselves to the bite of the deadly yellow fever mosquito, the phone operators who have stuck to their posts, the Unknown Soldier, and Lindbergh.

They all took the chance, and we are better off today because they did.

Let those fly who will. If the fates are unkind, let us regret that those with nerve have fallen, but not cry down the brave spirit of the men who take chances that the world may move on to better things. For the deeds of such are the milestones of the ages that have passed since we were cave men.

ONWARD.

Time to Put a Stop to the Panther Scare.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Washington's panther has been leading many of the residents a merry chase for the past two weeks or so. To date this beast has been the direct cause for the injury of two persons; that of the man who was wounded by a stray bullet intended for the panther, and the case of a 7-year-old youngster who was wounded by his brother when preparing to go on a hunt for the big cat.

It is about time that an organized group be formed to run down this beast and thus stop the possibility of any future injuries occurring to residents of the District and nearby Maryland. A city having a population of over a half million should certainly be able to devise ways and means to dispatch the marauder. Three well-armed men trailing behind a number of trained hounds should succeed in bagging the game in a short time. It is time to stop the foolishness and get down to business.

Streets Used for Storage of Dead and Diseased Automobiles—Owners Barred From Their Own Steps.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: An edifying spectacle is afforded these cold days of block after block of Washington streets cluttered up with frozen dead automobiles that very often have stood in the same spot for days or even weeks at a time.

Are they in front of their owner's homes? Nine times out of ten they are not and the unfortunate owner of a house can not have access to his own front door.

It is for this purpose that we cut down trees, the most beautiful feature of Washington life, in order to save garage rent for various and sundry irresponsible owners of neglected and ramshackle cars?

How would it be for the rest of us to use the streets for storing our temporarily disused furniture?

I do not know another city worthy of the name in which this rural, small-town practice would be tolerated?

WILLIS J. RUTLEDGE.

Streets Not Cleared Promptly After Snowfall.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: The reply of Maj. D. A. Davison to criticism of the condition of the streets following the last snow storm exemplifies the policy that governs the street cleaning department. Instead of proceeding to clear the streets so that they may be used with safety, the department waits for the sun to come along and do its work. Everybody suffers and no action is taken until there is an outcry in Congress.

Maj. Davison also says he is unable to compel people to clean their sidewalks of snow. Nine out of ten do so but defaulters make everyone miserable. It may not be easy to obtain judgments against defaulters but a little police pressure, which should be easy to obtain, would work wonders.

SOVIET BLAMES U.S. IN MANCHURIAN ROW

WANTS IN PARLEY, CLAIM

Moscow, Jan. 29 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—With the report today from Harbin that 600 White guards have made a new invasion into the office of the newly appointed Soviet manager of the Far Eastern Railway, Soviet officials are bitter in their accusations against the United States.

Washington is blamed as the principal among foreign powers for instigating the new trouble over the railroad, for having stimulated the statement of Chao-Chu Wu, Chinese Ambassador to Washington, that the Chinese-Russian conflict can be settled peacefully only when a third party is admitted into a conference between the two nations.

The Chinese-Russian Conference, scheduled to open this week in Moscow, has been indefinitely postponed because Nanking claims that the preliminary Chinese-Russian agreement recently signed in Habarovk includes questions that Chinese delegates were not authorized to decide.

The United States is accused of wanting itself to become the third party at the Chinese-Russian conference, which Moscow would not tolerate any more than it will see any third party present.

Poland will be the first nation to make war on the Soviet government, officials charge. They point out that the Polish Parliament yesterday approved a military budget that constitutes 40 per cent of its total budget.

In conformity with its policy to liquidate foreign concessions in small industries, the Soviet government recently liquidated here the American enterprise Ruscapa, the passenger and tourist agency that has been here since 1926. The government also recently bought up the German razor concession in Moscow to convert the enterprise into a 100 per cent Soviet business.

Support of Air Safety Regulations Pledged

(Associated Press.)

Support of a standard of minimum requirements to promote safety on air passenger lines was pledged yesterday by representatives of a majority of air transport operators to Clarence M. Young, Assistant Secretary of Commerce for Aeronautics.

Details of the general plan will be worked out tomorrow at another conference. The proposed minimum requirements then will be submitted to all operators and regulations will be made effective on a sliding scale, some becoming immediately operative, while others will be worked in as time and facilities make them available.

As a matter of fact, Mr. Fort is believed to have given up any serious ambition for the governorship. It is an ambition that he cherished for a long time, an ambition accentuated by the fact that his father once served over the State. But the present situation in New Jersey does not look promising for a Republican governor at all.

"I feel the freer to leave at this time since the affairs of the party are in such splendid shape," he said in his letter to Huston. "There is no question in any sane mind of the fact that the President is stronger with the rank and file of the Nation even than on the day of his triumphant election."

The Listening Post

—By CARLISLE BARGERON—

YOU know, when you get right down to hard and cold facts, there is no reason why our genial town marshal, Mr. Edgar C. Snyder, should not catalog his deputies if he wants to. This cataloging of people around here seems to be right fashionable just now.

But study the District code, the annotated code, the Federal code—study all the laws of the land—and there is no law against Mr. Snyder having his men fill out a questionnaire. It is a matter that comes wholly and entirely within a marshal's prerogatives.

Neither is there any legal inhibition against the quaintness of the form which the marshal's questionnaire took with such questions as to whether his deputies had ever served in the Army and what they had done after the eighteenth amendment was enacted and who recommended them for appointment in the first place.

Certainly this whole business of the marshal's questionnaire is within the legal boundaries that have been prescribed for American men.

* * * *

BUT why, in the name of goodness, must the marshal explain his questionnaire as a very routine thing, as just something, indeed, to bring his files up to date? Is it to go down in history that the year 1930 was the year in which all files were brought up to date?

Why, that questionnaire of the marshal's was so routine that it almost scared his 60 or more deputies to death. And they are men who must have cool heads and clear as they go about their business of serving warrants and making arrests. They shouldn't be disturbed by a routine thing as they have been. People have been known to be routined to death.

* * * *

THIS general bringing of files up to date, this widespread cleaning out of the index cases, the shaking of the dust off the musty old and the tying of dainty ribbons about the shining new little dossiers, so to speak, should be eased up on those whom the dossiers concern.

With brand new dossiers pouring out of so many places at once as regiments of soldiers trooping out of their barracks, the civilian populace is bound to become alarmed.

Nay, nay, Mr. Marshal, particularly should there be no mystery about your little questionnaire. We know what it meant. It meant that you plan to form little American Legions among your deputies. That's the reason you asked them if they had served in the World War, isn't it, Mr. Marshal?

Destinn, Opera Star, Dies At Czechoslovakia Home

Soprano of Metropolitan's Heyday Succumbs to Heart Disease at 51; Was Ardent Advocate of Bohemian Independence From Austria-Hungary.

Budweis, Czechoslovakia, Jan 29 (A.P.).—Emmy Destinn, prima donna and patriot, died at her home here today of heart disease. She was born 51 years ago in Prague, the daughter of Emanuel Kittel, and took her professional name from Maria Loewe-Destinn, under whom she studied from 1892 to 1898.

Mme. Destinn won much of her fame in the United States, where, in 1908 at the Metropolitan Opera House, she was a member of the distinguished company which included Caruso, Geraldine Farrar, Louise Homer and Scotti. Her voice was soprano of extraordinary range.

New York, Jan. 29 (A.P.).—To the period at the Metropolitan Opera House, when Caruso, Farrar, Homer and Olive Permstad were the other big personalities, belonged Emmy Destinn, Bohemian prima donna, who died at her home near Prague, in what is now Czechoslovakia.

Mme. Destinn came to the Metropolitan in 1908 from the Royal Opera House in Berlin, where she had been one of the leading sopranos for ten years.

She made her debut here November 16, 1908, in "Aida," with Caruso, Scotti and Mme. Homer. Toscanini was the conductor.

She was an immediate success and subsequently created many roles at the Metropolitan. Among the premieres in which she sang were "The Girl of the Golden West," "Bartered Bride," of Smetana; Catalani's "La Valley," D'Albert's "Tiefland" and "Pique Dame,' 'an opera by Tchaikowsky.

An ardent advocate of Bohemian independence, at the beginning of the World War she incurred the disfavor of the Austrian government. In 1915, before the rebirth of her homeland to independence she took out first papers for American citizenship. She returned to America twice after the war, the last time in 1921.

In 1923 she married Capt. Haisbach, a Czech aviator, much younger than herself.

Hearings Finished On Mail Contracts

(Associated Press.)

Hearings were completed yesterday by the House merchant marine committee on the proposal of Representative Davis, of Tennessee, its ranking Democratic member, to prohibit letting mail contracts to shipping lines operating foreign-flag ships in competition with American craft.

The committee set Monday for an executive session to act on the Davis proposal and on the proposed White amendment to the merchant marine act which would give preference to vessels purchased from the United States Shipping Board in mail-contract awards.

During its final hearing on the bill the committee heard a charge of monopoly in the banana industry made against the United Fruit Co. by Representative Reid (Republican), Illinois. He asserted the company "controls every banana we eat."

C. D. Doswell, vice president of the United Fruit Co., denied the charge, after protesting against the Davis bill.

Queen of Sweden Ill At Royal Villa in Italy

Rome, Jan. 29 (A.P.).—Queen Victoria of Sweden, who has been an invalid for many years, is seriously ill at her villa here. King Gustave is with her.

An official bulletin today said that there was persistent coughing which caused fatigue, unsatisfactory heart functioning and a weakening of strength that aroused uneasiness. The queen, nevertheless, passed relatively calm night. Queen Victoria is 68.

STATE ORDERS BAN ON FILIPINO BOXERS

California Takes Measure to Prevent Further Race Trouble.

PROPAGANDA IS BLAMED

San Francisco, Calif., Jan. 29 (A.P.).—Filipinos were barred today from California boxing rings as a precaution against further race trouble in the State.

Fearing that fight gatherings, at which Filipino and white boxers were permitted in the same ring might be turned into riots, William H. Hanlon, chairman of the State Boxing Commission, telegraphed all promoters to obtain subs for Filipions already engaged and to book no more of the islanders until further notice.

Hanlon said crowded fight arenas "seem ideal places for creating of riots." He was particularly fearful of the consequences should a Filipino boxer win a victory over a white opponent.

Stockton Is Quiet.

Police heads at centers of recent disorders moved today to prevent furthur trouble.

Stockton was quiet after a noisy night in which the front of a Filipino clubhouse was blown away and several street fights reported. No one was injured.

More than 15,000 Filipinos make their homes in and near Stockton. Police said today the Stockton disturbance may have been due to dissension among the Filipinos, rather than to attack, and they are investigating this possibility.

Filipinos to File Suit.

The Filipino question at Watsonville near which city Fermin Tobera, Filipino lettuce worker, was killed last week in a riotous attack on a Filipino bunkhouse, developed a legal angle. The State counsel for Filipino Citizens League announced the organization would file suits for damages against Sheriff N. P. Sinnott and District Attorney Wilbur Gardner on the grounds that the riots last week would not have occurred had they exercised "proper vigilance."

The outbreak in San Francisco seemed to have subsided after attacks upon five Filipinos here in the previous 24 hours. Special police precautions apparently brought resuts.

Propaganda Is Blamed.

Resident Commissioner Osias, of the Philippines, said in the House yesterday that such outbreaks as recently involved Filipinos in California would continue until the Washington Government granted Philippine independence.

Osias declared that what he called the Filipino problem in this country was closely related to immigration questions. He assailed "steamship interests" for spreading propaganda in the islands, which he said portrayed the "allurements of conditions in America."

"Can you blame the Filipinos for wanting to come here when such propaganda is being spread?" he demanded.

Representative Barbour (Republican), California, asked if the Philippines would be satisfied to be treated as a foreign nation if granted independence. Osias shouted an emphatic "yes."

SENATE REPORT DUE SOON ON PHILIPPINES

ommendations to Congress. It also was disclosed yesterday that Senator Vandenberg, of Michigan, an administration member of the territories committee, is preparing a bill which would give the Filipinos independence in ten years and gradual tariff autonomy.

"Laboratory Test" Sought.

"I am for Philippine independence if and when the islands are politically and economically ready," he said. "I will not be satisfied that they are politically and economically ready until we have a ten-year laboratory test."

Discussion of Philippine independence broke out in the Senate when Senator Tydings (Democrat), Maryland, asserted that recent labor riots on the West Coast afforded ample grounds for granting independence in the near future.

Tydings said this country already has race problems on its hands and Philippine immigration would make solution more difficult as long as freedom of the islands is postponed and no limitation on immigration prescribed.

Policy Called Illogical.

He described as "illogical" the United States immigration policy which excludes Japanese and Chinese and admits Filipinos.

Senator Johnson (Republican), California, said the authorities of his State would safeguard the interests of Filipinos as far as possible, but added that "something must be done."

"Whether the difficulties can be met by granting the Filipinos independence I do not know," he added.

"ALLOW NO RED RUSSIAN EMBASSY in WASHINGTON!"

Edwin Marshall Hadley, the Author of

"SINISTER SHADOWS"

"SINISTER SHADOWS" is based on current facts that turn the spotlight of publicity on an international conspiracy to make the United States of America adopt the doctrines typified by Red Russia. The facts in "Sinister Shadows" prove conclusively that the Red Flag of Anarchy must not be raised in Washington over a Red Russian Embassy harboring red propagandists and red spies.

"SINISTER SHADOWS" proves by documentary evidence woven into a fascinating story that an organized effort is being made to taint our sons and daughters with communistic, atheistic and socialistic teachings. "Sinister Shadows" insists that American educational institutions purge themselves of radicals and be compelled to face the crisis in the educational field.

ALL ROYALTIES

of "Sinister Shadows" are given to Advertising Men's Post, No. 38, of the American Legion for relief of the wounded and incapacitated veterans who fought for the preservation of American ideals. "Sinister Shadows" exposes the efforts of various societies that seek to overthrow the institutions for which these veterans made their sacrifices.

DETROIT TIMES:

"Thank heaven! at last some one has had the moral courage to step right into print with an unsparing expose of socialistic, communistic and anarchistic menace."

BOSTON POST:

"Edwin Marshall Hadley fears that American civilization is being diabolically undermined by the intrigues of Soviet Russia. His novel, 'Sinister Shadows,' presents the evidence he has uncovered of a plot against the ideals and integrity of our country."

LOUISVILLE TIMES:

"Mr. Hadley having energetically and entertainingly presented a mass of information collected from scores of sources touching on Russian Reds, presents a continual argument against recognition of the Soviet Republic. It has clearly brought out into the open by a keen analysis the anti-American sentiments constantly at work. . . . Mr. Hadley, a member of the American Legion, has at one stroke removed the shackles of radicalism from American education."

WASHINGTON, D. C., THE COALITIONIST:

"'Sinister Shadows,' from the pen of Edwin Marshall Hadley, of Chicago, published by the Tower Press of Chicago, should be read by every true and loyal citizen and then passed to a friend . . . 'Sinister Shadows' is most opportune and will be a big seller."

YOUNGSTOWN TELEGRAM:

"Dealing particularly with the menace of radical teachers in American Educational institutions, Hadley's work is a self-styled call to arms to true Americanism. The book is fictionized, but contains many real names a goodly number of which are associated by the author with communistic and socialistic activities."

GASTONIA (N. C.) GAZETTE:

"Hadley has grasped the full significance of a grave situation. Some will call him an alarmist, although he sets forth authentic facts in his intriguing book which should bring to life a neglected spirit of Americanism. 'Sinister Shadows,' is not a book of statistics. It is an enthralling story. Every citizen of these United States should read it at least twice."

OKLAHOMA CITY NEWS:

TALLAHASSE DEMOCRAT:

"Attention is broadly called to these in a book called 'Sinister Shadows,' written by Col. Edwin M. Hadley, of Chicago, a student of political economy. Col. Hadley insists that Soviet Russia is pushing an immense propaganda campaign in this country."

CHICAGO EVENING POST:

"* * * he likened Russian to contagious wards from which the inmates are inviting guests to hear their side of the question, and once in, a guest becomes inoculated with the trouble and goes forth spreading it among the people."

NATIONAL DEFENSE MAGAZINE:

"National Defense Magazine enthusiastically and without reservation recommends to its readers one of the most remarkable books that has been published in America in the last half century. 'Sinister Shadows,' by Edwin Marshall Hadley, is a book that every man and woman in America should obtain and read without delay. There is not a dull page in it. 'Sinister Shadows' is one of the most fearless books ever written. Spades are called spades. Fact is piled upon fact. It is the most dynamic book we have ever encountered."

TOLEDO NEWS:

"Mrs. Brosseau, former president of the D. A. R. found it 'one of the greatest books of the age.' Fred E. Busbey, Americanization commissioner of the American Legion, thinks that 'this powerful book should be read by everyone who is interested in the future of America.'"

NEW BEDFORD (MASS.) EVENING STANDARD:

"In his book, 'Sinister Shadows,' Edwin Marshall Hadley publishes an expose and searing condemnation of Russian Bolshevik work in the United States, with particular evidence against the underground propaganda in our schools and colleges carried on with the object of undermining patriotism and religion and causing ultimate overthrow of the government. Mr. Hadley's arguments are by no means shadowy, as he cites instances in colleges, either named or easily guessed, wherein young men and women are under direct influence or communism. Fearless and powerful book."

HON. EDWIN P. MORROW, FORMER GOVERNOR OF KENTUCKY:

"To me 'Sinister Shadows' is a watchman's warning cry from the towers of freedom—the heroic call of a bugle to patriotic hearts, a book that Americans need."

DR. HOWARD M. RAYMOND, PRESIDENT, ARMOUR INSTITUTE OF TECHNOLOGY:

"In 'Sinister Shadows' Edwin Marshall Hadley has written a fascinating story. It should be in the hands of every educator responsible for the training of our future citizens."

FRANK O. LOWDEN, FORMER GOVERNOR OF ILLINOIS:

"I have read 'Sinister Shadows' with exceeding interest. It reveals much that justifies the title. I congratulate you on having performed this service."

CHICAGO DAILY NEWS:

"While the book is in fiction form, with two imaginary characters playing the leading roles, Col. Hadley presents documentary evidence revealing the part played by each person named as well as the scene of activity. He paints a picture of an American soviet, with the leaders directing the activities of numerous societies."

NORFOLK LEDGER DISPATCH:

"Wait until everyone begins asking about 'Sinister Shadows.' That's the book that is going to stir up something just as soon as news editors run across it officially. . . . There's dynamite in that book. Even T N T."

FORT WAYNE (IND.) NEWS SENTINEL:

"While this is not a book review department, we do wish to recommend for your reading 'Sinister Shadows,' which is now on the press and will be here before long. 'Sinister Shadows' exposes the gigantic plot of the forces at work in the educational institutions of America to steal our children, to turn them against the land of their birth by poisoning their minds against God, home and country."

SALT LAKE CITY TELEGRAM:

"In some ways the book is quite startling. If half the things that the author fears have any chance of coming to pass, then indeed does America have something to fear. Unlike most novelists, he backs up every statement he makes with positive proof."

What Leading Newspapers and Prominent People Are Saying About "SINISTER SHADOWS"

WASHINGTON, D. C., SOJOURNER:

"Edwin Marshall Hadley in his book 'Sinister Shadows' has exposed the 'devastators.' It is a book of startling facts. It exposes the sinister forces at work in our educational institutions and the systematic attempts being made to overthrow all that for which our forefathers struggled and even sacrificed their lives."

RACINE (WIS.) TIMES CALL:

"The speaker (Edwin Marshall Hadley) concluded by saying that we will lose what we have accomplished for civilization by trying impossible things, such as those advocated by socialism and communism."

DENVER POST:

"Edwin M. Hadley, former Chicago business man and student of political economy, charges that having failed of its ambition for American conquest through diplomatic or governmental channels, Soviet Russia is now conducting a subtle, effective campaign in leading colleges."

WORCESTER (MASS.) SUNDAY TELEGRAM:

"Edwin Marshall Hadley * * * brings out an amazing and fearless revelation in the form of a novel dealing with what the author considers the attempts of radicals to destroy our American institutions. The book is disquieting and should discourage smug complacency in the face of ideas considered inimical to the Nation's best traditions."

THE PATRIOT—LONDON, ENGLAND:

"* * * Such is the plot of this masterly work, which we can cordially commend to our readers. . . . It is an admirable introduction to the study of the most important politico-economic subject of our time * * *."

HOLLISTER (CALIF.) EVENING FREE LANCE:

"'Sinister Shadows' will be the most talked of book of the year among people who think. 'Sinister Shadows' is an unusual book."

HARTFORD (CONN.) TIMES:

"It was with Macaulay's century-old prophecy in mind that this book was written. The prophecy was that in this century the republic would be ravaged by barbarians who would come, not as in the case of Rome from outside, but from your own country and the product of your own institutions. The author who sets out to prove these things from facts he has gathered expects violent attacks."

DANBURY (CONN.) NEWS:

"We hope every reader of the News will read 'Sinister Shadows' before he lays this paper down."

BOSTON TRANSCRIPT:

"A statement of the views and methods of communists and others who are attempting to undermine our social, religious and political structure."

JUDGE JOHN P. McGOORTY, SUPERIOR COURT, CHICAGO:

"I have waited long for the one great American book, and in 'Sinister Shadows' it has been found. Its equal is not likely to appear. It is a fine bit of writing, fascinating as it is scholarly. I can only say to my friends and the public, read it without delay."

ATLANTA AMERICAN:

"It tears off masks so natural that we have ceased to regard them as masks. It puts down in cold, calculating type on clean paper certain facts—facts that make us cringe. . . . 'Sinister Shadows' is supremely worth while."

WASHINGTON (D. C.) NATIONAL REPUBLIC:

"'Sinister Shadows,' by Edwin Marshall Hadley, the most daring expose to date of communism and other subversive movements in our educational institutions. . . . It is well worth reading. . . . The story takes you through the whole gamut of subversive intrigue in schools and colleges."

DAYTON (OHIO) DAILY NEWS:

"As we come to the close of the book, Zug is now Prof. Benedict Covet, and as such personifies the force in America today against which the author wars—the radicalism and socialism of our country—and especially when it seats itself in our halls of learning and communicates itself to the youth of the land. This, indeed, is a menace."

ST. AUGUSTINE (FLA.) RECORD:

"Colleges, professors, social workers, writers and communistic leaders and sympathizers in politics are mentioned by name and only a few of the characters are hidden under nom de plumes."

TAMPA TRIBUNE:

"If there were nothing to go upon save Col. Hadley's book, its unhesitating specifications would be sufficient to arrest serious attention. But there is much to confirm 'Sinister Shadows' coming from other sources. Many straws in the wind go to show that we are squarely at the crossroad."

TOLEDO NEWS BEE:

"* * * the story is fictionized but many real names are used and the author quite obviously purports to hold a mirror up to life."

PITTSBURGH PRESS:

"Congressman Maas, of Minnesota, believes that 'it will be read by more people than have read any one book in years.'"

RIPON (WIS.) PRESS:

"When you have read it for the first time you will say 'Wonderful,' the second time, 'Nothing like it,' and the third time, 'The greatest book for Americans in America.'"

GREEN LAKE (WIS.) COUNTY REPORTER:

"If you have some reason to believe that you can appreciate a real book, read Edwin Marshall Hadley's latest."

KANSAS CITY POST:

"This book takes the reader through a social, political and educational intrigue that winds through the halls of America's leading educational institutions."

CHICAGO EVENING POST:

"The first copy sold of 'Sinister Shadows' by Edwin M. Hadley is on display in the Field Book section this week in a glass case. This copy was auctioned off for $100 at a recent luncheon of the Advertising Men's Post of the American Legion and contains a number of notable autographs beside that of the author."

BALTIMORE, MANUFACTURERS RECORD:

"We now urge with all the emphasis that we can command that every one having the interest of home and state at heart should read 'Sinister Shadows.' It shows that our own children are being insidiously drawn into the radical clutches."

LIESBURG (FLA.) COMMERCIAL:

"The book, 'Sinister Shadows,' just off the press, was written after an exhaustive investigation of communistic and socialistic activities covering a period of approximately ten years."

SOUTH BEND (IND.) NEWS TIMES:

"Because it contains factual matter it should be widely read. If ever a volume had something of actual importance to say, Edwin Marshall Hadley says it. * * * He is right in that the more decadent forms of socialism are taught in American colleges and universities."

SALT LAKE CITY TRIBUNE:

"There can be no doubt of the sincerity of the author of this remarkable book, which obtensibly a novel, is * * * darina denunciation of activities in our midst in which he sees a dire and growing menace to American institutions. Whether or not the grounds for Mr. Hadley's great alarm are real or misunderstood, it is well to read the evidence by presents. It is likely to make one thoughtful. Mr. Hadley can quote you facts and figures, and amazing documents. He has shown no hesitancy in mentioning names—names well known in educational, government and literary fields—in connection with the progress of the Soviet program in America."

JAMESTOWN (N. Y.) JOURNAL:

"Edwin Marshall Hadley, of Chicago, has written a book entitled 'Sinister Shadows' in which he develops the theme that Soviet Russia is furthering its dream of American conquest by a subtle and effective campaign directed largely at the youth of the land through dozens of leading educational institutions."

FRED E. BUSBEY, AMERICANISM COMMISSIONER, AMERICAN LEGION (Department of Illinois):

"What is wrong with our colleges and universities? I wonder where my son and daughter obtained such queer ideas? These questions are weighing heavily on the minds of thousands of parents after talking to their sons and daughters home from a school on their vacation. 'Sinister Shadows,' by Edwin Marshall Hadley a Legionnaire, gives the answer. This powerful book should be read by every one who is interested in the future of America."

New Sponsor Of Orchestra To Play Viola

Mr. Frank J. Frost Will Participate Actively in Premiere.

By JEAN ELIOT.

THE formation of the new National Symphony Orchestra, which is to give its first concert in Constitution Hall tomorrow afternoon at 4:45 o'clock, has brought into the limelight—rather against his will apparently—an odd and interesting personality in Mr. Frank J. Frost, president of the group. A millionnaire, who lives in a great mansion on Normanstone Drive, Mr. Frost has joined the local musicians union in order that he may play the viola with the orchestra—at the regular union wage scale.

A member of the Friends of Music in the Library of Congress, of which Speaker Nicholas Longworth is president, with Mr. Leopold Stokowski, Mr. Harold Bauer and Mrs. Walter Bruce Howe as vice presidents, Mr. Frost was associated with Mrs. Elizabeth Sprague Coolidge—donor of the chamber music auditorium at the library—in presenting a great music festival in California. And it was through his pleasant association with Washington musicians at the Library of Congress music festivals that he first became interested in the project to build up a national symphony orchestra in the Capital.

He showed his interest in a concrete form, offering to guarantee the first concert against loss. And when the orchestra group, wishing to make him president, pointed out that all the officers and men of the organization must be union members, he promptly joined the union and signed to play the viola.

Mr. and Mrs. Frost will entertain this afternoon at a reception at their residence, 2935 Normanstone drive, in compliment to Mr. Rudolph Schueller, conductor of the new orchestra, who is visiting them. They have invited about 500 guests, prominent members of Washington's sundry civic and social groups who are music lovers to meet Mr. Schueller.

With music as the love of his life, Mr. Frost has built a music room at his house here, which is said to be as perfect acoustically as a room can be made. Large enough to accommodate easily 100 guests or more, it is lined throughout with redwood, brought from California, to supply the qualities of resonance found in a fine violin.

Several times abortive attempts have been made to build up a symphony orchestra in Washington, but heretofore they have failed for lack of sufficient funds. This time it looks as though the effort might be successful, for the organization is supported by many music groups and is understood to have sound financial backing.

At the concert tomorrow Dr. Edgar Stillman Kelley's "New England Symphony" will be featured on the program. Dr. and Mrs. Kelley are the guests in whose honor an informal reception will be given tomorrow evening from 8:30 until 10 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Edward H. Watson. Mrs. Kelley was formerly national president of the Federation of Music Clubs.

The board of directors of the District Federation of Music Clubs has been invited to meet Dr. and Mrs. Kelley, as have the members of the Washington Composers' Club. Mrs. Joseph M. Stoddard, Mrs. Gertrude Lyons and Miss Esther Linkins, of the Federation board, will assist Mrs. Watson.

Mrs. David Kirk has come from her home in Findley, Ohio, and is passing a few days at the Wardman Park Hotel on her way to New York to meet her daughter, Miss Annette Kirk, a student at Smith College, who will pass a week with her mother there. Mrs. Kirk and her daughter made their home at the hotel last winter and plan to return in the spring.

Name of Iowa Circle To Become Logan Circle

Iowa circle will be changed to Logan circle under the provisions of a bill on which the District Commissioners made a favorable report yesterday to Senator Capper, chairman of the Senate District committee.

"It is usual," the Commissioners said, "to name circles in the city of Washington after the statues in the circle so that the change of the name of this circle from Iowa to Logan is in line with precedent. The names of States are applied to the avenues and there is already an avenue designated Iowa avenue."

"THE U. S. ARMY BUILDS MEN"
. . . and Sugar helps

The American soldier thrives on plenty of good food and consumes 50% more sugar daily than the average civilian

Seventeen million, six hundred and forty-five thousand pounds of sugar.

That's what the U. S. Standing Army consumed last year. The individual consumption, estimated at about six ounces per man per day, is based on the 134,505 officers and men in regular service in 1926. This individual figure does not include the sugar content of candy, jams and scores of other items in the regular peace-time ration.

This high average consumption of sugar by the United States Army, whose diet and health are safeguarded by a carefully selected staff of trained medical officers, is more evidence that our adult population is not taking too much sugar in its diet. As a matter of fact, the average man and woman in civilian life consumes a little over four ounces daily.

When food theorists "sound off" about sugar in any form, consider the army—its physical condition—its consumption of good wholesome food and sugar. Then you will realize that a sensible sugar ration belongs in a properly balanced diet. Good food promotes health, and sugar makes eating more pleasant. The Sugar Institute.

Senator's Kin To Make Bow As Concertist

Miss Vandenberg Will Play Piano Solos at Event Here.

While Senator and Mrs. Arthur H. Vandenberg's elder daughter, Miss Barbara Vandenberg, has been enjoying a gay debutante season in Washington, her sister, Miss Elizabeth Vandenberg, has been in a convent at Grand Rapids, devoting herself to her studies and specializing in music. But now, if you please, Miss Elizabeth Vandenberg is to make her debut in Washington—on the concert stage.

A pianist of very marked ability, Miss Vandenberg, who is but 17, will appear as soloist at a concert by the National High School Orchestra to be held in Constitution Hall on Saturday evening, March 1. The orchestra is composed of 200 young players recruited by competition from the high schools of 48 States. Mr. Joseph E. Maddy is the conductor. The group will play in Atlantic City and other cities before coming to Washington and all along its route there is great interest in a thrilling experiment in group music education.

Miss Donahoe Is Wed To Mr. J. J. Carmody.

In St. Martin's Church on Tuesday Miss Helen Margaret Donahoe, daughter of Mrs. Margaret Donahoe, of 1808 First street, was married to Mr. John J. Carmody, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius J. Carmody. Miss Donahoe was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. William Donahoe. Miss Emily LaMarr Jones was maid of honor and Mr. Neil Carmody, brother of the bridegroom, was best man.

The bride wore a beige lace dress with hat and slippers to match, and carried a bouquet of talisman roses and lilies of the valley. The maid of honor wore a periwinkle lace dress with hat and slippers to match. Mrs. Estelle Hunt Dean and Miss Margaret Gauges sang during the nuptial mass. The Rev. Francis X. Cavanaugh performed the ceremony.

Immediately after the wedding a reception and breakfast was held at the home of the bride's family.

PRETTY smocked dimity, as dainty and fair as the weather, emphasizes demure air of childhood.

It's picturesque and practical too for little girls of 2, 4, 6 and 8 years.

It has raglend sleeves, which gives the smocking an unbroken line around the cute yoke of organdie which also is used for piested frill.

It's such fun to make daughter's frocks when they are as dainty as this one and so easily put together.

The raglan sleeves are joined to the front and back of the dress after they have been seamed at sides. With this accomplished, the upper edge of front, back and sleeves are smocked. The dress is then joined to the yoke to which has been sewed a narrow ruffle. The round neck is also finished with narrow ruffle, which may be simply gathered or professionally pleated. Edge of pocket and lower and upper edge of sleeve cuffs repeat the ruffle trim.

Keep Free from FAT in excess; it's easy now

Modern science has found that excess fat is largely due to an under-active gland. Starve as you will, exercise as you will, you are bound to fail unless you correct the cause.

That gland largely controls nutrition. When it is weak, too much food goes to fat, too little to fuel and energy. So modern physicians, in treating obesity, supply the gland substance which is scant.

That is the method employed in Marmola prescription tablets, prepared by a famous medical laboratory. People have used them for 22 years—millions of boxes of them. Anybody, in any circle, can see what a change has come. Excess fat is disappearing fast. New youth and beauty, new health and vitality, are conspicuous everywhere.

If you are abnormal in your weight, a certain gland is abnormal. Try Marmola. Feed the factor lacking. Watch the pounds go, the new vitality return. You will be amazed and delighted. But the formula in each box of Marmola will tell you the reason. To people who know, there is no excuse today for obesity. Start to remedy that ill condition now.

Marmola prescription tablets are sold by all druggists at $1 a box. Any druggist who is out will gladly order for you.

Old Man Opportunity Gives Father Try at Babby Buggy

Proud Parent Believes Cadillac Will Make Infant Son Excellent Cradle for Tender Years; Married Men Join Campaign.

"Where'd you get the cigar?" asked an inquisitive reporter as Old Man Opportunity strolled into the city room puffing on a magnificent El Ropa.

"Why," answered the old man, "I called upon a man today whose wife had just presented him with a son. He told me that it looked just like him but when I explained that it was all right as long as the child was healthy, he thanked me and presented me with this cigar."

"I returned the favor, too, by bringing in his nomination for The Post $20,000 Opportunity Campaign. He thinks that Cadillac Sedan will make an excellent baby-carriage—or any of the other eleven big automobile prizes. If he shouldn't succeed in winning an automobile he figures that an Atwater-Kent or Majestic radio will furnish better lullabies than he could."

"He revealed that one of the greatest sorrows of his life was that his wife couldn't sing.

"That should make you happy, I replied."

"I know," he answered. "The trouble is, she thinks she can."

"Well, anyway, he is in the race and will be well paid with cash commissions for new subscriptions if he does not win an automobile or radio."

"Those are certainly fine radios," remarked C. D. Chance as he eased into the picture through an open window. "I was just listening to one at a dealer's store. A quartet was singing and we didn't like the tenor so we just tuned him out and listened to the other three."

"What have you been doing today, Rosa?" he asked as he turned toward Old Joe.

"I've been concentrating on married men. You know before marriage a man yearns for a woman. After marriage the 'y' is silent. And believe me," continued Opportunity, "they welcome this offer which permits them to increase their income by a little effort in their spare time."

"Our latest offer of 100,000 extra votes for each $20 worth of new subscriptions turned in before 9 p. m. on February 10, is certainly waking things up. Isn't it?" remarked C. D. Chance.

"Yes," responded Opportunity, "but there is still plenty of work for you and me to do. We should have hundreds more candidates by this time, especially during this entry week, now nearly over."

"Well, we'll go out with the first edition of today's Post and remind people that our present offer represents the greatest short-cut to big prizes that will be made during the entire campaign. Call us when the presses start to roll."

Any COLD

That cold may lead to something serious, if neglected. The time to do something for it is now. Don't wait until it develops into bronchitis. Take two or three tablets of Bayer Aspirin as soon as you feel a cold coming on. Or as soon as possible after it starts. Bayer Aspirin will head off or relieve the aching and feverish feeling—will stop the headache. And if your throat is affected, dissolve two or three tablets in a quarter-glassful of warm water, and gargle. This quickly soothes a sore throat and reduces inflammation and infection. Read proven directions for neuralgia, for rheumatism and other aches and pains. Genuine Bayer Aspirin is harmless to the heart.

Reduce the Acid

In sick stomachs—instantly

Sick stomachs, sour stomachs and indigestion usually mean excess acid. The stomach nerves are over-stimulated. Too much acid makes the stomach and intestines sour.

Alkali kills acid instantly. The best form is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia, because one harmless, tasteless dose neutralizes many times its volume in acid. Since its invention, 50 years ago, it has remained the standard with physicians everywhere.

Take a spoonful in water and your unhappy condition will probably end in five minutes. Then you will always know what to do. Crude and harmful methods will never appeal to you. Go prove this for your own sake. It may save a great many disagreeable hours.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia, prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. 25c and 50c a bottle—any drug store.

"Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Company and its predecessor, Charles H. Phillips, since 1875.

CHASE IS FOLLOWED BY LIQUOR CHARGE

The story of a wild ride from Contee to Bladensburg, punctuated by pistol fire, was told yesterday in Hyattsville branch of Prince Georges County Police Court by County Policeman Claude Reese and Deputy Sheriff Ralph Brown. Herbert Lynn, Massachusetts avenue, near Fourth street northwest, was the defendant.

The policemen told the judge that they followed the automobile from Contee to Branchville and there shot off the rear tires of the car when the driver refused to stop. The car kept up a speed of about 50 miles an hour to Bladensburg, where the policemen tried to stop it by drawing alongside. Reese waved his pistol, empty by that time, in the face of the driver, but he refused to stop even then. He was finally stopped at the Peace Cross when the policemen forced the car to the side of the road.

Sixty gallons of alleged liquor were found in the car, the policemen said. Lynn was charged with transportation and illegal possession of intoxicating liquor. The case was not completed yesterday, but was continued until next week.

A second chase, in which the pursued driver claimed that he believed the policeman a hold-up man, was revealed when Eugene S. Culver, of Bethesda, Md., appeared to answer charges of reckless driving, exceeding a speed of 40 miles an hour, and driving with obscured markers. Deputy Sheriff Brown told Judge J. Chew Sheriff that he followed the man from Hyattsville to Riggs road and that he was driving in a reckless manner.

Culver refused to stop although Brown blew his police siren, he said. He followed him into Washington where he arrested him when the water in the car's radiator gave out and the motor became too hot to function, the policeman said. Culver drove at a speed closely approaching 60 miles an hour, Brown told the judge.

Culver said that he had noticed the car following him and feared that it was a highwayman. When the car drew up beside him on a lonely stretch of Riggs road, he stepped on the gas, he said, although he heard the siren. He had worked in a garage where bootleggers had their cars repaired, he said, and most of them had sirens. He drove to a place near Takoma Park usually frequented by Washington policemen, Culver said, but halted at a private car instead of the police car he thought it was. This was when Brown arrested him, Culver said. He came to court without having posted bond when called.

Judge Sheriff said that he was giving him the benefit of the doubt when he imposed fines of $10 on the reckless driving charge and $10 on the obscured markers charge. The judge fined Culver $25 on the speeding charge. Charles Marbury, attorney for Culver, objected to the fines on the ground that his client had been acting through the impulse of fright. He withdrew his appeal to the circuit court when the judge fixed a bond of $1,000.

Four other cases involving violations of the liquor laws were tried by Judge Sheriff yesterday. Lawrence Sharpe, colored, whose home at Bladensburg had been raided by Reese and Brown, pleaded guilty to possession of 6 gallons of alleged liquor and was fined $50. George Morris, colored, N street near Ninth street northwest, was fined $200 for transportation of 60 gallons of alleged liquor; Clarence Johnson of Washington, was fined $200 for transportation of 42 gallons of alleged liquor and Julian N. Deck, L street near Thirteenth street northwest, was fined $200 for transportation of 60 gallons of alleged liquor. The latter three were arrested on the Baltimore pike by Reese and Brown.

Judge Sheriff sentenced George Chalk, 76 years old, of Laurel, to serve three months in the Maryland House of Correction on a charge of vagrancy when it was shown to him that the elderly man had no shelter or food.

Light Firm Loses Tilt Over Current

No Legal Ground to Refuse Electricity Because of Submetering, Ruling.

Justice Wendell P. Stafford in District Supreme Court has handed down an opinion holding that the Potomac Electric Power Co. has no legal ground for refusing current to owners of buildings who sub-meter electricity to tenants.

The opinion was made on a motion to dismiss, and does not effect the merits of the suits. Four suits were recently filed in the court, and in each of them an injunction to restrain the company from enforcing provisions of its new contract, which has the approval of the Public Utilities Commission and which forbids the resale of current, was asked.

Justice Stafford held that he saw no difference in the sub-metering of current and the distribution of current with a subsequent increased rental.

Mr. Lammert alleges that while driving on the right side of the road near Clarysville, a bus of the transit company crossed to the left side of the highway and struck his machine, forcing it back against a telegraph pole and throwing him out. He alleges he suffered a fractured skull, a broken collarbone and other injuries. Edward J. Ryan is attorney for Mr. Lammert.

Six Oxygen Tanks Fail to Save Girl

Lilian Birch, 6, Succumbs to Diphtheria, Despite Rescue Efforts.

Administration of six tankfuls of oxygen to 6-year-old Lillian Birch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton D. Birch, of 3724 Thirty-second street, Takoma Park, Md., failed to save her life from diphtheria last night after almost superhuman efforts had been made by the Prince Georges County Rescue Squad.

Responding to a call from the home late in the afternoon, Rescue Squad, No. 1, under direction of Capt. Andrew Gasch, and the Mount Rainier unit in charge of Capt. Bernard Beale, exhausted the contents of the six tanks and succeeded in prolonging her life until 10:45 o'clock last night, when she died at Providence Hospital, where she had been removed four hours earlier.

The child had been under a doctor's care and her collapse was unusually sudden. Her father formerly was a member of the District Fire Department.

JURY IS COMPLETED FOR CRABTREE TRIAL

150 VENIREMEN CALLED

Romney, W. Va., Jan. 29.—A jury to try Walter Crabtree, charged with the slaying of three men here December 18, was finally selected this afternoon after 150 veniremen had been examined. Opening of testimony will start tomorrow morning.

Roy C. Eaton, M. Bruce Orndorff, A. B. Lovett, Dan Goldsborough, Charles E. Frye, E. E. Swisher, jr., W. C. Hutchinson, Gorda Fultz, W. H. Linthicum, Alex Lee, Asa Combs, and Joseph E. Everett compose the jury.

An extra panel had to be talled before the jury cou d be found.

The defense made another unsuccessful effort this afternon to get a continuance until March, Judge Hughes declining to grant the motion.

Crabtree entered a plea of "not guilty" again this morning, the same that he entered when originally arraigned January 9, but which he was permitted to withdraw Monday by consent of court. He answered the judge's question as to his plea clearly.

It is expected that this defense will be temporary insanity in view of the known summoning of several alienists.

Crabtree will be tried for the slaying of Justice of Peace H. Carter Inskeep, one of his three victims.

Incompetent Veterans Law Change Requested

Amendment of the existing District law governing the appointment of guardians for incompetent persons so as to permit the United States Veterans' Bureau to ask the court to commit incompetent veterans to hospitals where a committee is necessary for their proper care and treatment was urged on Congress by the District Commissioners yesterday.

The amendment was suggested in a letter to Senator Capper, chairman of the Senate District committee, in which the Commissioners said that most of the provisions of the pending measure dealing with appointment of guardians and other matters affecting incompetents already are in the law of the District. Enactment of the measure is not necessary, the Commissioners said, except for that section dealing with the Veterans' Bureau.

Four to Blaze Auto Trail From U. S. to Buenos Aires

Professor and Student Trio From William and Mary College Leave Capital Today on Epochal Trip to Argentina.

A professor of romance languages and three students of William and Mary College are leaving the National Capital this morning on what promises to be an epochal journey by auto to South America, the primary object of which will be to blaze a 12,000-mile international motor trail to Buenos Aires.

Comprising the party will be Dr. E. C. Branchi, a member of the faculty; Julian Chandler, son of Dr. J. A. C. Chandler, president of the college; Francis Herbert Hoyos, of New York City, and Neil Arnette, of Seattle, Wash. It is anticipated that the trip will require at least four months.

Leaving Williamsburg, Va., early yesterday, the party journeyed to Washington in the expectation of meeting President Hoover. They were disappointed, however, as a result of a misunderstanding as to the hour of their appointment.

Before leaving the Capital, this morning, Dr. Branchi and the three students are to visit the U. S. Hygienic Laboratory where they will be vaccinated as a preventive measure against tropical and other fevers.

Their itinerary will carry them south through Roanoke, Knoxville, New Orleans, Houston, San Antonio, Mexico City, Guatemala, San Salvador, Managua, San Jose, Panama, Cali, Quito, Lima, Valparaiso, Santiago de Chile, Mendoza and thence to Buenos Aires. The trip is being sponsored by William and Mary College, the first American college to teach Spanish.

Dr. Branchi explained, last night, that while the venture is one of good will, it will also be scientific, commercial and educational, in that they will endeavor to select the best highway, and at the same time be the first American autoists to attempt to connect Buenos Aires and other South American cities with the United States.

Passing through Williamsburg, today, the party will add two more autos to their caravan, making four in all. Each will be equipped with pontoons, pedal and railroad wheels, and other appurtenances necessary to meet any emergency.

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

ILLICIT RUM BLAMED FOR TEXAS SLAYING

Defense Declares Bootleg Liquor Made Jurist Stab Woman.

MIND UNSEATED, CLAIM

Austin, Tex., Jan. 29 (A.P.).—Two physicians sat here late today while John W. Brady's own counsel read a long indictment against him as a man who killed a woman because his finer instincts had been destroyed by bootleg liquor. When it was finished they testified in effect:

"Such a man is insane."

Brady, on trial for the murder of Miss Lehlia Highsmith, 28-year-old stenographer, with whom the defense said he had had a long "affair," heard from E. A. Berry, chief of his lawyers, the whole story of the defense case as Berry described it to Drs. Goodall and Joe Wooten, elderly brothers.

Expression Is Unchanged.

The 59-year-old defendant, a former civil appeals court judge, did not alter his expression perceptibly as Berry said in substance to the Wootens, one after another:

"Doctor, it is in evidence here that John Brady until a few years ago had an exceptionally bright mind and held a high place in the public service and the public trust.

"It is in evidence here that a few years ago he started overindulging in bootleg liquor. That he early became surly, lost his interest in his practice, abused his wife and treated her with the utmost unkindness.

"It is in evidence here that he became enfeebled, that he suffered pains in his legs and arms, that he suffered dizzy spells and at times was unable to carry on a coherent conversation.

Had Affair With Young Woman.

"It is in evidence here that three or four years ago he entered into an affair with a young single woman here in the same town where his wife lives.

"It is in evidence here that he killed this girl on the night of November 9, 1929, after drinking heavily."

Dr. Goodall Wooten, first of the two on the stand, glanced occasionally at Brady, his patient for 35 years, as Berry's voice went on.

Then when it had finished he said his own observations had convinced him that Brady was a "chronic alcoholic" and that he would say now that Brady was clinically insane, and insane on the night he stabbed Lehlia Highsmith to death.

ARTISTS APPLAUDED AT TOWNSEND FETE

NOVEL NUMBER FEATURE

String instruments featured Mrs. Lawrence Townsend's forty-third musical morning at the Mayflower yesterday when Nathan Milstein, violinist, and Gregor Piatigorsky, violoncellist, costarred.

In Handel's "Passacaglia" for violin and cello only, the artists produced an ensemble tone of golden quality and delicacy.

In "La Folia," Mr. Milstein's skill with harmonics and trills had special play, while in a Paganini's "Caprice" and Wieniawski's "Polonaise in D Major," he rose to a distinction of style which is a happy augury of his musical future.

The two movements of the "Sonata in A Major," by Boccherini, with which Gregor Piatigorsky, also a Russian musician, opened his part of the program soon demonstrated his ability with that instrument.

The Russian cellist was much applauded for his playing of Mainardi's "Rhapsodia Italiana," which was heard for the first time in America.

At Mrs. Lawrence Townsend's final musical morning next Wednesday the soloist will be Mrs. Grace Moore, Metropolitan Opera soprano, and Robert Goldsand, pianist.

DEADLY GAS POISON IS AIR CRASH THEORY

Carbon Monoxide May Have Overcome Pilot Before Fatal Accident.

OFFICIALS PUSH INQUIRY

Kansas City, Kans., Jan. 29 (A.P.).—Deadly carbon monoxide gas was advanced today as a possible cause of the crash here Monday of a Central Air Lines passenger plane and the death of all five persons aboard, as Federal, State and company officials continued investigation of the tragedy.

The carbon monoxide gas theory was announced by E. L. Sloninger, field manager here for Universal Aviation Corporation, with which Central Air Lines is affiliated. Mr. Sloninger directed workmen who took apart the heating equipment of the wrecked plane and discovered carbon under an unwelded collar around pipes supplying heat to the cabin.

Air was heated by passing the pipes through the exhaust pipe. Mr. Sloninger, although denying actual support of the gas theory, said it was possible that gas from the exhaust might have become mixed with the air carried inside the body of the ship. Presence of carbon on the collar indicated such a possibility. Carbon monoxide gas easily could have numbed Dyke Landeman, pilot of the plane, and caused him to lose control. He previously had complained of feeling ill after making long trips in the plane which was his particular pet.

R. G. Lockwood, general operations manager of the Aviation Corporation of New York, owner of the Central Air Lines, arrived this afternoon by air to make a study of the disaster. After a preliminary investigation he was inclined to discredit theories that the pilot was to blame or that poisonous gas was responsible.

Mr. Lockwood said he would inspect the wreckage thoroughly tomorrow and then go to Wichita, Kans., where the ship was manufactured, in attempt to find structural failures.

ATTEMPTS TO FREE DIVER IN RIVER FAIL

Deep-Sea Worker Has Been Trapped in Stream Since Monday.

AIRSHIPS FLY TO RESCUE

Quebec, Quebec, Jan. 29 (A.P.).—The elements appeared to have triumphed today in a desperate battle for the life of a deep sea diver who was trapped at the bottom of the Outarde River, in an isolated section 175 miles north of here.

Peter Trans was caught in the cribbing at the bottom of a falls where the Ontario Paper Co. is constructing a power plant, at a point near where the Outarde empties into the St. Lawrence. That was Monday.

Two airplanes bearing two rescue divers set out yesterday to go to Trans' aid, but they were forced down by a snowstorm at Rimouski. A volunteer diver went down twice yesterday and reported Trans could be freed only by sawing away the crib, but he was afraid to try it himself lest he accidentally sever the air lines.

Today a laborer, Arvo Silyala, put on a diving suit and went down into the icy waters, he worked close enough to Trans to grip his hand. There was no response. Trans was either unconscious from the long exposure or dead.

Meanwhile the two rescue divers, Quesnel Moreney and Lewis Begin, resumed their flight today and arrived at Riviere Aux Outardes. But when they got there the current had become too swift for them to go below.

A dispatch from Toronto, Ontario, said a third diver, W. T. Dudley, who never had flown before, started from there this afternoon by plane. His party expected to reach Quebec tonight, and if weather conditions are favorable, to continue at once to another point, across the St. Lawrence from Riviere Aux Outardes. They will complete the trip tomorrow as soon as daylight and weather permit.

Veterans' Head Assures Hoover Search in Russia Can Be Made.

(Associated Press.)

Hezekiah N. Duff, of Lansing, Mich., commander in chief of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, advised President Hoover yesterday that his organization is ready to make further search for the bodies of American soldiers remaining in Russia.

Prior to Luncheing at the White House, Mr. Duff said he submitted to the President the official report of the Veterans of Foreign Wars' recent mission into Russia, which obtained a majority of the soldiers who died during the 1918-19 Russian expedition.

Mr. Duff said he also indorsed Mr. Hoover's view that all veterans' agencies should be consolidated and offered the cooperation of his organization in the coming pilgrimage to Europe of gold star mothers and war widows.

Boy Dies of Gun Wound Inflicted December 31

Henry Vermillion, 14 years old, of Mount Calvert, Md., who was shot in the leg December 31 near his home, died yesterday in Providence Hospital. The cause of death was given as blood poisoning, in a report received by Prince Georges County police.

The youth inflicted the wound upon himself accidentally while unloading a gun, police say. Sheriff Charles S. Early said last night that he did not believe that an inquest will be necessary.

SUBMARINE DEVICE "SAVES" PAIR ON S-4

would permit them to work at greater depths.

In today's experiments, the diving bell was lowered from the Falcon, in calm seas, and was seated over the motor hatch of the submerged S-4 by divers who went down with it. Men from the bell entered the submarine through the hatch, demonstrating also the feasibility of sending down workmen from the outside to repair damage which might leave a submarine unable to rise.

Lieut. Charles H. Momsen and chief Torpedoman Edward A. Kalinoski, who were first to try the "mechanical lung" in last year's tests, were the first to go down today in the diving bell and enter the submarine.

Two other bells, similar in design, will be tested this year. The O'Rourke bell, tried successfully today, is the product of a Brooklyn subway engineer.

The safety tests were authorized by the Navy Department after the sinking of the S-4, which is being used in the experiments, in the North Atlantic two years ago with heavy loss of life.

Pay Day in Chicago Is Only Wednesday

Officials Decide Not to Issue Anticipation Tax Warrants.

Chicago, Jan. 29 (A.P.).—What was to have been pay day for several thousand county employes turned out to be just another Wednesday. County officials, after planning to meet two postponed pay rolls by issuing tax anticipation warrants in small amounts, decided they should wait until the civic rescue committee determined definitely what, if anything, it could do toward pulling the city and county governments back from the brink of bankruptcy.

Silas Strawn, chairman of the rescue group, returned from Washington, but spent most of the day finding out what had happened during his absence.

It developed today that funds for completing the reassessment of 1927 were running low, and delay in completing the reassessment created the financial famine in Chicago and Cook County, both of which have been unable to collect taxes pending the new assessment.

Bishop Anderson Asks For Coadjutor Election

Chicago, Jan. 29 (A.P.).—The Most Rev. Bishop Charles P. Anderson, primate of the Episcopal Church, who has been critically ill for eight days, today dictated a communication to the annual diocesan convention formally requesting the election of a coadjutor bishop.

The convention will assemble here next Tuesday and it was expected the election would take place the next day. The new coadjutor bishop would succeed the primate as Bishop of the Chicago diocese. The condition of Bishop Anderson's heart was unchanged tonight. Visitors have been barred, however, to allow the patient uninterrupted rest.

U. S. Sugar Suit Dismissed.

Omaha, Nebr., Jan. 29 (A.P.).—Federal Judge J. W. Woodrough today sustained a demurrer of the Great Western Sugar Co., dismissing the Government's suit charging the company with an attempt to restrain interstate commerce through a "price war" begun in 1925.

Smith Co. Facing Receivership Move

Four Washingtonians Begin Action in Delaware Court.

The F. H. Smith Co., investment firm which recently moved its headquarters from Washington to New York City, in a petition filed yesterday in the State Court of Chancery at Wilmington, Del., was called upon to show cause why a temporary receiver should not be appointed for its properties.

The petition was filed by Senator Daniel O. Hastings, with his associate, Ayres J. Stockley, on behalf of Andrew B. Caldwell, Grace Caldwell, Mary H. Farmer and Morris A. Stewart, all of Washington. These petitioners, with the exception of Mr. Stewart, also sought an application for a temporary receiver, in the District when the company's main offices were located here. That application, however, was denied by Supreme Court Justice Alfred Wheat.

February 5 was set by Chancellor Wolcott, in the State Court of Chancery at Wilmington, as the final date on which the petitioners may file affidavits in support of their application, with February 26 as the last date on which the Smith Co. may answer. The reply of the petitioners must have been received by the court by March 5, with the hearing on the motion scheduled by Chancellor Wolcott for March 7.

New Beauty for the New Ford

THE NEW FORD TOWN SEDAN

In the Town Sedan you see a distinguished example of the unbroken sweep of line which adds so much charm and grace to all the new, roomy Ford bodies. Radiator, hood, cowl, lower roof line, fenders, wheels — every point of design reflects the new style and beauty that have been placed within the means of every one. All of the new Ford cars are finished in a variety of colors.

ANOTHER STEP FORWARD

THE introduction of the new Ford bodies has set a new high standard of motor car value. From the new deep radiator to the tip of the curving rear fender, there is an unbroken sweep of line—a flowing grace of contour gaining added charm from the rich and attractive colors. « « « « « «

You will take a real pride in the smart style and fresh new beauty of the Ford just as you will find an ever-growing satisfaction in its safety, comfort, speed, acceleration, ease of control, reliability and economy. In appearance, as in mechanical construction, craftsmanship has been put into mass production. New beauty has been added to outstanding performance.

A feature of unusual interest is the use of Rustless Steel for the radiator shell, head lamps, cowl finish strip, hub caps, tail lamp and other exposed metal parts. This steel will not rust, corrode or tarnish and will retain its bright brilliance for the life of the car. Here, as in so many other important details, you see evidence of the enduring quality that has been built into the new Ford.

How to Keep Well

By DR. W. A. EVANS

HABITS OF YOUNG CHILDREN.

THE Massachusetts Mental Hygiene Society gives the following advice as to certain habits of young children:

Good eating habits are necessary for health and happiness. Eating habits are formed at home and in early childhood. The person who fusses about food is apt to fuss about other things, and one who fusses all the time is not liked.

THINGS TO DO.—Let the child see that you eat what is put before you. Have meals at regular times. Make them pleasant parts of the daily program and nothing more. Make food attractive and serve only a little at a time. Expect the child to eat it. Give him 30 minutes for his meal. If it is not eaten, take it away. Have him understand that eating is his business. Try new foods, a little at a time, and try them more than once.

THINGS TO AVOID.—Don't give him anything between meals. Don't talk of his likes and dislikes before him. Don't allow others to talk of their likes and dislikes. Don't talk about the child's poor appetite. Don't compare his appetite with other children's. Don't let him see that you worry about his eating. Don't feed the child when he is old enough to feed himself. Don't coax or threaten or force him to eat.

REMEMBER.—It does not hurt a well child to miss a meal. Food fondness is never inherited, but it is often imitated. The child's likes and dislikes depend on you. Teach him to like the foods that are good for him.

On the subject of jealousy they advise—jealousy is serious even in a child. It makes him unhappy, disagreeable and unable to get on with those about him. When he grows up it will interfere with his success as well as his happiness.

THINGS TO DO—Respect his property and his rights. Teach him to share with others and respect their rights. Let him know of plans for the new baby. Let him help in the care of the baby. Divide your attention fairly among all the children.

THINGS TO AVOID—Don't make favorites of any of the children. Don't compare children with each other. Don't tease a child by petting another and leaving him out.

REMEMBER—A child is not born jealous. Jealousy can be prevented or corrected by proper training. A jealous person does not work or play well with others.

What Today Means to You

"AQUARIUS."

IF January 30 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from noon to 2 p. m. and from 8 p. m. to 9:30 p. m. The danger periods are from 8 a. m. to 9:30 a. m. and from 4 p. m. to 5:30 p. m.

Spiritual enlightenment and possible psychic experiences are augured for this date. Life will move in pleasant places, and advancement will come without effort. It is a good time to seek favors.

Children born on this January 30 will be imaginative to a remarkable degree, and will live in a dream world. They will have a strong emotional nature and will have excitable tempers. They will be very sensitive to slights, and they will feel things very keenly.

There is a great deal of reverence, benevolence and kindliness in your nature. You have a very able mind, but you are not cold intellectually; your heart throbs for humanity. You are never guilty of ingratitude, and you try to express your appreciation for things which have been done for you. People are your greatest interest in life, and you love to be battling with them and for them. You are fitted for some kind of social service work—you can handle "humans" better than figures." Others confide in you, and your sincerity is felt by all who come in contact with you.

You have a compelling personality, and its real fascination lies in your wit and playfulness. There is nothing cynical, nothing morbid, or nothing depressing about your nature—you always expect the best and not the worst to happen. You have considerable belief in the ultimate victory of right. You are able to take a sane, sensible and penetrating view of things, and you are quick to size up situations. No one ever questions your courage, for you are a brave and able fighter. Energy and common sense are two of your successful allies. You have the gift of infecting others with your own combativeness and confidence.

You do not seek either material wealth or fame, but you are destined to never want. Life will never down you or sadden you for long.

2. Frank Gelett Burgess, author.
3. George Herbert Fairclough, organist.
4. Oziel Wilkinson, manufacturer.

DIAL FLASHES

By ROBERT D. HEINL

IN appointing the five new Radio Commissioners which must be done within the next month, the question is raised as to whether President Hoover will name them for one year or for the longer terms the law originally stipulated.

It is the opinion of Judge Ira E. Robinson, chairman of the Radio Commission, that the people of the country would rather listen to a presentation of some historical incident, such as the celebrated oration of Patrick Henry, or Civil War recollections, over the radio than all the jazz that emanates nightly from New York and Chicago.

Phil Cook, heard over WRC at 8 o'clock each morning, is thought to be one of the most versatile comedians now on the air. He can do from eight to ten different characterizations in as many minutes, with ease.

HAVING faced the microphone only once before, Mme. Amelita Galli-Curci is scheduled for another recital next week.

Did you guess right? In addition to Cheerio, those heard in the American Home Banquets last week were Norma and Lester Vail, Lovina and Russell Gilbert, and Patrick Kelly and Kelvin Keech, staff announcers.

FOR a thriller tune in on "Chicagoland" tonight at 9 o'clock over Station WGN, Chicago. It is a history of the city in episodes.

Last Thursday night there was a reenactment of the "Haymarket riot" in 1886, when a bomb thrown killed seven policemen, for which seven anarchists were sentenced to be hanged. Quin Ryan staged this drama so realistically one could easily imagine he had actually seen it.

Speaking of Chicago, whenever "Amos 'n' Andy" leave that city, where their nightly stunt is broadcast, to go on a vaudeville tour, they exact telephone wire charges to Station WMAQ, Chicago, from whatever city they are playing on broadcast nights.

This amounts to as much as $1,500 a night additional to salary, but varies according to the distance from Chicago.

FROM Station WPG, Atlantic City: Doctor (who has answered an urgent call): "Well, sir, what's this awful singing noise in the ears that's troubling you?"

David INTERPRETS the MODE

The elegance of draped beige velvet and blue fox trimming. (Courtesy of Heim, Paris.)

Paris, Jan. 29.

IF you like 'em, you can have 'em! I don't, but then it's all a matter of taste, as La Chic Secretaire said when she ate her first escargot.

She says I'd better tell you what an escargot is, but I won't give her away like that—not today, at least. Because what I'm really talking about is flowers, not snails—flowers employed in various ways on many of the new evening dresses, not being merely placed in front.

Roses, nasturtiums, clusters of passion flowers, tufts of corn flowers, geraniums or double daisies. Large black lilies with golden centers, the large peonies made of chiffon and the velvet-like panales have all been seen once at least on spring frocks.

According to the style of the dress, the flowers nestle on the shoulders, at the bottom of the back decolletage, in the middle of the back decolletage, quite before it ends, on the train or near the ankle, at the end of a scarf, which falls from the shoulder and loses itself, in floating panels, and even on the armpit. But I must warn you that these flowers, if you do go in for them, are small and flat and modernistic and not at all like the gobs and gobs of corsage flowers of yesteryear.

The Couturier.

Irfe is pronounced "ear-fay," with no accent on either syllable. This is a Russian blouse—and I must ask the beautiful Russian artist tomorrow if Irfe is a Russian name!

In a smartly simple dress, which really is a suit because it has a circular skirt and jacket, your type of garment for afternoon and street wear? The dainty chiffon blouse, you know, makes it the suit version when the jacket is open, and gives the modish lingerie touch to what is a dress when the jacket is buttoned! If it is, hurry up and send your stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare department of The Washington Post for the illustrated leaflet of directions, and make yourself an Easter present.

We wonder just how much longer we can live without a Heim coat! Sadly suspecting that it may be long, we sketched them with our pen dipped in crocodile tears. 'N we wish M. Jacques weren't so fascinating, or maybe that Mme. Heim weren't such a darling doll-baby—and, all broken hearts aside, they make the most ravishing coats on earth!

The Heim coat I illustrated for you today speaks for itself—beige and blue fox and lines—well, and how!

Black velvet evening pumps with 6-inch high heels of solid rhinestone!

Just measure 6 inches on your barometer and see what you get. "Probably a pain in the neck," says La Chic Secretaire Francaise, having learned to speak English "collegiate," as it were. Nevertheless, those are Perugia's latest conceit—he sort of has them in the window, daring women to try and wear them—and I did and liked it.

No, I didn't have to walk far to a taxi!

Wives of Tomorrow

By FRANCES M'DONALD

"Home Management."

IS home management becoming a lost art? Despite the fact that every magazine and newspaper is rushing forward with exact advice, is the woman of today missing the thrill of making one dollar do the work of two?

Most of the young people who marry today on a small salary end up in debt, and disgusted with marriage. They write to us of their woes, and they lay the blame at the door of economic stringency. "How can we live when he can not seem to ever get more than $35 a week?" So they part. They part—thousands of these young mates every year because they can not live on what the husband earns—and because the wife can no longer continue her job and bear children, too. And then we receive letters like this:

Dear Miss McDonald:

For a long while I have been reading your wise column and have been tempted to write a letter inspired by actual knowledge and experience. My husband tells me I will never see my letter in print anyway, but I sort of doubt him. Miss McDonald, I am a high school graduate, have worked in offices and been "on my own" for several years before my marriage. I have come into close contact with all classes of people, and I am here to say that anyone having a small family and can not live on $35 a week, certainly lacks much of the art of home management. For a few months I worked in one of the largest local plants. Most of the men in the factory excepting the foreman, made less than $35 a week. They did not average, the year around, more than $25 a week. The majority of them had families of one, two and three children, and they and the wives certainly looked far from half-starved and ragged. I venture to say that, among the ordinary class of people, the greater majority of the men are makevery much less than $35 a week; and if they were to be promoted to that amount they would feel that life was indeed a very pleasant and rose-strewn path.

A very close relative of mine has been making that amount for the past four years. He is married, has two adorable, healthy children, a good car, modern furniture, and his own home. A serious and expensive operation performed on his wife this past year is all that kept the home from being clear. No one can deny that both he and his wife are supremely happy. Why shouldn't they be? The management there is not all one-sided. That would be a sad affair.

There is no doubt but that any of us could spend far more than $35 a week, and hardly know where it went to. It is all a matter of how we adapt ourselves. If I want everything like my neighbor has, or a little bit better, just for "appearances," difficulties are bound to arise. We all know that plenty of good food is highly essential; but the great variety of pastries and other health-destroying dainties such as some wives bring home every day are both harmful and expensive, although the wife who must pay someone to do every bit of sewing, washing, slight repairs to clothing, &c., is deliberately wasting a lot of money that could otherwise be spent for a few of the little "extras" we all desire and need.

Oh, I suspect that a lot of the poor managers are going to wax wroth at the audacity of my letter; but if so, they should be put down to a poor ordinary laboring man's wages of $18 and $20 a week, and I think that in a short time they would be able to see what $35 a week can do.

Listen, Mesdames! A $100 appearance on a $35 salary will not work. Neither will $35 a week keep up a dozen installments and a family too.

God didn't make any of us for ornaments, and none of us are too good to do our share. If we don't do that, we don't deserve to live well and be happy; and if we do perform our share of duties, we can very nicely keep a small family going on $35 a week, and in the city, too, and they needn't look like a remnant counter or a fire sale, either. Sincerely,

"LOUISIE."

Farmer Kills Golden Owl.

Newark, N. J., Jan. 2.—A golden owl measuring 4 feet 4 inches from tip to tip and standing 20 inches high, was shot by William Van Koveringen, a farmer living east of Newark. This is the second golden owl reported in this county. Mr. Van Koveringen reported he recently saw a Canadian white owl in the woods on his farm.

Lucien Lelong's Parodie
(Replica)

The name is misleading, because the word means "imitation," and this is one of the most brilliantly original frocks we have seen.

Delightfully simple, in a refreshing print, the higher waistline is indicated by the short bolero, and the line of the bolero is repeated in the hip yoke. The whole frock has that feeling of lilting motion typical of Lelong. Replica in size 16, $65.

Behind the Screens

With NELSON B. BELL

IT is beginning to look to a distant observer as if Mr. William Fox might be on the winning end of the controversy he has been waging with a large group of creditors whose claims aggregate many millions of dollars.

The latest development in the case is a two weeks' postponement of any final action. Even those creditors whose paper may mature prior to February 11 are bound to refrain from any action, beyond formal filing, until that date. This armistice, it would appear, could not have been negotiated had not Mr. Fox's proposals looking to final adjustment been more than ordinarily persuasive.

One of the provisos, however, is that a complete new Fox directorate be installed, with the exception of Mr. Fox, Jack Leo and Winfield R. Sheehan, vice presidents of long standing and proved worth.

It ought to be at least 11 to 10, I should say, on the man who created the company and built it up to its present huge proportions.

Although it has not, to the best of my knowledge, been designated a Big Something-or-Other, a Carnival or any other specific type of hyperbolic screen celebration, an imposing list of coming attractions, nevertheless, has just come to this desk from John J. Payette, general manager of the Warner Bros.' interests in Washington and vicinity. While it is not disclosed which of these productions will be shown at the Earle and which at the Metropolitan—the two downtown Warner houses in the Capital—what difference does it make, so long as they get here?

Beginning Friday midnight, and not Saturday, as I suggested in this spot on Tuesday, "Sally" will bring Marilyn Miller to the Earle in the most pretentious, all-color musical comedy production the Thirteenth street theater has ever housed. At the Metropolitan, the same week, "The Sacred Flame" will be given its local premiere with Pauline Frederick, Conrad Nagel, Lila Lee, Dale Fuller, William Courtenay and Alec Francis in the principal roles.

Now then, after that will come—in what order I do not know—"Son of the Gods," adapted from the Rex Beach story, with Richard Barthelmess starred, supported by Constance Bennett; "Song of the West," all-color talking, singing and dancing operetta of the gold rush days in California, with John Boles, Vivienne Segal and Joe E. Brown; "Song of the Flame," most popular of all, recent operettas, featuring Bernice Claire and Alexander Gray—also an all-Technicolor production; "Under a Texas Moon," an outdoor picture filmed entirely in Technicolor, with Frank Fay, Armida, Noah Beery, Myrna Loy and Raquel Torres; "No, No, Nanette," starring Bernice Claire, described as the year's singing find.

Oke, Johnny, let's have 'em!

While I think of it, and in the same connection, Little Jack Little, radio favorite who created the mythical theater of the air, and works in a manner suggestive of Jack Smith, "the whispering baritone," will appear in person as an extra added attraction at the Earle in the near future. The Amos 'n' Andy engagement, that hung fire so long, is definitely off, so I am told.

Next week's whole story is as follows: Earle, Marilyn Miller in "Sally;" Columbia, Bessie Love and Charles King in "Chasing Rainbows;" Fox, Robert Ames and Mae Clarke in "Nix on Dames;" Palace, Basil Rathbone in "The Bishop Murder Case;" Metropolitan, Pauline Frederick, Lila Lee and Conrad Nagel in "The Sacred Flame;" Rialto, Lon Chaney in "The Phantom of the Opera," second week; RKO-Keith's, Jack Oakie and Polly Walker in "Hit the Deck," third week.

It has been a neglected purpose all this week to remark upon the lamentable condition of the print of "A Romance of the Rio Grande" that is being projected at the Fox. If it were not a corking good picture, it never could have survived the scratches, spots, stains and impaired sound track that combine almost to ruin this particular strip of celluloid.

Such dilapidated prints are an injustice to the theater, to the public and to the picture.

And although "Happy Days" is to be shown at the Fox the week of February 8, it will not be the 70mm version introducing the new wide angle photography and projection. There is no information to hand as to how long the installation takes, but it takes too long to be ready by the 8th, prox., and that's that!

If you had shoveled it off, your sidewalk wouldn't be so slippery!

COOKING BEEF ACCORDING TO THE CUT.

(Bureau of Home Economics, Department of Agriculture.)

When the homemaker goes to market to buy a piece of beef, she has to think of two things: She wants a cut that will fill the desired place in the menu and at the same time be consistent with the contents of her pocketbook. With the knowledge of the different cuts and how to cook them in order to bring out their best qualities, she can select and serve appetizing meats to suit any family budget.

Different cuts of beef from the same animal vary greatly in tenderness. The following list shows in general the tender and less tender cuts:

TENDER CUTS.

Steaks—Sirloin, Porterhouse, tenderloin, club, rib (short cut).

Roasts—Rib, loin.

LESS TENDER CUTS.

Steaks—Chuck, shoulder, plank, round, rump.

Soviet Finds Soda Lakes.

Leningrad, Jan. 29 (A.P.).—A number of lakes containing precipitated natural soda have recently been discovered by an expedition of the Academy of Science in western Siberia, between the Altai Mountain range and the Irtish River. It is alleged there are only two other places on earth where such "soda lakes" are to be found—in Canada and California.

School Series Possibilities Are Many

Western-Tech Winner to Be a Game Away From Tie.

Eastern and Central Figure Largely in Title Scramble.

By WILLIAM F. DISMER.

THE winner of the Tech-Western interhigh court game on Friday can, by breaking even in its last two games, assure itself of no worse than a tie for the championship by the time the regular schedule is completed just one week from tomorrow.

That, in or out of a nutshell, is the crux of a complicated situation which at present exists in one of the most evenly-contested and open-race championships ever fought in the history of Washington high schools. It is possible, and by stretching the imagination, not at all improbable, that the series may yet end in a five-team deadlock. If future games of the second round continue to be won by teams which dropped the decision in the initial encounter with their foes, as has been the case with the first found of the final round's games, every team in the series will have a .500 percentage with a record of four games won and as many lost.

However, that si going just a little too far for your average statistician, especially in view of the fact that the winner of the initial game of Friday's double-header will be within one game of a portion of the title, at least.

Western Has Good Chance.

If Western can solve Tech's zone defense on Friday and come through with a win, it stands the best chance of any team of copping the title during the regular season of play. Indeed, as has been stated, it encounters the same difficulty in defeating two teams which it turned back in the initial round as it did when Eastern on Tuesday.

Business and Central will still be waiting to meet Western, but if Western can repeat its previous victory over even one of them, it can not escape tie for nine championship. In this event, Tech, Central or Eastern could tie Western by copping its remaining games.

However, by turning back Western again, Tech could put itself in a commanding position to grab off titular honors within the allotted time, although it will still have Eastern and Central to face.

Tech may Abandon Zone Defense.

The Maroon and Gray was literally stumped by the latter five in its meeting two weeks ago, when it failed to abandon its zone defense until too late, but it is a sure bet that the last-year champions will be more cautious when facing Bert Coggins' charges in their second game. If a man-to-man style is required in the next Central-Tech engagement, Tech players may be expected to break out of their zone formation in short order instead of waiting until the end of the game.

Of course, were either Western or Tech to sweep their remaining games, the series would be over, regardless of what the other three teams might do. However, that surging hope in the breasts of Eastern and Central players is none other than that Friday's winner may again fall before the series is officially ended, giving either ofk them anotehr chance at the crown. And even Business has its hopes that the second round may continue as it has started—with first-round victors being upset by first-round victims, all of which find Business tied for the leaders, four of them, at the end.

COMPANY C IN TWO GAMES.

Company C courtmen of the 121st Engineers will meet the Western Electric Five tonight at Central High School at 8 o'clock. All Guard players are asked to meet at the Army War College Wharf tomorrow night at 5 o'clock for the trip to Fort Washington.

ON THE SIDELINES

by BRIAN BELL

CLIFFORD B. CRAWFORD, who prefers to be known as Pat, is a baseball player who takes his profession seriously. The South Carolinian who filled a pinch hitting and utility role with the New York Giants with conspicuous success last season, has left his studies for the time being to prepare for the baseball campaign.

Pat is a student at the International Y. M. C. A. College at Springfield, Mass., between baseball seasons, but he has turned his back on his books for the moment, to get himself in perfect mental as well as physical condition for the 1930 season.

Crawford, who hit three home runs in the pinches last year and compiled an average just under .300 for 65 games, decided that he could not afford to report at San Antonio all fagged out from last minute studying. The program he has adopted will delay his degree, but he is convinced he will be a better ball player for the Giants in the meantime.

Crawford was a football and baseball star at Davidson College, North Carolina, and was a successful football coach after leaving college. He was so attracted by his football work he hesitated to answer the major league baseball call when it finally sounded for him from the Giants. He will later combine his baseball activities with instruction in physical education.

IF the fight for the second base position on the Giants narrows down to a battle between Eddie Marshall and Andy Reese, the camp will find itself in the throes of a baseball civil war, for both athletes call Mississippi home. Marshall at New Albany and Reese at Tupelo. They have never gone far from home, for they live in the towns where they were born. A third Mississippian in the Giants' galaxy of talent is Sam Leslie, who was born and lives at Moss Point. Leslie, however, will take no part in the second base fight. He was a first baseman but with Terry and Crawford amply protecting this position, John McGraw will give him an outfielder's glove and tell him to do the best he can in the field. His hitting, according to observers in the Southern Association and Southeastern League, will take care of itself.

AL SCHACHT, coach and comedian of the Washington Baseball Club, is nursing a sore jaw from a self-inflicted blow in which he practically knocked himself out. During the winter, Al puts on acts for banquets and a part of his routine is a boxing match with himself. After crowding an imaginary opponent against the ropes with a series of body blows, the former pitcher receives an upper cut on the "button." At Pittsburgh recently he put more steam then he intended into the blow and had to take a count of nine. "I will have to pull my punches a bit," said Al. "I am too good."

Elder Beaten In 50-Yard Sprint

Bows to Pappas, But Comes Back to Win 3-Race Series.

Conger Outraced by Phil Edwards in 1,000-Yd. Event.

NEWARK, N. J., Jan. 29 (A.P.).—Jack Elder, Notre Dame's speed ace, was defeated for the first time of the indoor season tonight when James Pappas, of the Newark Athletic Club, led him to the tape in the 50-yard dash at the St. Joseph's Catholic Club meet. Elder ran second, with Bob Weise, of the New York Athletic Club, third, and Sol Furth, of New York University, fourth. The former Princeton sprinter was timed at 5 4-5 seconds.

The Notre Dame star, whose sprint of 95 yards defeated the Army Football Team last fall, stepped the 70 yards in 7 2-5 seconds to clinch the Rupert F. Mills Memorial sprint series after dropping the 50-yard dash to Pappas and winning the 60-yard dash in 5 4-5 seconds. Elder's times for the 70 and 60 yard sprints were only two-fifths of a second off the world's record.

After bowing to Pappas at the shorter distance, Jack came back to demonstrate his superiority in the last two races. He breasted the tape 4 feet in front of Pappas in the 60 and led the Newark Athletic Club star 6 feet in the deciding race at 70 yards. William Bruder, of Newark Athletic Club, ran third and Sol Furth, of New York University, fourth in the latter.

Edwards Winner By 15 Yards.

Running his last race in the colors of New York University, Phil Edwards gave a great demonstration of speed to defeat Ray Conger, the Iowa Giant-Killer, 15 yards in the 1,000-yard event. Edwards sped around the boards in the good time of 2:14 4-5 after being clocked at 54 flat for the first quarter. Conger, lacking his usual finishing stamina, just managed to save second from D. G. Balke, of the Boston Athletic Association. Gene Venzke, of the Swedish-American Athletic Club of New York, trailed in fourth place.

Lone Alien Among Netmen Seeking U. S. Indoor Crown

Zuenglein, German Entrant, Not Among Seeded Stars, Who Are Headed by Hunter; Mitchell and Considine to Compete.

NEW YORK, Jan. 29 (A.P.).—Sixty-nine Americans and a solitary foreigner will compete for the national indoor tennis championship in the annual tournament, beginning Saturday at the Seventh Regiment Armory.

The lone invader came to light today when the official draw was made at the office of the United States Lawn Tennis Association. He turned out to be Udo Zaenglein, of Wurzburg, Germany, about whom little is known except that he is a member of the Wurzburg Hallentennisverein.

In the absence of a true line on Zaenglein's ability the committee did not include him among the eight players seeded in the draw.

With Jean Borotra, of Paris, the present champion unable to leave his business affairs in France to defend the title, Francis T. Hunter, of New Rochelle, N. Y., runner-up last year, was placed at the top of the chosen eight.

The others in order were: J. Gilbert Hall, of South Orange, N. J., former Canadian indoor champion; Julius Seligson, Lehigh's erstwhile intercollegiate titleholder; Herbert L. Bowman, New York veteran; Harris Coggeshall, Harvard student from Des Moines, Iowa; Eugene McCauliffe, New York, former Fordham player; Perrine Rockafellow, New York, once of Colgate, and Merritt Cutler, New York.

Among the 70 who will compete are: William Clines, Louisville, Ky.; Richard Murphy, of Harvard and Utica, N. Y., former national indoor junior champion; Dooley Mitchell, Washington; Robert Considine, Washington, National Public Parks, doubles champion and Kenneth Appel, South Orange, N. J. Coggeshall is the only Middle Western contestant.

Ken Williams Goes To Yanks on Waivers

New York, Jan. 29 (A.P.).—Ken Williams, veteran major league outfielder, was claimed today by the New York Yankees on waivers from the Boston Red Sox.

Williams spent nine years with the St. Louis Browns before being sold to the Red Sox after the 1927 season. The 37-year-old veteran can not be expected to make a place for himself in the Yankee outfield, but probably will be useful as a pinch hitter. He is a long-distance left-hand batsman, and the right field bleachers at the Yankee Stadium offer an inviting target.

Nick Cullop Is Named Pilot of Dayton Club

Louisville, Ky., Jan. 29 (A.P.).—Nick Cullop, of Chilhowie, Va., veteran pilot-pitcher, has been signed as manager of the Dayton, Ohio, club of the Central Leage. Cullop, who was released to Dayton by the Louisville American Association Club last summer, succeeds Merito Acosta, during whose illness last summer he aided. Announcement of Cullop's signing was made today by the Louisville Club, which owns the Dayton franchise.

Souder's 431 Pin Set Is A. S. & T. Co. Record

Alfred Souder, who last week rolled a 400 set in the Bankers League with the American Security & Trust Team, set a new league record for the American Security & Trust Co. Duckpin League at Convention Hall yesterday afternoon when he piled up a 431 set. This is one of the best three-game totals recorded in league competition here this year.

Souder's games were 129, 138 and 164. This string included 13 spares and 6 strikes. The big game was totaled with the aid of 3 strikes and 4 spares. His only double-header strike came in the big final game.

Football Defended By Nebraska Coach

Omaha, Nebr., Jan. 29 (A.P.).—Football may have its faults, but Dana X. Bible, head coach at the University of Nebraska, believes the game today is lily white as compared to what it used to be.

In a speech last night he set forth a general answer to the promulgators of the widely discused Bulletin 23 of the Carnegie Foundation and to other critics of college football.

"Faults probably still exist, but none can have any doubt about the active efforts to administer additional remedies. Perhaps Bulletin 23 and all this other criticism we hear are beneficial in calling attention to minor deficiencies."

Olympic Champion In Millrose Jump

New York, Jan. 29 (A.P.).—Bob King, Olympic high jumping champion, was announced today as an entrant in the Millrose A. A. games at Madison Square Garden February 8.

The former Stanford University athlete, who cleared 6 feet 6 5-8 inches at Amsterdam, will jump against a high-class field, including Leo Sexton, Georgetown, winner last year; Charley Major, runner-up; Bill Pump, Colgate, who tied for the indoor intercollegiate crown, and Bert Nelson, Butler University.

G. U. Ring Team Ready For W. Va. Saturday

Georgetown University's boxers today will conclude hard training for their initial 1930 match scheduled with West Virginia University Saturday at Morgantown. The Blue and Gray mitt wielders will depart for Morgantown tomorrow night.

The followin will compose the Georgetown team: Davis, bantamweight; Tardugno, featherweight; Madden, lightweight; Fish, welterweight; Tierney, middleweight; Bordeau, light-heavyweight, and Cordovano, heavyweight. Fish holds the intercollegiate title in his class and Bordeau is the South Atlantic light-heavyweight champion.

Cantillon Unconscious, Condition Unchanged

Hickman, Ky., Jan. 29 (A.P.).—The condition of "Pongo Joe" Cantillon was practically unchanged here today, as the former baseball player-manager and umpire clung to life by a slim thread. Physicians were amazed at his resistance, but said there was no hope for him. He is unconscious and under the constant administration of opiates.

During his baseball career of 46 years, "Pongo Joe" managed nine clubs, umpired in several leagues and served as both scout and player.

Brown and Wineapple Sign 1930 Nat Contracts

Two more signed 1930 contracts were received by President Clark Griffith, of the Nationals, yesterday. Pitchers Lloyd Brown and Ed Wineapple being the fourteenth and fifteenth of Manager Walter Johnson's henchmen to enter the fold.

Both of these athletes are southpaws, with Brown having shown indications last season of being just about ready to win himself a berth as a regular starter. Wineapple is a collegian who showed rare promise with Providence University, but who probably needs minor league seasoning before being able to help the Nats.

Fine Plays for G. W. In Game Tomorrow

Contrary to reports, Irving Fine, crack forward of the George Washington five, will appear with the Colonials when they take the floor tomorrow night against the strong Randolph-Macon quintet on the H street floor.

Although now at his home in Perth Amboy, N. J., to attend the wedding of his sister, Fine will be back in time to face the Virginia team, Coach Joe Mitchell, of George Washington, said last night. Mitchell permitted Fine to go home provided he could return here before tomorrow night. Fine assured him he would be on deck at game time, Mitchell stated.

Even with Fine in the line-up, George Washington still will not be at full strength tomorrow night, as Capt. Bob Gray, guard, can not perform owing to the necessity of undergoing mid-year examinations. It was thought earlier in the week that George Harris, forward, also would be missed, but he has disposed of his classroom problem and is expected to be in uniform.

Kleiman, G. W. Boxer, Is Protested by C. U.

Harry Kleiman, of George Washington University, one of the leading featherweight boxers in college circles, will not represent the Buff and Blue in its inaugural match next Wednesday night with Catholic University.

A protest made by Catholic U. officials on Kleiman's eligibility to compete in this match was acceded to by George Washington authorities yesterday. It was pointed out that Kleiman competed regularly for New York University last year, which fact now gives him the status of a transfer athlete. No transfer men are on the Catholic U. team.

Kleiman won his bout in the Catholic-New York U. match last winter, defeating Johnny DePasquale. The latter, a bantamweight, stepped out of his class to engage Kleiman.

Dawson Leads Field In Texas Preliminary

San Antonio, Tex., Jan. 29 (A.P.).—Johnny Dawson, Chicago amateur, today shot a 75 over the Willow Springs course here to lead a field of more than 100 Simon-pures in a qualifying round for Thursday's amateur-professional eighteen-hole event preliminary to the ninth annual Texas open tournament.

Rain last night soaked the Springs course and made it difficult over the par 71 layout. Dawson had a 39 going out, but tightened up to come in with a 36. He received a gold medal for his efforts.

Close behind the Chicago stars was Tod Menefee, San Antonio, with 76, and Lewis Levinson, also of San Antonio, 77. Jack Dold, Houston, winner of last year's event, required 80 strokes for the round.

LATE RALLY WINS FOR CENTRAL

D. C. Five Beats Episcopal, 31-26, in Last 2 Minutes of Play.

ALEXANDRIA, Va., Jan. 29.—Central High School defeated the Episcopal High School in the Armory here today, when it came from behind in the last two minutes of play to score eight points for a 31-26 victory. Except for a short time in the first quarter, Episcopal had been in the lead throughout the game until Central's final spurt.

With the score 26-23 against it, Central started a furious rally which found four members of the Blue and White squad taking a hand in the point-making which brought victory.

Parkins' Goal Puts Central In Front.

Lampson made good on two foul tries to bring his team within one point of the home team, and then Parkins dribbled in for a goal which sent the D. C. team ahead. Rice and Cross followed with double-deckers which assured victory.

Western Names Grid Captain Each Week

That the player who has shown the best form throughout the week's practice prior to a game will be named captain of the team for that fray will be the policy of the Western High School football team for the 1930 season was announced yesterday at an athletic assembly of the Georgetown School at which grid letters were presented to thirteen members of the '29 eleven. The acting captain will be named by Coach Dan Ahern.

Walter H. Young, director of athletics at American University, was the principal speaker at the assembly. Coach Ahern expressed the hope that more than thirteen players would be eligible for the team at the opening of the season, the condition that worked such a handicap with Western last year. Ahern was presented with a combination pen and pencil set by the members of the team at the close of the chapel.

Preliminaries Listed For Feb. 7 Card at N. Y.

New York, Jan. 29 (A.P.).—There will be fights at Madison Square Garden February 7 regardless of the heavyweight finally chosen in place of Johnny Risko as a "fit opponent" for Victorio Campolo, lanky Argentine, in the feature bout.

The semifinal was fixed today with Charley Belanger, Canadian light-heavyweight, meeting Joe Sekyra, of Dayton, in a 10-round match. Joe Banovic, of Binghamton, N. Y., will box Henry Lamar, of Washington, D. C., in another 10-rounder.

Despite the ruling of the boxing commission yesterday that Risko, who has whipped a host of big men, was not capable of handling Campolo, officials of the Garden will ask the solons Friday to reconsider their decision. If the commission refuses again to accept Risko, another opponent probably will be substituted.

IN THE COLLEGE CORNER

By JACK ESPEY

AN accepted truth is the old saying that a good baseball hitter is born, not made. In other words, coaching has little, if any, effect unless a baseball player doesn't possess natural hitting ability.

A high-scoring basket ball player says Coach Fred Rice, of Catholic University, likewise is not a product of coaching. It simply isn't possible to make a potent point-scorer out of a would-be courtman who doesn't find it natural and comparatievly easy to sink the ball in the basket, according to the veteran mentor, who is now in his nineteenth year of service at the Brookland institution.

Gauging of distance and direction of shots are the most important factors in basket ball shooting, explains Rice. Both are beyond the powers of a coach to teach with any appreciable degree of success. A coach can demonstrate his own ability and he can show his pupil just how to hold the ball, but that is about as far as he can go.

All of which, adds Rice, means that basket ball coaching is largely a job of teaching defensive methods. Attempting to teach players how to shoot is just so much added grief.

Decline in Baseball in College Explained?

The generally recognized decadence of college baseball is attributed to many things—professional baseball, the automobile, and other outdoor sports such as golf, tennis, lacrosse, &c. Concerning professional baseball as one of the causes, additional light can be shed on the subject by the New York American League Baseball Club.

During the past several months, the Yankee Club offices have, as usual after the close of a season, been flooded with letters from aspiring young players seeking big league trials. This time a large majority—nine out of ten—have been written by college boys. They have been received at the rate of about sixty a week, it is said.

The West Virginia University Boxing Team, which is to be the first foe of the season for Georgetown's mittmen at Morgantown, W. Va., on Saturday, was defeated, six bouts to one, by Penn State last week-end. The lone Mountaineer victor was a heavyweight named Hawkins, who defeated his Penn State opponent by a knockout.

This is a tip-off on the test which faces Sam Cordovano, Georgetown's heavyweight and star football player. Sam has had only one bout in his career. But neither he nor his supporters are fearful of the outcome in his single experience, Sam kayoed Benny Punderburg, South Atlantic champion.

College basket ball in the East has taken on a marked impetus, though none of the evidence is to be found in Washington. Indications are that the college court game along the Atlantic seaboard soon will rival that of the Middle West and Rocky Mountain regions in popularity.

At the recent Georgetown-New York University game in New York City, 3,500 persons were crowded into the hall. Another thousand failed to get in before the S. R. O. sign was displayed. On the same night two other college battles in the big town were sell-outs. At one of them only 20 per cent of the enthiastis who tried to see the game could be accommodated.

CHANGE PIN SCHEDULES.

Double-header matches are scheduled in the Prince Georges County Duckpin League tonight and tomorrow night. The Collegiates meet the Gretta Team tonight at 7 o'clock and the Dixie Pigs face the Grettas at 9 o'clock. Tomorrow night, the Collegiates battle Company F at 7 o'clock and the Sioux Five meets the Militiamen at 9 o'clock.

33-32 BATTLE DROPPED BY BUSINESS

Swavely Wins Extra Period Game; Loftus in Star Role.

Special to The Washington Post.

MANASSAS, Va., Jan. 29.—In a five-minute extra-period game, Swavely Prep School nosed out a 33-to-32 win over Business High, of Washington, here today. Pete Loftus, who played no small part in his team's fight with 16 points, made a heroic effort to even the game once more with a field goal and a foul toss in the extra quarter, but double-deckers by Potter and Ourom gave Swavely Team the verdict.

It was an exceptionally close game throughout, the first half ending with a 15-15 score. Swavely took a slight lead in the third quarter, outscoring Business by 1 point, and was leading up to 30 seconds of the end of the game, when Bill Duryee tied the score with a long goal, sending the game into the extra period.

RED SOX CLAIM OLIVER.

Boston, Jan. 29 (A.P.).—The Boston Red Sox management today announced the acquisition by the waiver route of Thomas H. Oliver, an outfielder, from the Philadelphia Athletics. Oliver played with Little Rock in the Southern League last year and was obtained by the Athletics in the draft. His home is in Montgomery, Ala.

Recruits Face Weary Road In Dixie

Big League Tryouts to Be Sad Experience for Most.

One-Third of Group Have Had Previous Trials in Majors.

By FRANK H. YOUNG.

NO less than 159 rookies will be members of baseball's "big parade" which heads for the Sunny South next month. A few will remain in the big tent, but the great majority will sadly wend their way back to the minors, sick at heart and disillusioned. Some will be trying out for advancement in their profession for the first time, but to many others it merely will be another sad chapter added to their baseball experiences.

Circumstances frequently control the fate of a promising rookie. Often he really has major league talent and, perhaps, would have made the grade with another club, but he was unfortunate in being grabbed by a team strongly fortified in talent for the particular position for which he was qualified. Thus, he is sent back for "further seasoning," loses a year and, if the same conditions obtain two or three times, he suddenly finds himself "too old" to be considered as a rookie prospect.

There have been many cases of this kind where a youngster practically has grown old in the minors while being the property of a major league outfit which simply has been unable to use him and so has brushed him aside from year to year.

First Trial Usually Failure.

There have been other instances, of course, where youngsters have jumped into major league line-ups right off the bat and remained there because they happened to be grabbed by a club which was willing to give them a chance at filling a big gap.

As a rule, however, youngsters fail to make the grade on their first big league trial. Of the 159 rookies getting chances for 1930 berths, 82—almost one-third—have been in major league camps on at least one previous occasion. The American League will look at 83 recruits, and, of this number, no less than 29 have tried and failed at least once. Among the 76 National League rookies of the coming season, 23 have been up before.

None of the comparatively few newcomers which Manager Johnson will look over at the Biloxi training camp has had previous big-league experience, but several former Nationals are getting another chance, among them being Pitchers Hollis Thurston, Archie Campbell and Byron Speece, Catchers Al Bool and Al "Pete" Cooper, and Outfielder Danny Taylor.

"Lil" Stoner Oldest Of Rookies.

The oldest rookie trying to get back on a big league pay roll is the little fellow with the big name who was with the Tigers for five seasons—Ulysses Grant Stoner, usually referred to as "Lil." After a year with Fort Worth, he was purchased by the Pittsburgh Pirates.

The experiences of many of these rookies is enough to discourage a youngster coming up for the first time, for, unless he gets the breaks and becomes outstanding in the only half-way trial he gets, he draws nothing but a nice spring trip South. But the hope which springs eternal, &c., is further strengthened by the fact that a first trial does not necessarily mean that there will not be others, and so the rookies keep on trying, and, in the absence of frowns from Dame Fortune, those who have the qualifications usually make the grade in time.

Gallaudet to Battle Juniata Tomorrow

Gallaudet's fast traveling Blues will be gunning for their ninth victory in eleven starts tomorrow night when they clash with the Juniata College Indians at Huntingdon, Pa. Coach Walter Krug has been drilling his charges intensively all week and looks for a closely contested game. Juniata handed Gallaudet a surprise defeat, 44 to 41, last year on the locals' court.

145-POUND A. A. U. HONORS GOAL OF DE LUXE TEAM

Veteran Five To Make Bid In Tourney

Team Has Won 20 of 24 Games Thus Far This Season.

Only 2 Days Remain for Teams to Register at Post.

THE De Luxe A. C. Five will seek 145-pound honors in the District A. A. U. Tournament to be held starting March 10 under the auspices of The Washington Post for the first time. Play in the tournament will not be new to the eight players registered last night by the De Luxe Team, however, as all of these courtmen have figured prominently in championship games the last three years.

Several of the De Luxe applicants for registration aided last year in winning the 130-pound championship for the Curtin Wonders. Others assisted in winning the South Atlantic 145-pound title in 1928 and also played major roles in carrying the De Luxe A. C. Five into the 130-pound semifinals.

Frank Mansuy, who manages and plays with the De Luxe Courtmen, registered eight players yesterday and expects to add two additional names to his list before the deadline for receiving registration applications for 145-pound and unlimited players arrives at midnight of Friday.

Team Has Won 20 Of 24 Starts.

The De Luxe Team looms as a serious contender for 145-pound honors. In 24 games with leading 145-pound and unlimited foes the team has triumphed in 20. Only the Eastern Preps, Stewart Bros. and St. Mary's Celtics have turned back the De Luxe Cagers. The list of victims includes the Fort Washington, Jewish Community Center Flashes, the Peerless A. C., Army War College, Crescents, Y. M. C. A. Regulars and Reserves, Montrose A. C. and Naval Air Station Teams.

The DeLuxe team has scored 634 points this season against 385 for its collective foes. Willis Fisher and Sam Hook are leading the point-scorers with 155 and 130 points, respectively.

Fisher, Hook, Frank May, Dan Kessler, William Dougherty, Culver Ruppert, Dick Castell, Arthur Zahn and Mansuy made application for registration yesterday.

Only 2 Days Remain To Register.

With only two days remaining in which to submit applications for registration in order to become eligible to compete in the 145-pound and unlimited classes in the tournament, many of the teams are making last-minute efforts to muster their best talent. No applications will be received after midnight, tomorrow.

In order to handle the late applications, William E. Russell, chairman, and other members of the registration committee will be in the sports department of The Post tomorrow night. Applications may be filed there up to midnight. No applications will be received after that hour, Mr. Russell announced last night, stating that he plans to adhere strictly to the regulation set down by the A. A. U. officials.

MORE GAMES BOOKED FOR GONZAGA

Western Scheduled; Purple to Play Tonight.

ORRELL MITCHELL, director of athletics at Gonzaga High School and at present, busily engaged in coaching the basket ball team of that institution, is one who hopes that Western will win the interhigh court championship.

Of an attractive schedule just completed, two games with Western to be played on a home-and-home basis, head the list, and Mitchell is anxious that his charges will have the opportunity to face the high school champion during the present season. Outside of Eastern, which was recently taken to camp by the Purple, Western is the only one of the high schools entered in the championship race, to be encountered by Gonzaga—thence, Mitchell's wish.

Gonzaga to Play At Night.

Mitchell also announced that an attempt would be made to stage as many as possible of Gonzaga's future games at night in order to give the Purple alumni an opportunity to witness the team in action. Devitt, St. John's, Georgetown Prep, and Western, are also slated to come to the Eye street gym for the games with Gonzaga.

The game with Strayer's College Five, originally scheduled to be played at the St. Martin's Gym tonight, has been shifted to the Gonzaga floor. Mitchell also announced and will start at 8 o'clock. In a preliminary, the Purple lightweights will take on the Business High Lightweights.

The complete Gonzaga schedule:

February 3, Georgetown Freshmen, at G. U.; 5, Raymond Riordan School, at Gonzaga; 7, Benjamin Franklin, at Gonzaga; 10, Eastern, at Eastern; 14, Leonard Hall, at Leonardtown; 19, Devitt, at Gonzaga; 21, St. John's, at St. John's; 25, Western, at Gonzaga; 27, Leonard Hall, at Gonzaga. March 4, Strayer, at Gonzaga; 14, St. John's, at Gonzaga.

Dates of the games with Georgetown Prep and the second contest with Western have not yet been announced.

Y. M. C. A. VS. WOODLAWN

Two promising games have been scheduled for the Y. M. C. A. court tonight. The Y Reserves will meet the Neighborhood House Senators in the first clash at 7:30 o'clock. The crack Y Regulars will meet the Woodlawn A. C. in the second contest. Dutch Krumm stars for the Regulars.

COLORED FIVES CLASH.

Opening of the basket ball season at the Murray Casino tonight will feature a clash between the Athenians of Baltimore and the Lichtman-Carlisle five, when Ed Davis, Dennis Simpson, "Slim" Thomas, Willie Hope and Joe Suter, for the Carlisles, will be called on to meet Powell Sheffey, "Teenie" Brown, "Chink" Wyatt, "Cutie" Brown and "Rap" Wheatley, generally regarded as one of the best guards on the courts. The preliminary tonight will feature the Arrows and Georgetown A. C.

ROBEY LEADS EASTERN IN VICTORY

G.U. Preps Bow, 46 to 38, as Lincoln Park Five Rallies.

EASTERN HIGH'S TOSSERS overcame a 11-point advantage held by the Georgetown Prep Courtmen at half-time yesterday and with Joe Robey, clever guard, leading the way, outscored their opponents by almost 20 points in the last half to coast in to a 46-to-38 victory on their home floor.

Coach Eddie Brook's men put up a valiant fight throughout the early portions of the game, but accustomed to a small floor, grew weary of running up and down the spacious Lincoln Park Gymnasium in the last two quarters.

Buddy Monk, formerly of Central, was the main cog of the losers, scoring four times from the floor and three times from the 15-foot line to lead his team with 11 points. However, he was outscored by the aforementioned Robey, who had a virtual field day, personally accounting for 20 points of the winning total.

V. M. I. TEAMS TO BE BUSY SATURDAY

Special to The Washington Post.

LEXINGTON, Va., Jan. 29.—Boxing will be the feature of V. M. I.'s home schedule Saturday, with North Carolina meeting the Cadets in both varsity and freshman meets. The yearlings will take the ring at 7 p. m., their meet to be immediately followed by the varsity setto. Barring extra rounds or bouts shortened by knockouts, the Cadets and Tarheels will entertain the crowd with 42 rounds of plain and fancy milling.

Three Cadet teams will be on the road while the ringsters are holding forth at home. The varsity wrestlers, with victories over William and Mary and Davidson behind them, go up against the powerful Navy Team at Annapolis. Last year the Midshipmen and Indiana University were the only mat outfits to down the Cadets. The freshmen grapplers, who made a successful debut against Augusta Military Academy last week, are not scheduled.

The first of a series of midwinter tussles with V. P. I. will also begin Saturday, when the Cadet varsity and freshman basket ball teams pay a visit to Blacksburg.

Cadets Entertain Virginia Five Wednesday.

Before the varsity invades Techland, it will play host to Virginia Wednesday night in a tilt scheduled for 7 p. m. Coach Raftery's five lost its only conference start to N. C. State, last year's champions, and the Cadets are anxious to improve their standing in the conference chase at the expense of the Cavaliers and Techmen.

Seasoned by matches with two strong teams, Western Maryland and Virginia, the Cadet varsity boxers are working hard in order to make a battle of it when Carolina, winner of last year's conference tournament, comes to Lexington. The first-year ringmen showed marked improvement in defeating A. M. A. after having lost to Staunton Military Academy, and the freshman bouts promise to be as interesting as the varsity tilts.

W. & L. FIVE BACK IN ACTION

Special to The Washington Post.

LEXINGTON, Va., Jan. 29.—With the last of the first semester examinations scheduled for tomorrow, Washington and Lee's winter sports teams will return to action after competing only on Saturday nights for the past two weeks. Heading the missionaries of Blue and White prowess will be Dick Smith's basketeers, who will take on West Virginia at Huntington Saturday night and Maryland at College Park Monday, while Forest Fletchers' indoor track athletes will open their season with a dual meet with Virginia in Charlottesville Saturday evening.

The Generals will journey to Huntington to take on the Mountaineers in what is the first of a six-game jaunt for the latter. Last year W. and L., boasting a team which completed the season with only one loss in sixteen starts, downed Stadsvold's crew for the first time in recent cage history, and, with four of the five men back who carried the banner in 1929, local fans are counting on a repetition of the defeat for the West Virginians.

While Coast Stadsvold will be putting a rebuilt five on the floor, due to the ineligibility of Taylor, a forward, who has always caused the Generals trouble, the W. and L. will be riding along on a tide of seven wins without a set-back, and will have seven first class floormen available for the battle.

4 Conference Victories to Date For Generals.

Adding up four Southern Conference wins, W. and L. toppled Duke, runners-up for the title in 1929, North Carolina and N. C. State, last year's conference champs, within four days, and last Saturday overwhelmed Virginia 50 to 22 after the Cavaliers had spurted to down Richmond and Virginia Tech earlier in the week.

The Generals will have ready for service Harris Cox, veteran of last year, and Sam Barasch and Gene Martin, sophomores, forwards; Leigh Williams, probably the South's outstanding center, and Charlie Fulton, sophomore, centers; and Capt. Earnie Wood and Red Hanna, both with varsity experience, and Harry Burke, guards, as well as other fairly dependable replacement material.

Navy Five Swamps Western Maryland

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., Jan. 29.—Three Naval Academy teams romped over the court here today at the expense of Western Maryland College of Westminster, the Terrors putting forth a very feeble exhibition and going down to defeat, 48 to 23.

Navy made no great endeavor to roll up a score, but tried to improve its passing. The varsity quint did not enter the game until the last eleven minutes. At that time the score was 37 to 17. The big team passed well but bungled any number of easy shots. It was the kind of game void of thrills even to the players.

The doubles match followed a match between the Arcadia Juniors and the Annapolis All-Stars, in which the former scored a victory by a 47-pin margin. Dortnick led the Arcadia bowlers.

WIN LEAGUE GAME.

The Silver Spring Giants Five scored its first victory in the Montgomery County Basket Ball League last night when the Woodside tossers were defeated, 14 to 13, in a spirited battle on the Silver Spring High School floor. Close guarding by both teams featured, and goals were few and far between. Holmead, of the winners, and Sucrow, of Woodside, were the only players to score from the floor more than once.

ALEXANDRIA SPORTS

Special to The Washington Post.

ALEXANDRIA, Va., Jan. 29.—The second game of the Alexandria Independent Basket Ball League will be played tomorrow night, when the fast traveling St. Mary's Celtics tackle the Whitestone Five. The game will be played in the Armory Hall, beginning at 8:15 o'clock. The Celtics, with eight straight wins, are confident of scoring over the smaller team. The Whitestones have improved considerably in their last few games.

Buddy Zimmerman, captain of the Celtics, and Earl Cronin, captain of the Knight Store Team, are both laid up with sprained ankles and will remain out of the games until the two teams meet in the city loop.

Coach Fred Pettit of the Knight Store Basket Ball Team stated this morning that he expects to play in some of the league games. About five years ago Pettit was considered one of the best basket ball players in the city. While at high school he captained the team and was the leading scorer.

LEAGUE GAME TONIGHT.

The Brentwood Hawk and Berwyn A. C. Fives will clash in a Prince Georges County League game tonight at 7:45 o'clock in the Hyattsville Armory. The Hawks are scheduled to meet the Laurel Guards at Laurel Friday night in a Tri-County League contest. The Hawks defeated the Laurel Independents, 75 to 11, in their last start.

N. C. U., Here Saturday, Boasts Fine Record

North Carolina State's basket ball team, 1929 Southern Conference champion, which plays Maryland at College Park Saturday night, again is powerful despite the fact that it has won only five of its eight games thus far this season.

While the Raleigh team has lost stirring battles to Washington and Lee, Duke and North Carolina University, it has scored 274 points to its rival's 183, showing that its attack and defense both are strong.

Capt. Johnson, guard, and Haar, forward, are the only letter men in the starting line-up; Brown, forward; Morgan, center, and Rose, guard, all being sophomores. However, the main loss of Staters from the 1929 team was Goodwin, all-Southern center and hub of the Wolfpack quint.

State's complete record follows:

N. C. State, 47; Atlanta Christian, 11.
N. C. State, 44; High Point, 24.
N. C. State, 38; Wake Forest, 10.
N. C. State, 31; Virginia Poly, 16.
N. C. State, 28; Washington and Lee, 39.
N. C. State, 29; Virginia Military Institute, 22.
N. C. State, 31; Duke, 35.

V. M. I. 34-26 Victor Over Virginia Quintet

Special to The Washington Post.

Lexington, Va., Jan. 29.—In the fastest game played on the local floor this season, the V. M. I. Cadets matched Virginia's speed and gained an edge in shooting both from the floor and foul line to win 34 to 26. Bob Brown, V. M. I. forward, was easily the high scorer, totaling 14 points with 5 field goals and the same number of foul goals out of seven tries. The play swept rapidly from one end of the court to the other, with both teams dribbling frequently, but V. M. I. worked the ball under the basket for easy shots, especially in the second half, while most of Virginia's two-pointers were sunk from outside the foul circle.

90 LEADING STOCKS DISPLAY PRICE GAIN

Excellent Steel Reports Prove Aid in Buying Movement.

U. S. STEEL SHARES RISE

New York, Jan. 29 (A.P.).—Speculative interest in today's markets was divided between the further recovery in stock prices, which carried the index of 90 leading issues to a new high level for the year, and the renewed weakness of wheat and cotton futures, the latter touching new low levels for the season. Gains in the stock market ran from 1 to 12½ points but these were interspersed with a number of declines ranging from fractions to 4 points.

Excellent steel news, including the publication of the unexpectedly favorable statement by the United States Steel Corporation and reports of a further upturn in steel mill activity, provided the chief stimulus to the buying movement. This was fortified by a series of favorable dividend developments, including a resumption of payments by Colorado Fuel after a lapse of nine years and extra payments by Liggett & Myers and International Silver, and by a further reduction in the daily average of crude oil production.

Such irregularity as developed in the stock market during the day was due largely to liquidation by traders who had piled up profits in the recent advance. There was little evidence of any aggressive short selling, although the resistance encountered by many stocks on the way up indicated that large blocks of stocks, some of which is believed to represent securities bought for supporting purposes during and since the break, were still overhanging the market.

Money Market Steady.

The money market showed no evidence of a month-end strain, although February 1 dividend and interest disbursements are expected to run close to $500,000,000, a record for this period. Call money dropped from 4½ to 4 per cent with the supply plentiful, and there was an easier undertone for the shorter maturities in the time money market. In view of the recent movement of gold from England to Germany and the relatively low rate of sterling exchange here, hopes of a reduction in the Bank of England rate tomorrow are not very bright. It is generally conceded that a drop in the London rate will precede any further reduction in Federal Reserve quotations.

U. S. Steel common was marked up more than 5 points to a new high for the year at 182¼, or within a point of the high price reached since the November break, and then eased half a point. Youngstown Sheet & Tube jumped 10 points on a couple of sales. Vanadium ran up 3½ points. Transue & Williams, which is expected to show earnings of around $3 a share for 1929 and has just received a contract to supply Crumbian steel to a new American company, advanced nearly 3 points. Colorado Fuel made only a slight response to the dividend announcement.

Auburn Auto Advances.

Except for a gain of nearly 4 points in Simms Petroleum the oils made little response to the sharp drop in crude production. Farm implement shares lost none of their buoyancy, Case soaring 12½ points. Auburn Auto jumped 10 points on reports of record-breaking January business. Business Machine shares extended their recent gains. International Telephone was one of the few active soft spots.

The reaction of more than 2 cents a bushel in wheat prices, based on the publication of a bearish Government weather forecast and reports of increased Russian offerings in foreign markets, carried quotations to within a fraction of the season's low levels. Cotton dropped about $2 a bale on selling inspired by reports of difficulties encountered in attempts to control acreage and output during the coming season. Corn prices yielded slightly. Coffee and sugar markets showed little change.

Trading in the foreign exchange market was featured by a rally of about half a cent in Spanish pesetas, part of which was lost, on buying inspired by the fact that a change of government was being accomplished without any serious disturbances. Sterling cables were slightly firmer around $4.86 9-16. Other changes were nominal.

NEW YORK COTTON.

New York, Jan. 29 (A.P.).—The selling movement, which made its appearance in the cotton market at the beginning of the week became more active and general during today's trading. Prices for all deliveries made new low ground for the season with near months relatively weak under heavy liquidation. May sold down to 16.77, or 44 points net lower and more than a cent a pound below the high level reached on the midmonth rally. That delivery closed at 16.81, with the general market closing barely steady at net declines of 27 to 40 points.

The opening was steady at a decline of 2 to 4 points and after showing net losses of about 3 to 6 points the market rallied slightly on trade buying and covering. The latter may have been promoted by rumors that Farm Board interests were bidding for cotton in the Houston market, but the demand was readily supplied on bulges of some 2 to 5 points from the lowest, and the market soon showed renewed weakness. Near month liquidation was heavy, while there was scattered selling all along the line which seemed to come through commission houses and brokers with Wall street and Western connections.

Offerings became more active following denials of the rumors that Farm Board or cooperative interests were buying cotton and stop orders were uncovered on the break. March contracts sold off to 16.53, July to 17.01 and October to 17.18, making net declines of 30 to 44 points, while at the low point of the late afternoon May showed a decline of over $17.00 per bale from the high price touched on the advance of early last September. Closing quotations were within 3 or 4 points of the lowest on old crop positions and at the lowest prices of the day on the new crop months.

No special factor in the day's news was particularly emphasized in connection with the decline. Much of the selling was supposed to reflect liquidation of old long accounts, while the buying was believed to be chiefly for trade account and shorts on a scale down.

Port receipts today, 14,423. United States port stocks, 2,445,899. Exports, 9,819, making 4,905,793 so far this season.

LIVE CONVERTIBLES MARK BOND SALES

FOREIGN LIST DECLINES

New York, Jan. 29 (A.P.).—Convertibles afforded most of the action in today's bond market.

In the share privilege group the heaviness of International Telephone 4½s and American I. G. Chemical 5½s stood out, the former dropping to 113⅞, or just under its low at the time of the stock break. The other debenture lost a point and a half on fairly heavy selling coincident with the Chemical Foundation's demand for an inquiry by the State Bureau of Securities into the $30,000,000 flotation last April. The Telephone bond closed at 115 for a net loss of 2 points.

Chicago & Northwestern convertible 4¾s were active, but made no change on the day. American Telephone 4½s rose 1¼, while Missouri Pacific 5½s and Baltimore & Ohio 4½s each gained a small fraction.

Standard List Irregular.

There was little interest in the Standard investment list, which was again irregular. The Liberty 3½s and Fourth 4¼s were in slightly better demand, but moved narrowly, while the high-grade rails and utilities made mixed changes.

Canadian National 5s, Atchison general 4s, Burlington general 4s, Delaware & Hudson 5½s, New York Central 3½s and Union Pacific 4s of 1968 worked lower. Moderate inquiry for Missouri Pacific general 4s, New Haven refunding 4½s, Lehigh Valley (Pennsylvania) 4s, Pennsylvania general 4½s and St. Louis & San Francisco 4½s found a firm market. The seaboard listings advanced about a point. New York City tractions were again buoyant.

Features in the industrial section included a 6-point rise in Fisk Rubber 8s, a 3-point loss in North American Cement 6½s and a 2½-point rally in White Sewing Machine 6s, without warrants. United States Rubber 5s finished nearly a point higher.

New Telephone Issue Drops.

Rather persistent offerings of the new American Telephone 5s, for which payment has now been made, pared a quarter point from the quotation and the debentures closed at 100¼, their lowest since the offering at 99½.

International Telephone debenture 4½s were marked up nearly a point in small dealings. Current reports of the prospective new financing for this company mentioned a bond issue of about $30,000,000 instead of the $75,000,000 total which was being discussed recently in market circles.

The foreign list saw numerous declines of 1 and 2 points, although prominent European loans were steady. Brisbane City 5s, Buenos Aires 6s, April maturity; Queensland 6s, Bolivia 7s and Bergen City 6s were heavy. On the other hand, French 7½s and 7s sold at their high levels for the last year. Belgian and German 7s were firm.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, Jan. 29 (A.P.).—Big setbacks in price for all grain brought wheat within ¾c a bushel today of the season's bottommost level here. Corn, oats and rye fell below any previous quotations for the present crop, sudden widening out of pressure to sell wheat from Russia to other European countries was largely responsible, together with British reports that Argentine is also giving evidence of anxiety to rush export marketing of wheat.

After a day of heavy liquidating sales of wheat future deliveries, Chicago closing quotations on wheat were nervous, 2c to 2⅛c a bushel lower than yesterday's finish. Corn closed ¼c to ⅝c down, oats ⅝c to 1⅜c off and provisions unchanged to a decline of 2c.

Hand in hand with disconcerting advices that Russia had disposed of 370,000 bushels of wheat to Italy and Germany and was offering 400,000 bushels more elsewhere, including Great Britain, North American wheat export business today came to a virtual halt. Signs that foreigners were sellers of wheat future deliveries in Chicago acted also as a disturbing influence. It was not until wheat prices here had collapsed nearly 3c a bushel that rallying power developed. Meanwhile, the fact that the Winnipeg market was weaker than Chicago proved a decided handicap on efforts to check price breaks here, especially in view of the meagerness of export demand today for wheat either from Canada or the United States.

Accelerating the downward course of wheat values in Chicago was execution of many standing orders that future delivery holdings be sold out at various fixed limits so as to put a stop to further losses. No buying of wheat for the Farm Board's cooperative allies was done in Chicago today, although prices went somewhat below the Farm Board's loan basis, the reason for absence of such purchasing here was the fact that only wheat from rural sources is being taken by the cooperatives, and that fresh arrivals of country run wheat in Chicago at present are small. Confronted by reports that Argentine wheat is being offered in Europe cheaper than wheat from the United States, the Chicago futures market closed within ½c of the day's bottom figures.

Although corn as a result of sympathy with wheat weakness established a new all-round low-price record for the season, the corn market showed stubborn resistance to selling pressure. The fact that corn and hog values are at a profitable feeding ratio of about 12 to 1 led to predictions of a smaller movement of the corn crop to market centers than of late has been generally looked for. Oats followed corn.

Provisions were easy owing to grain weakness and a late downward trend of the hog market.

Advice on Investments

By CHARLES W. STORM

Has Money to Invest.

S. E. M.—My mother, a recent widow at 73, has a few thousand dollars she would like to invest in a stock with a good return, and at the same time be a safe investment. She now holds a few shares of American Telephone, but at its present price it is too high for her. She would prefer, if possible, some sound security. I, myself, also have some money which I would like to put into a few good dividend payers. What do you think of St. Paul common?

Answer—A good sound stock to buy for your mother is Consolidated Gas of New York 5 per cent preferred. It is as good as any issue on the list, and is backed by the second largest public utility company in the world. Of the money your mother now has, it might be a wise policy to keep a part of it in the bank for emergencies. For your own investment, Consolidated Gas of New York common pays $4 annually, and has a good chance of appreciating in value.

St. Paul common must be regarded as a speculation. Earnings of this road, however, are showing improvement, but the stock pays no dividend. Another issue which is favorably regarded is Commercial Solvents, which pays $1 annually.

International Combustion.

Mrs. E. W.—Can you give me any information as to the prospects of International Combustion Engineering? Would you advise me to buy the stock at 6?

Answer—There have been reports, though not official, that an assessment of $5 a share would be levied on the common stock. A protective committee has been formed to safeguard the interests of preferred stockholders. While the management was blamed for the plight of International Combustion, certain directors have been thrown out and new ones put in.

This concern is regarded as being in a good line of business, and with capable management should be able to work itself out of its present predicament. However, this column can not advise as to what price any stock should be purchased.

Mexican Seaboard Oil.

R. L. M.—I have 100 shares of Mexican Seaboard Oil which I bought at $15 a share. Would you kindly advise if this is a good stock to hold on to, or had I better sell at current prices?

Answer—No dividends have been paid on the issue since 1924, consequently it can not be classed as an investment, but is highly speculative and this column can not advise regarding speculative market commitments.

> In making inquiries, address Charles W. Storm, financial department of The Washington Post, and inclose a self-addressed stamped envelope for reply.

Julius Kayser; Kennecott.

Mrs. M. W. S.—Kindly give me your opinion relative to the purchase of Julius Kayser and Kennecott Copper stock for investment purposes.

Answer—Julius Kayser pays $4 a year. The company is a big factor in women's underwear and hosiery. Net earnings for the fiscal year ended June 30, last, were equal to nearly $6 a share on the common stock, as against a little less in the preceding fiscal year on a smaller number of shares. The outlook appears favorable. Recent additions to manufacturing facilities are being reflected in a lowering of costs. Kennecott Copper can be classed as a conservative investment, as dividends have been paid on the stock over a period of years, the company at present paying $5 a share.

General Motors; Ford.

Mrs. W. R. K.—I read in the columns of the newspapers recently that a General Motors managers security company was in the market for 1,000,000 shares of General Motors. What effect would this have on the price of General Motors? Would you hold G. M. as an investment? I have a few shares of Ford Motors, Ltd., which I bought at higher prices. What do you think of it? I'm terribly afraid of Wall street, but my husband insists on venturing sometimes.

Answer—One million shares of General Motors was acquired by the company at a cost of about $35,000,000 with the intention of selling it to the Second Managers Security Co., to be formed in accordance with a plan approved by stockholders a few years ago to take the place of the present similar company. It is thought that the security company will secure bonds to take this stock by the issuance of bonds. The effect on the stock would be bullish, in that the 1,000,000 shares would greatly reduce the floating supply. With General Motors turning out a line of diversified products, the stock should be held.

Ford Motors, Ltd., pays no dividend, and is, therefore, a speculation, although the stock has good long-pull possibilities with Henry Ford behind the company.

Two Chemical Stocks.

U. R.—I have been informed by my broker of improvement in the chemical and fertilizer field, and am considering putting some money into either International Agricultural Chemical or Davison Chemical. Which of the two do you consider the best for the long pull?

Answer—From an investment standpoint, Davison is the better stock, as this company reported earnings of $3.34 a share for the fiscal year ended June 30, last, the gain in income paying the way for dividends. Official remarks indicate that profits since last June are considerably ahead of those for the same time the year previous. In the last annual report the remarks by the president of Davison inferred that steps would soon be taken toward placing the stock on a dividend basis, "in view of the bright outlook."

International Agricultural Chemical earnings have been poor, which accounts for the stock's low selling price, which also accounts for the fact that International is a nondividend payer. Davison, it must be remembered, is not only a chemical, but also a fertilizer company.

Butterick; Remington Arms.

T. D.—What is your opinion of the Butterick Co. and the Remingon Arms Corporation?

Answer—Earnings of Butterick the past year have not been satisfactory, although sales of some of its magazines are understood to be on the upgrade. No dividends are paid on the stock, which must be classed as a speculative medium. The recent increase of products turned out by the Remington Arms Co., it is estimated, will boost earnings approximately $1,000,000 in the current year.

The increase announced not long ago was 12½ per cent on ammunition, the Remington's product. This $1,000,000 increase in prices is figured as equivalent to $2 a share on the stock. Earnings for 1930, therefore, should be double those for 1929. The higher prices, which should mean larger earnings, would appear to place the common in a stronger position for dividend payments.

WALL STREET GOSSIP

New York, Jan. 29 (A.P.).—The first 50 railroads to report December earnings had net operating income aggregating $40,174,000, compared with $49,567,000 in the corresponding month last year, a decrease of 18.9 per cent. The November net operating income for the same roads totaled $45,453,000.

The Gillette Safety Razor Co. is reported to have sold its entire output of new model razors for 1930.

Orders from ultimate consumers of copper to domestic fabricators are somewhat better at the present time than earlier in the month, reports from the trade today state, but the fabricators are only buying their nearer requirements for meeting these orders. A fairly substantial business is believed to be accumulating for next month and March.

The General Motors Corporation is now making a distribution to 15,177 of its employes through the corporation's savings and investment fund class of 1924, which matured at the end of 1929. The amount so distributed represents a total of $8,608,000, and consists of $2,768,245 in cash and 145,994 shares of common stock. Any employe who in 1924 paid $300 into the fund now received a total of $1,415. Of this amount, $415 is paid in cash, the remaining $1,000 is represented by 25 shares of stock.

Sears, Roebuck & Co. today reported its net income for 1929 was $30,057,652, equal to $6.70 a share of common stock, as compared with $26,907,902 and $6.28 a share in 1928. Net sales of the mail order house last year were $403,472,007. In 1928 they were $319,773,787.

ACACIA MANAGERS HERE FOR COURSES

63 Branch Heads to Spend Week Studying Under Committee.

OTTERBACK IN FLORIDA

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

Acacia Mutual Life Association, with 63 branch offices over the entire country, under the direction of branch managers, has assembled the latter here this week for a course of instruction. The company has a unique organization in what it calls its field advisory committee, composed of three branch managers and two home office officials, that meets quarterly and passes upon the work of the various branches.

Service on this committee is obtained by the most efficient branch managers during the year, and the committee for the ensuing year will be Charles K. Warren, of Seattle, Wash.; Ben R. Miller, San Diego, Calif., and A. E. Welsh, St. Louis.

Acacia has shown steady progress in growth and assets every year, and President William Montgomery assured the board of directors at a recent meeting that every indication pointed to this year being the greatest the association has ever experienced. That its policyholders are well satisfied with the conduct of the business and the results is shown by its low lapse rate, the lapse rate last year being the smallest ever experienced.

New Branch Courses Start.

Many young bankers are registering this week for second semester classes in Washington Chapter, American Institute of Banking. The instruction includes banking fundamentals, conducted by Eliot H. Thomson; commercial law, Bolitha M. Laws; negotiable instruments; Raymond B. Dickey; standard banking, F. J. Donohoe; types and analysis of financial statements, James D. Cushman and William G. Buchanon, and business forecasting, Walter H. Dunlap. The course in public speaking will continue under the direction of Charles S. Richardson, of the University of Maryland.

Federal American Co. common was the market leader at yesterday's session of the Washington Stock Exchange, 100 shares selling at 33, fractional advance. Fifty shares of Commercial National Bank moved at 245, last sale price. 25 of the Carpel Corporation at 24, 1½ points up, and 25 of Washington Railway & Electric preferred at 95¼, latest level. Bond sales totaled $1,500, a $1,400 improvement and the stock turnover 206, was a 134-share increase from Tuesday.

Stein Bros. & Boyce announce opening of a New York office at 120 Broadway and admission of William S. Wilson to general partnership in the firm. Mr. Wilson has been connected with Bond & Goodwin, Goldman Sachs & Co., and for five years with Jackson & Curtis. He will assume active management of the New York office.

Stein Bros. & Boyce is one of the largest investment and brokerage firms in the South, with main offices in Baltimore, Md., and branch offices in Washington, Louisville, Ky., Clarksburg and Charleston, W. Va., Hagerstown, Md., and Charlottesville, Va. The business was started in Baltimore in 1853 since which time it has been in continuous and successful operation.

Estate Tax Case Settled.

An overassessment of estate tax in favor of the estate of John C. Lalor, Willard A. Lalor, executor, of this city has been determined by the Bureau of Internal Revenue in the amount of $20,000, a hearing being held November 20, 1929. The overassessment is made pursuant to the final order of the United States Board of Tax Appeals entered in the instant case and the amount abated.

William R. DeLashmutt, vice president and cashier of the United States Savings Bank, has been reelected president of the Bank of Damascus, Md.

Curb Review

New York, Jan. 29 (A.P.).—Trading in today's curb market showed a sharp contraction in volume, but the main price tendency continued upward. Chief interest centered in a handful of issues in which special developments are pending, the general list moving within a rather narrow range, due to the absence of any extensive public participation.

Deere & Co. soared 19 points, to 640, or within 2 points of the record high established last year, and then dropped back 5 points on realizing, in response to the announcement of a 5-for-1 stock split-up. Cleaner Combine Harvester (new) advanced 1¾ to a new top at 23½.

Oils failed to make any response to reports of a sharp decrease in crude oil production last week. Cosden dropped 3¼ points and Gulf 3⅛, with the other active issues showing only narrow fractional changes. Pandem, a low-price issue, was turned over in large volume.

Public utilities displayed a rather firm undertone, with gains of 1 to 4 points recorded by American Light & Traction, American Gas & Electric, Bell Telephone of Canada, Dixie Gas, Standard Power & Light (new) and United Gas Electric Bond & Share recorded a large fractional gain, but Commonwealth Edison dropped 5 points and New England Power 3 on small turnovers.

Republic Steel (new stock) sold down 4 points at one time, but recovered more than half its loss. A gain of 3 points in Western Air Express was based on reports of a favorable 1929 earnings report. United Zinc & Smelting (new) fell 5¼ points to a new low at 2, and Kobacker Stores broke 13½ points to a new low at 29.

Patient Discards $5,000 in Radium

Tears Off Bandage; Hunt Finally Locates It in Refuse Ashes.

New York, Jan 29 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—A cancer patient at the Beth Israel Hospital today restlessly tore off one of his dressings and unwittingly threw away 70 milligrams of radium, worth $5,000. It was recovered after hours of search among the ashes in the incinerator of the hospital.

The patient, feeling discomfort after he had been dressed by his physician, tore off the bandage containing the tiny speck of radium. He couldn't remember where he had thrown the bandage.

A thorough search of the building for the precious radium failed to locate it. Finally the director of the department of physics of the hospital was called in and with the help of the electroscope he discovered the missing radium among the ashes of the incinerator.

CHICAGO SOCIAL LIFE DESCRIBED IN SUIT

Wife Says She Cultivated "Best ePople" to Aid Her Husband.

ASKS $300,000 IN ACTION

Los Angeles, Calif., Jan. 29 (A.P.).—Mrs. Mattie Dean Hutchinson, Chicago society woman, told under cross-examination today of her attempts to cultivate the "best people" as an aid to her husband, Samuel S. Hutchinson, whose alleged paramour, Mrs. Edith P. Taylor, the Chicago woman is suing for alienation of affections.

Hutchinson, a Chicago film distributor, and Mrs. Taylor, from whom the wife seeks $300,000 for an alleged love affair which she claims existed for twenty years before she became aware of it, sat in the Superior Court with bowed heads, occasionally glancing at the witness as Mrs. Hutchinson told of her life in a voice which sometimes faltered.

"What do you mean by the best?" Defense Attorney Bryon Hanna asked Mrs. Hutchinson following her testimony about her social acquaintances.

"Well, the best," she replied. "I tried to cultivate people of social distinction to help Mr. Hutchinson in business and socially."

Banned "Common People."

"Did you try to cultivate common people?"

"I tried not to."

"Do you know Mrs. Kellogg Fairbanks?"

"Yes."

"Who is Mrs. Kellogg Fairbanks?"

"I think they are the soap people."

"Do you know Mrs. J. Ogden Armour?"

"Yes."

"Did you attend a party at Mrs. Fairbanks' home and was Mrs. Armour present?"

"Yes."

"And did you write to your husband that a common butcher and his wife were present at the party?"

The question was objected to and sustained.

Letter Is Produced.

"Have you loved Mr. Hutchinson all your married life?"

"I have always loved him."

Mr. Hanna produced a letter written to Mr. Hutchinson by his wife three months after their separation in 1927 while he was living here and Mrs. Hutchinson was residing in Chicago. In it the writer accused Mr. Hutchinson of failing to pay bills, lavishing money on others, and advised him if he did not have sufficient cash to meet his obligations he should sell his stocks and pawn his valuables "as I have done."

Under redirect examination Mrs. Hutchinson testified that her husband humiliated her by "sarcastic remarks," refused to accompany her on social calls and retired to his bedroom when she gave parties, but always told her after the guests had departed: "That was wonderful. I enjoyed it very much."

She said she first became aware of his alleged association with Mrs. Taylor in 1927 when she intercepted letters between them.

"Millionaire Kid" Jailed for Holdup

Stanley Pryzbyl on Way to Face Trial for Robbery in Buffalo.

Miami, Fla., Jan. 29 (A.P.).—Stanley Pryzbyl, 27, the "millionaire kid," who was sought through the Eastern seaboard for participation in a November 14 dinner party robbery at Buffalo, started back to New York State today to face charges of armed robbery. He was in custody of representatives of the Buffalo police force, who came here after him following his arrest in Miami, January 21.

"I wish I had the man who put the finger on me in this case," Pryzbyl said as he was leaving.

Chief Deputy Coleman, of the Dade County sheriff's force, said Pryzbyl had admitted his identity when he was arrested, but that questioning since then had failed to produce from him an admission of his participation in the robbery with four other men.

Ethel Mason, who was arrested with Pryzbyl, was released today after officials had failed to connect her in any way with the robbery.

Army Snowbirds Complete Flight

16 Arctic Patrol Planes Reach Selfridge Field; Two Delayed.

Selfridge Field, Mount Clemens Mich., Jan. 29 (A.P.).—The Army's Arctic patrol came back to the home airport tonight after a round-trip flight to Spokane, Wash., which started January 10.

Fifteen of the eighteen pursuit planes which started the flight arrived together at 5:15 p. m. One of them, piloted by Lieut. N. D. Sillen, was forced down at Maniatique Mich., after the patrol left Escanaba, Mich., on the final leg of the flight. Another piloted by Lieut. Marion Elliott, was delayed, having landed to render assistance, and the third had been wrecked several days ago in a snowstorm at Bach, N. D. The plane forced down today had a broken connection rod. Lieut. Elliott arrived at 6:15 p. m.

The three transport planes lagged behind on the last lap as they had throughout, and flood lights were turned on at the field here to facilitate a night landing. The first came in at 6:22 p. m. The other two remained in Bay City, Mich., for the night and are expected to complete the trip tomorrow.

Maj. Ralph Royce, commander of the flight, declared that the flight was a success in that it had accomplished its purpose—to determine how present equipment will cope with winter conditions.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.

U. S. Dept. of Agri., Weather Bureau, Washington, Wednesday, Jan. 29—8 p. m.

Forecast—For the District of Columbia—Cloudy and continued cold Thursday, probably snow Thursday morning; Friday fair with rising temperature; moderate northeast, backing to north and northwest winds, becoming variable Thursday night.

For Maryland—Cloudy and continued cold Thursday, probably snow in east portion Thursday morning; Friday fair with rising temperature; fresh to strong northeast, backing to north and northwest winds on the coast, diminishing by Thursday night.

For Virginia—Cloudy and continued cold Thursday, probably snow Thursday morning in east and south portions; Friday fair with rising temperature; strong northeast, backing to north or northwest winds and probably gales, diminishing Thursday afternoon.

The disturbance that was central over western Quebec Tuesday night has moved eastward to Newfoundland with a marked increase in intensity, Belle Isle, 28.94 inches, and the slight disturbance that was over the western Gulf of Mexico is now centered over northern Florida and moving east-northeastward, Jacksonville, 29.82 inches. A minor disturbance is moving southeastward with center over eastern Colorado, Pueblo, 30.04 inches, and pressure remains low over the Gulf of Alaska, Kodiak, 29.68 inches. High pressure prevails elsewhere over North America, Dawson, Yukon, 30.66 inches; Winnemucca, Nev., 30.48 inches; Erie, Pa., 30.44 inches, and Abilene, Tex., 30.40 inches. The southern disturbance has caused rain along the South Atlantic and Gulf coasts, and snow or rain in the interior of the Southeastern States, and the western disturbance has caused precipitation, mostly light, from the North Pacific States eastward to Idaho and Montana. The rainfall was heavy in portions of the South Atlantic and East Gulf States, and heavy snow fell in north-central Alabama, Birmingham reporting 6 inches of snow on the ground tonight. The weather has become colder in the Eastern and Southern States, and the temperature has fallen decidedly in Vermont, and from Virginia southwestward to the Alabama coast. There has been a reaction to higher temperature, however, over much of the western half of the United States.

The Florida disturbance will move northeastward over the ocean, and it will likely cause snow Thursday from North Carolina to the coast of Maine. Otherwise generally fair weather will prevail Thursday and Friday in the Washington forecast district, except for local snows Friday in the lower Lake region. The temperature will be lower in Florida, and it will continue low east of the Appalachian Mountains Thursday, but the weather will become warmer in the Ohio Valley, Tennessee and the lower Lake region Thursday and throughout the Eastern and Southeastern States during Friday.

NEWS OF LATEST HAPPENINGS IN MARYLAND AND VIRGINIA

FIVE TO SEEK POSTS AS CITY COUNCILMEN

Three Vacancies to Be Open in Alexandria as Pair Declines to Run.

TWO NEW WARDS LOOM

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU,
312 S. Washington St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 523.

With less than 24 hours left in which candidates for the three vacancies in the city council which will be created by the announcements of Robert S. Jones and J. E. W. Timberman that they will not again run for reelection, there are five avowed candidates in the field, subject to the Democratic primary of April 1, and one independent, subject to the general election of June 10.

Howard T. Colvin, labor leader in this territory; Arthur Herbert, banker and former member of the board of police commissioners; Richard B. Washington, attorney; Emmett C. Davidson, a resident of Mount Ida, in the recently annexed territory, and Edmund F. Ticer, incumbent, are those who will compete for the two nominations on the Democratic ticket.

L. B. Alexander, of the Potomac territory, is the independent candidate who has announced his intention of running. He is a roofing contractor, a World War veteran who won distinction in France, and, at a recent meeting of the Civic Bureau of Potomac, received the indorsement of that body, and is understood to have been indorsed by several corporations and business interests of the city.

Mr. Washington is also a resident of the newly annexed territory, although looked upon as a resident of old Alexandria, since he has been engaged in the practice of law here fr moany years.

Mr. Ticer has been a member of the city council for the last twelve years, being the only one of the old council who held over after the change in the form of city government eight years ago. He was a member of the finance committee of the old body. He is local representative of the Southern Railway Co. and a native Alexandrian.

The city electoral board will recommend to the city council the establishment of two additional voting wards in the recently annexed territory, this decision being reached at a meeting of the board at which Chairman Richard B. Sweeney presided.

This will mean that Alexandria will have six voting wards and one voting precinct, Rosemont having been designated as a precinct last September. J. J. Kiger, of 107 Alexandria avenue, Braddock, has been named as temporary registrar for the new territory, and will assume his new duties immediately. The assistance of Commonwealth's Attorney Albert V. Bryan will be asked by the board in securing the names of the voters in the new territory, and he will write to the clerk of the courts of Arlington and Fairfax counties for the names of the qualified voters.

W. E. Smoot, of 521 North Alfred street, reported to the police yesterday morning that shortly after midnight Tuesday night, as he was returning from work at the Potomac yards, he was held up by two young masked men, at the point of a pistol, and searched for money. The holdup men, however, failed to find anything of value on Smoot's person, and told him to go into his house and remain there. He literally complied with the order of the bandits and did not make a report of the holdup until 9 o'clock yesterday morning, when he lodged a complaint with Policeman Charles Miller.

Smoot described one of the men as being 6 feet tall and weighing about 150 pounds, dressed in light clothing, with a light cap; the other as 5 feet 8 inches tall, weighing about 160 pounds and wearing a dark overcoat and brown hat.

Maj. Gen. Frederick W. Sladen, U. S. A., commanding officer of the Third Corps Area, with headquarters in Baltimore, has accepted the invitation of the George Washington Birthday Association to act as grand marshal of the big military and civic parade to be held here February 22, in observance of the birthday of George Washington.

Gen. Sladen accepted the invitation which was extended to him by a local committee in Baltimore yesterday, composed of Harry D. Kirk, president of the association; J. William May, Charles W. King and F. Clinton Knight.

Yesterday a committee composed of Roger C. Sullivan and F. Clinton Knight visited Assistant Secretary of the Navy Ernest Lee Jahncke, and also the chief of staff of the Army, and were promised the attendance of all troops available in and near Washington to participate in the parade.

A certified check for $735,627.37, which is probably the largest ever received by the City of Alexandria, was turned over yesterday to City Manager Wallace Lawrence and City Attorney Carl Budwesky, covering the sale of the $750,000 of 4½ per cent annexation and public improvement bonds, which were sold to Lewis E. Smoot, of Washington. Mr. Smoot paid $735,000 for the bonds, and interest from January 1.

The city expects to turn over to Arlington County today $500,000 plus 6 per cent interest from January 1, representing the amount decreed by the court to be paid that county for permanent improvements in the recently annexed territory.

The check received from Mr. Smoot was deposited by City Treasurer Roger C. Sullivan in the First National Bank of this city.

Burke, 111 Walnut street.

I.; Dr. Joseph Horgan, of Washington, and John Randolph Burke, of Boston; the latter an honorary pallbearer.

FIRES IN VIRGINIA FORESTS DECREASE

State Forester's Report Blames Smokers for Most Blazes.

VIOLATORS ARE FINED

University, Va., Jan. 29 (A.P.).—The average acreage of protection areas swept over by forest fires last year was the lowest in the history of the forest warden organization in Virginia, according to Chapin Jones, State forester. In 1929 the average fire burned 57 acres, as compared with 95 acres the preceding year, and an average of 111 acres for the last five-year period.

During last year the Virginia Forest Service protected approximately 10,112,900 acres of forest and potential forest land, and fires occurred on only about one-half of 1 per cent of this total protected area. A total of 52,607 acres was burned over as a result of 923 fires in the 58 counties organized for forest fire control.

Figures compiled in the State forester's office show that the property loss possible to estimate from these fires was approximately $121,600, this figure being based on appraisals of damage in the protection area, and does not include losses in the remaining forest areas yet unorganized.

Smokers were held to be the most prolific cause of fires on the protected lands, it being estimated that they were responsible for 235 fires that burned 8,618 acres. Brush burners were estimated to have started 182 fires, which burned 11,258 acres; incendiarists, 127; railroads, 107; lumbering operators, 40, and campers, 32, miscellaneous and unknown causes accounting for the remainder.

Sixty-seven forest fire law violations were tried during the year, resulting in 60 convictions. Fines and court costs aggregating $676.24 were paid by the defendants.

One of the outstanding problems to which the State forester called attention is the relatively large number of fires caused by brush-burning operations incident to the clearing of land.

Broadcast Is Plan Of U. of V. Players

Special to The Washington Post.

Charlottesville, Va., Jan. 29.—The Virginia Players, students in the drama at the University of Virginia, will begin a series of weekly broadcasts of one-act plays from Station WRVA in Richmond on Friday night with a short comedy, "The Passing of Chow Chow."

Charles Gazzam, of Birmingham, Ala., has been in charge of this phase of the Virginia Players' activities under the supervision of H. R. Pratt, professor of dramatic art.

The success of the Cue Club, musical comedy musicians, who entertained over WRVA two weeks ago, has led the student actors to hope that their weekly program may become one of the regular features of the Edgeworth Station.

New Trial Requested In Damage Suit Award

Special to The Washington Post.

Cumberland, Md., Jan. 29.—A motion for a new trial in the case of Dr. James T. Johnson, sr., this city, who was awarded $22,500 damages against the Potomac Edison Co. in the Circuit Court of Montgomery County at Rockville last week, has been filed by William C. Walsh, Cumberland; Leon Wineberg, Frederick, and Robert Peter, jr., Rockville, attorneys for the Potomac Edison Co. The motion will be argued Monday.

Dr. Johnson sued for injuries alleged to have been received when his his automobile was struck by a freight car of the defendant which jumped the tracks on Patrick street, Frederick, as Dr. Johnson was passing through the town.

Special to The Washington Post.

Culpeper, Va., Jan. 29.—Dick C. Weaver, widely known automobile dealer of Culpeper, was severely cut and bruised when his car, a heavy sedan, collided with a car driven by V. M. Tripplett, of Sperryville, last night.

Field Benton, who was a passenger in the Weaver car, was thrown out, but escaped with minor bruises. Mr. Benton said today that the Tripplett car was approaching Mr. Weaver's car very rapidly on the wrong side of the road and that when Mr. Weaver attempted to swerve to the left to avoid a collision the cars struck.

MOTOR SPEED CASE INTERESTS DRIVERS

Arlington County Decision to Deal With Question of Constitutionality.

WATER REPORT IS READY

BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Clar. 509. Clarendon, Va.

A case which will attract widespread interest will be the hearing on the demurrer to the warrant in the case of A. W. McPherson, who was recently fined in the Arlington County Police Court by Judge Harry R. Thomas on a charge of violation of a county ordinance relating to speed of an automobile over the county highways which has been filed by Attorney Homer Randolph Thomas, counsel for McPherson.

Mr. Thomas expects to prove that the county's speed ordinance as adopted by the county board of supervisors, July 14, 1924, is now unconstitutional as a result of acts of the Virginia Legislature enacted in 1926.

"Should the ordinance be declared invalid the county will find itself without control of speed of motor cars and it will be necessary to have the Legislature, which is now in session, pass a special act which would regulate the speed over county highways," said Mr. Thomas.

The hearing on the demurrer to the warrant attacking the validity of the county ordinance will come before Circuit Court Judge Howard W. Smith, at the February term which convenes Monday, February 17.

The county board of supervisors will receive today from the county engineer, C. L. Kinnier, a complete report on the water situation in the county from its beginning to the present time.

Arlington County is the only county in the entire country owning and operating its own water system, and it is hoped there may be an increased number of house connections which will warrant the proposed reduction which it is understood the report will reveal.

Citizens of Aurora Hills and Virginia Highlands will be represented by a large delegation appearing before the county board of supervisors at its meeting at the county courthouse today.

Mrs. Elmer Beitrich, president of the Parent-Teacher Association of the Nellie Custis School at Aurora Hills, will appeal to the board in the interest of the need of a health center to be located in that section to take the place of the one which is located in that section now annexed to the City of Alexandria.

The need of a high school in this section to provide for the children now forced to go to the Washington Lee High School, as a result of the George Mason High School now being in the City of Alexandria, will be presented to the board by a large delegation headed by the Rev. J. W. Towsend, pastor of the Calvary Methodist Protestant Church.

The Arlington County Monarch Club meets today in the Ashton Heights Woman's Club house at 12 o'clock with President A. B. Honts presiding.

The Arlington-Fairfax Counties Volunteer Firemen's Association, meeting with the Jefferson District Department last night at its firehouse in Virginia Highlands, went on record as opposed to the plan of the county board of supervisors that funds from the special fire levy shall be used to pay for installation of fire hydrants throughout the county and for water used at fires. The motion was offered by Herbert F. Smith, chief of the Clarendon Fire Department.

The action of the association further carries with it that no department shall be charged water rent for water used at firehouses.

A special committee composed of Julian Tapp, Eugene Payne, J. I. Mathusa, William D. Topley, George F. Allwine and Charles Seaton was appointed to make an effort to have the county furnish gasoline and oil for use in operating its equipment.

Without the holding of dinners, card parties, it is said there would be no gasoline or oil to take any of the equipment to any fire in or out of the county.

President George Reynolds, of the Alexandria-Arlington and Fairfax County Real Estate Board, announces the following committee appointments:

Arbitration and standards of practice, Gardner Boothe 2d, chairman; C. W. Fitch, Ashton C. Jones, H. C. Morris, R. R. Buckley and C. W. Smith; appraisal for Fairfax County, William S. Daily O'Currences

By JOHN DALY

LUELLA was taking a rest cure, spending the day in bed. So as soon as the maid pulled the shades in her chintz bower, letting the 10 o'clock sun in, I took up the mail. There was a letter from Atlantic City.

"My, my," said Luella, excited like, "who could be writing to me from the seashore?"

"It must be one of the life guards——"

"Don't be silly. I don't know any. Besides, this is from a woman—some girl friend."

"She must have Eskimo blood in her veins, going to Atlantic City in midwinter——"

Luella opened the envelope.

"Oh, she exclaimed, "it's from Penelope.

"Is she having a good time, down by the breakers——?"

* * * *

"THAT'S what she calls 'em, the breakers. They've got her broke, she says and, isn't this funny? 'I came here for a change and a rest. The waiters got the change and the hotel manager is getting the rest.' How screamingly funny!"

Screamingly funny! I think it was Joe Miller who first pulled that one, back in the 80's and almost precipitated a battle by telling her so. A postscript saved the situation. It seems that Penelope, sure enough, was broke—down and out at Atlantic City.

"Can you imagine this?" gasped Luella. "She wants me to send her the fare home!"

Another financial problem had arisen.

"How are you going to send her the fare home, when——"

"That's just it," said Luella, "if I had the fare I'd go to Atlantic City myself——"

"You would? Why?"

"To complete my rest cure."

"What I think you ought to do, Luella, is send Penelope a wire——"

"Why a wire?" she asked.

"Well, a wire costs only 30 cents or so, and the fare——"

* * * *

"I'LL not send her anything," she said, resealing the letter, "I'll just have the postoffice send this back, marked 'Opened by mistake.'"

"And leave Penelope stranded in Atlantic City?"

"It serves her right," snapped Luella. "She had no business going there at this time of year. In the summer time, in her bathing suit—you know Penelope has a good shape——"

Luella turned her head on the pillow.

"Pull down the shades," she ordered. "I just can't bear to think of it. This is no way to take a rest cure, worrying about other people's troubles"

REPUBLICAN WOMEN MEET AT ANNAPOLIS

Delegations of Ten Counties Have Prominent Part in State Meeting.

ORGANIZATION IS URGED

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., Jan. 29.—Delegations from ten counties had a prominent part in a State-wide meeting of the Maryland Federations of Republican Women held in the House of Delegates chamber at the State House here today. Stronger organization was the keynote of the meeting.

Mrs. John A. Holmes, of Rockville president of the federation, presided and more than 150 women representing in addition to Montgomery and Prince Georges Counties, Baltimore City and Baltimore County, and Howard and Anne Arundel Counties were in the group. Reports of officers and committees were presented.

Mrs. James H. Luney, of Cabin John, Md., of the Montgomery delegates, chairman of the State federation organization committee, who has conducted the work of organizing the counties, told the women that power lies not in separate groups, but in a great central organization.

"Find your leaders and remain loyal to them," Mrs. Luney urged. "Learning how to cooperate is the secret of success in business. Many women regard politics as a thing apart. Politics is everything in life—politics is roads, schools, prisons sugar. Politics is applied patriotism It is cowardice to stand out of politics. Others are going into it and if we don't want to take what they care to give us we must go in and obtain the things we want for ourselves by putting our shoulders to the wheel."

Joseph M. Armstrong, president of the Annapolis Chamber of Commerce and postmaster of Annapolis, emphasized the importance of organization, declaring that if the Republican party is to succeed in Maryland it must be strongly organized in the city, county, district and State.

Talks also were made by Mayor Walter E. Quenstedt, who told how he was elected head of the Annapolis city government as a Republican by one vote, and by Mrs. Henry M. Roberts, jr., who reviewed historical incidents in the life of colonial Annapolis.

Following a luncheon, the delegations enjoyed a sight-seeing trip and viewed the Navy-Western Maryland basket ball game.

Frankfort, Ky., Jan. 29 (A.P.).—The Kentucky Senate today adopted a House resolution inviting former Gov. Harry Byrd of Virginia to address a joint session of the Assembly.

FARM BOARD LAUDS EXTENSION SERVICES

PREVENT SURPLUS, PLEA

Richmond, Va., Jan. 29 (A.P.).—The aid to farmers provided by the outlook service of the Federal Department of Agriculture and the agricultural extension service in Virginia and other States was commended in a statement made public today by the Federal Farm Board.

"Improved farm income requires planned production and effective marketing," said the statement. "In spite of all that nature does, a large responsibility for farm outturn rests with the farmers themselves.

"The surest way to control an oppressive surplus is to prevent it. No marketing machinery can insure good prices and satisfactory income if the farmer plants and breeds unwisely. The day is past when farmers can safely plan on the basis of current or last year's prices, or on guesses about the future. Planting and breeding operations should rest on the best possible size-up of the market outlook at home and abroad for a year or more to come.

"Such an appraisal is given in the outlook report, just released by the Department of Agriculture. It has been prepared jointly by a large corps of experts, inside and outside the department, drawing upon several years of experience. It deals with prospects for domestic and foreign demand, both in general and for individual crops and live stock products. It is not a prophecy and will probably not be 100 per cent correct. It does not tell each farmer what to do, but it furnishes information that no farmer can get by himself, and that each farmer ought to take into account in planning his own operations.

"In the next few weeks this outlook report, with several applications to local conditions, will be discussed with farmers in every State in the Union by the extension service of the Federal Department of Agriculture and the State Agricultural College. In recent years they have made splendid progress in bringing such outlook statements home to farmers. The results have been gratifying, but they ought to reach a great deal farther. The Federal Farm Board heartily commends this service to the farmers of the country and believes that it will contribute largely to increasingly intelligent farming operations toward larger farm incomes."

SEIZED RUM AUTOS ARE ORDERED SOLD

Condemnation Is Approved in Circuit Court of Fairfax County.

SLOTMACHINES LOSE OUT

FAIRFAX BUREAU OF THE POST.
P. O. Box 245, Vienna, Va.
Phone Vienna, 64.

In the Fairfax County Circuit Court yesterday with Judge Howard W. Smith presiding, a Ford coupe seized by the sheriff from George W. Rouss, and an Essex coach seized from Rozier Harris, in prohibition cases were condemned by the Commonwealth and the court ordered the sheriff to sell the cars at public auction, the proceeds to go to the county literary fund.

In regard to the petition of J. G. Hughes and W. E. Cate for the court to enter an order requiring the Commissioner of Revenue, James U. Kincheloe, to issue a license for the operation of mint vending machines, commonly known as slot machines, the court heard the testimony of the commissioner of revenue and of the petitioners and the machine was exhibited and inspected by the court.

After consideration the court upheld the contention of Commonwealth Attorney Wilson M. Farr that these machines violated a section of the code of the State and would not order the commissioner of revenue to grant a license for their operation. Exceptions to the court's ruling were taken by the attorneys for the petitioners.

Ralph V. Chamblin, who operates Chamblin's Drug Store at Herndon, was granted a license by the court to sell ardent spirits on prescription or to sell pure fruit, ethyl or grain alcohol for scientific, mechanical or pharmaceutical purposes and wine for sacramental purposes on the filing of proper affidavit. He was required to file the necessary bond with the clerk of the court.

George C. Gillingham was awarded judgment for $288.10 with interest from February, 1928, and costs of this suit against C. A. Bellfield and Rebecca Bellfield. The defendants can not claim exemption under the homestead law, on this judgment.

The Fairfax County health unit, composed of Dr. R. E. Feagans, Dr. R. W. Moss, dentist, and Mrs. Fannie Lou Seamans, county health nurse, have completed their examinations of the McLean School. Dr. Moss reports that 55 pupils were treated and 178 dental corrections were made. Because of the excellent cooperation of both teachers and pupils, he said, the clinic was completed in an almost record time. Pupils were examined for defective hearing, sight, teeth, throat and weight. Those having no defects were awarded a five-point health certificate.

Winners of the certificate in the first grade were Charles Allen, George Peabody, Kenneth Dailey, Charles Finch, Gilbert Gray, Thurston Payne, Richard Peabody, Virginia Blair, Helen Herring, Frances Pierpoint, Betty Reed and Antoinette Marzano.

In grades four to seven five-pointers are Wayne Davis, Wade Lewis, Marie Foster, Mildred Cauble, Lilly Eppard, Viola Foster, Jean Lewis and Dorothy Much.

Edgar T. Reed was elected president of the Herndon Volunteer Fire Department at the annual business meeting. George F. Harrison was elected vice president; Howard Armfield, secretary; Benjamin F. McGuire, treasurer; Walter Farr, chief; George Chapelle, first assistant chief; H. Harrison, second assistant chief, and Frank Harrison, third assistant chief. Bloomer Horne was selected as fire marshal. One thousand dollars was voted for payment on the new fire engine. A woman's auxiliary to the department will soon be organized, it was announced at the meeting.

Oswald Carper, of Forestville, was installed as the master of Fairfax County Pomona Grange by John B. Edelkamp, master of the Pomona Grange of Prince Georges County, Md. The Floris Grange acted as host to the members of the five subordinate granges of the county. The meeting was addressed by Mark Turner, retiring master of the Pomona Grange, and a member of the State executive committee. Talks were also made by F. M. Follin, master of Great Falls Grange; Thomas Joy, master of Eureka Grange, Chillum, Md.; T. Bentley Mason, master of Mount Vernon Orange; R. Colton Lewis, master of the Centerville Grange; R. B. Nickell, master of Floris Grange; Julian Slade, representing Pioneer Grange; Herbert Williams, member of the county school board; C. C. Carr, secretary of the Fairfax County Chamber of Commerce; H. B. Derr, county agricultural agent, and R. R. Buckley, of Clifton. The value of teaching agriculture and home economics in the high schools of the county were stressed by the speakers at the meeting.

At a meeting of the Vienna Volunteer Fire Department the annual report of the treasurer, Vernon Gowin, was read for last year. The receipts for the year were $3,028.92 and the disbursements were $2,687.32, which leaves a balance on hand for the coming year of $341.60.

J. L. Jeffries and Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Barringer offered to donate a motion picture outfit to the department to be used by them as a means of raising funds to carry on their work and to help pay for the new fire apparatus which was recently purchased. F. N. Hagman was appointed chairman of a committee consisting of William Bennett and J. U. Berry to investigate the matter to see if it is practical for the department to attempt to run a motion picture entertainment. Lloyd Wright, chief of the department, called a meeting of the active fire fighters for Sunday morning at 10 o'clock to drill and become better acquainted with the new apparatus. There will be a special meeting of the entire department February 10 in the Town Hall.

State Rests Case In Trial of Nurse

Former State's Attorney Denies He Promised Woman Immunity.

Keyser, W. Va., Jan. 29 (A.P.).—The State rested its case against Miss Louella Whetsel, charged with complicity in the alleged operation blamed for the death of Lonnie Muriel Beckone, Harrisonburg, Va., student nurse, in 1928, just before noon recess today.

Ernest A. See, former prosecuting attorney, denied all promises of immunity to the woman in the prosecution of Dr. Otto Fisher, alleged to have performed the operation.

Mr. See handled the case against Dr. Fisher and was recalled to the witness stand today and denied that he had ever offered Miss Whetsel immunity or any other favor for her testimony in the Fisher case. He also denied that he had sought to bring pressure to bear on her to have Fisher plead guilty.

It was reported that the defense will place Miss Whetsel and Dr. Fisher on the stand in her behalf. The physician has been brought here from the State Penitentiary at Moundsville, where he is serving a ten-year sentence on his conviction of having performed the operation at the request of Orville Liskey, Miss Beckone's fiance. Liskey is under indictment for complicity in the case.

SENATE RECOMMITS OLD LAWS MEASURE

FIGHT ON PRISON FARMS

Special to The Washington Post.

Richmond, Va., Jan. 29.—The Virginia Senate back-tracked today and unanimously reconsidered and recommitted to committee a resolution it passed yesterday to create a commission to study obsolete and useless laws, with the idea of repealing them. Senator George W. Layman, of Craig, found financial difficulties, and his opposition brought forth opposition from other sources.

That, with the introduction by Senator Lloyd E. Warren, of Portsmouth, of a compulsory automobile insurance bill, and the presentation of the Chalkley-Witten State constabulary bill, were the outstanding events of a rather dull legislative day. The House defeated, 44 to 35, a bill designed to double the fees of some 700 local registrars of vital statistics. The privileges and elections committees, ready to begin their work of election-law reforms, postponed action until Monday, when Gov. Pollard sent word he could not appear to outline his program.

Senator Warren's bill for compulsory automobile insurance, said to be slated for an early death, would make it necessary for a motorist to exhibit a $5,000 insurance policy or post a bond, indemnifying persons for injury or property damage, before a license would be granted.

Fight on Prison Farm Bill.

The only real battle of the day occurred over the prison farm bill sponsored by Delegates J. Vaughan Gary, of Richmond, and R. L. Brewer, jr., of Suffolk, designed to take care of all women prisoners at the State Penitentiary and inmates of city and county jails. Delegate Stuart Moffett, of Staunton, attacked it as "departmental legislation" after Delegate C. W. Davis, of Southampton, inquired why it was necessary. The measure was passed by and left on the second reading.

Among the bills passed by the Senate was one offered by Senator Lesner to impose taxes on cotton brokers on the amount of business done, rather than on capital. The House passed a bill offered by Delegate J. Fred Birrell, Alexandria, and Hugh Reid, of Arlington, with others, designed to create the Potomac River Commission, which would be empowered to negotiate with Maryland, West Virginia and the Federal Government regarding water-power rights on the river, whose waters, although bordering Virginia, do not belong to her. This commission could negotiate, but its findings would be subject to the approval of the General Assembly.

The House roads committee reported favorably on the Moss bill to give chiefs of police or directors of public safety the right to regulate parking.

Auto Rum Bill Reported.

The House moral and social welfare committee reported a bill introduced by Delegate R. Dixon Powers, of Henrico, which would take away the right to drive an auto from any person convicted of transporting more than half a gallon of whisky. If such person, under the bill, drives within one year he will be guilty of a misdemeanor. It also reported the Brewer bill, which would give Nansemond County the right to enact prohibition laws similar to those now allowed the cities and towns.

The schools and colleges committee reported favorably on the Dovell bill which would allow the College of William and Mary to sell its paradise property to Colonial Williamsburg, Inc., the Rockefeller restoration firm.

Senator Lesner's Statewide automobile drivers' permit bill was reported from committee and recommitted to the finance committee, which with a few changes from the original, it would provide that all persons now driving automobiles may be issued permits and included appropriations of $200,000 for the setting up of the system. The companion safety responsibility bill was amended, dropping the insurance feature, and no license may be renewed for a person after he has been convicted of inflicting $100 property damage and that claim remains unsatisfied.

Episcopal Rector Is Dead in Virginia

Special to The Washington Post.

Danville, Va., Jan. 29.—The Rev. G. Otis Mead, of Alta Vista, widely known in Virginia church circles and a visitor at the annual meeting of the diocesan council of the Episcopal Diocese of Southern Virginia, in session here, died suddenly this afternoon at 3 o'clock, following what is believed to have been a heart attack, but what may have been a stroke of paralysis, this having not yet been determined.

The Rev. Mead had attended the morning session of the council and appeared in his usual health. At adjournment for lunch he went to the home of Frank McFall, where he was a guest during his stay here, and it was there that he was stricken and died.

He was formerly rector of Christ Church of Roanoke.

Railroad President Succumbs in Norfolk

Norfolk, Va., Jan. 29 (A.P.).—George Smith Shafer, 67, president of the Norfolk & Portsmouth Belt Line Railroad, died today at his home in Portsmouth. He came to Portsmouth in 1896 with the Pennsylvania Railroad, later surveyed and constructed the Belt Line and was superintendent of that road from its opening in 1898 until 1918, when he was named president.

Mr. Shafer was born in North Coventry Township, Chester County, Pa.

40 Tons of Tobacco Sold In Petersburg Market

Special to The Washington Post.

Petersburg, Va., Jan. 29 (A.P.).—Approximately 80,000 pounds of tobacco were marketed today on the Petersburg market.

Warehousemen reported that the average on bright tobacco held around 20 cents a pound and dark tobacco attained the same sales mark. Little leaf of fancy quality appeared today, but prices as a whole were considered satisfactory.
